JOHNSON SIGNS BILL; NOTE GOES TO JAPAN

REFERENDUM FIGHT IS ON

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The long-awaited signature of the Alien Land bill to-day by Gov. Johnson of California was the signal for the prompt presentation to the Japanese Ambassador of this Government's reply to the protest from Tokio against the legislation proposed by the Pacific Coast State.

Within an hour after he had verified unofficial dispatches from Sacramento that the California Executive had approved the bill, Secretary Bryan read personally to Viscount Chinda the reply, drafted by the State Department officials in co-operation with President Wilson, in answer to Japansese objections to the alleged discriminatory measure. Exchanges are in progress concerning simultaneous publication of the protest and the response in the newspapers of Japan and the United States, but it is not likely that such publication will be possible for several days. In fact, it may be decided that the interests of the two Governments in the conduct of the negotiations or the differences that have arisen require that the documents be not made public at this time.

Viscount Chinda went to the State Department at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the invitation of Secretary Bryan. Although the Secretary and the Ambassador were together fifty-five minutes, it was said afterward that most of this time was taken up in the reading of the American note by Secretary Bryan, leaving very few minutes for a discussion of the question raised by Japan in connection with the California land legislation.

Disagrees with Japan's Attitude.

While the terms of Japan's protest are not made known, it seems certain that underlying the entire argument of Japan is the contention that the alleged discrimination against Japanese in California is based on racial and not on economic or other material reasons. The impression is general that the Wilson Administration does not share the view said to have been taken by the Japanese Government.

The fact that the Japanese cause found hearty sympathy in this country during the war with Russia and the belief that anti-Japanese feeling is confined to a small part of the continental United States are pointed to as indicating that Japan has no cause to fear that racial discrimination plays any part in whatever attitude the Government has assumed.

Another thing that has served to show the purpose of the Wilson Administration to maintain the old-time friendship with Japan is the official deprecation of "war talk." President Wilson has not only been provoked by the false and sensational statements that have gained currency, but he has also shown by his instructions to officials that he will not tolerate anything that might give rise to an impression in Japan that preparations were being made for a possible hostile contingency.

Another favorable feature of the situation is the amicable spirit in which the oral exchanges between the Japanese Ambassador and the State Department officials are being conducted. There has been no suggestion on either side that Japan or the United States was acting unfairly.

Considering all these matters, and the apparently growing realization in Japan of this Government's good-will, the outlook for an ultimate adjustment of the difficulties resulting from the anti-Japanese feeling in California has materially improved. But the Administration, while making no comment on that phase of the situation, feels that Gov. Johnson could have made conditions easier by taking a different attitude. If there had been any real danger of a clash with Japan, the course of Gov. Johnson, it is held in some quarters, would have put the United States at a marked disadvantage. Some think that the Governor in his disregard of President Wilson's broad intimations has not shown the highest spirit of patriotism.

Army officers are now recalling that the movement of a few troops from this country to Hawaii, which was seized upon by the alarmists as a sign of war, was in accordance with a report of the General Staff of the army approved by Secretary Stimson on Aug. 10, 1912, and made public at the time. The specific movement to Oahu is being carried out in part in accordance with general orders published on Feb. 6 last.

JOHNSON SIGNS, CHALLENGING.

Threefold Opposition to Law—Referendum Seems Likely.

SACRAMENTO, May 19.—Gov. Johnson signed the Alien Land bill to-day, and in a brief statement, which he gave out immediately afterward, took cognizance of the three-fold opprosition which has already started in the State against the bill. His statement was as follows:

> I repeat what I have before said: That California, for the first time in its history, has an anti-alien law.
> Any man who wishes another kind of law may consistently invoke the initiative.
>
> No man who really wishes an anti-alien law will sign a referendum as to this law.
> If another law is sought, it may be presented by means of the initiative, and in the meantime the present law will be in operation. To tie up the present law means no law until November, 1914.

Theodore Bell, recently Democratic candidate for Governor, and formerly Chairman of the State Central Committee, has issued an invitation to his party to submit the issue to the people by invoking the referendum against the law. He grounds his opposition on two contentions: First, that the bill is not sufficiently drastic, because it permits leases running three years, and, second, that at the present time it embarrasses the National Administration.

The Asiatic Exclusion League, the President of which is Olaf Tveitmoe, recently convicted of complicity in the dynamite plot originating in Indianapolis, has just announced that it will invoke the referendum purely because it regarded the bill as faint hearted.

A third factor of the opposition to the measure is the Panama-Pacific International Exposition Company, backed by many Chambers of Commerce. The exposition Directors have expressed opposition to the bill on the ground that it is a violation of faith.

"Any action of the Legislature," they said, "offensive to any foreign country, to their pride as a people, or their honor as a nation, must challenge the good faith of the Commonwealth."

While the Governor was signing the bill, which, without the intervention of a referendum petition, will go into effect on Aug. 10, the steamship Korea was passing through the Golden Gate bearing two distinguished Japanese, one a former pupil of President Wilson, on a mission of investigation here. These are Soruku Ebara of the Constitutional

LONDON QUOTES WAR RISKS.

Inquiries About Coal to Manila and Property at the Golden Gat

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, May 19.—Several inquiries were made to-day in the insurance market in connection with the dispute between Japan and the United States. There is often considerable trade in coal between South Wales and the Philippines, and the underwriters were asked to name rates whereby the war risk on coal, sent to American consignees at Manila, could be covered. The underwriters had divergent views as to rates to cover shipments during three months, varying from 5s to £1 per cent.

A proposal was also made for insurance on property on the California coast near the Golden Gate against the risk of bombardment by Japanese warships. Five shillings per cent for a year was quoted. War insurance on the fleet of British steamers trading between England and Japan was renewed at 7s 6d per cent, the same rate as was paid a year ago.

KING PETER TO ABDICATE.

His Health Shattered, Owing to the War—Will Return to Geneva.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

GENEVA, May 19.—It is stated on authority that King Peter of Servia intends to abdicate owing to bad health as soon as peace with Turkey is signed.

An emissary of the King to-day arrived in Geneva, where the King, as Prince Karageorgevitch, spent many years in educating his sons, in order to find a suitable residence for his Majesty.

The King was in Geneva when King Alexander and Queen Draga were murdered. He has many friends here.

King Peter's health is believed to have broken down largely as a result of the exertions and anxieties of the war. The King will be 69 years old on June 29.

WOULD NOT BE BLUFFED.

Woman Proves to be Too Smart for a Fake Detective.

Two women and a girl 16 years old were sauntering along the Bowery yesterday afternoon when they saw two men fumbling in the pockets of another man who had been walking unsteadily, and who seemed quite unconscious of what was happening to him. As the women told the story afterward, one of the two drew a package from the man's pocket and handed it to his companion, who promptly ran around the corner and did not reappear.

This was too much, and the two women threw themselves on the man who remained while the girl tried to trip him. The encounter served to assemble an interested crowd which drew close as the fight was checked by the arrival of a man who introduced himself as a policeman from the Madison Street Station.

"I will take the prisoner," he said with a little bow. "I am a detective."

"Ho!" said one of the women suspiciously, "you are, are you? Let's see your shield."

At that the "detective" faded into the crowd and the tussle was renewed. It lasted until three real policemen took charge of the prisoner. He said he was Michael Sullivan of 7 Bowery. He denied having had anything to do with the pockets of the drunken man, who had disappeared in the subsequent scuffle.

When they got their breath the women introduced themselves to the admiring police as Mrs. Mary Hannan of 479 Hamilton Street, Long Island City, her daughter Hattie, and Mrs. Nellie Szlangowcz of Ravenswood, L. I.

STILWELL FAR FROM POOR.

Prosecutor Learns He Owns Ten Lots and Two Automobiles.

Assistant District Attorney Nott, in a preliminary investigation of the financial resources of State Senator Stephen J. Stilwell, indicted for having asked George H. Kendall, President of the New York Bank Note Company, for a $3,500 bribe to get a bill out of the Codes Committee of the Senate, has found that the Senator is not as poor as he described himself to be before his colleagues in the Senate when the charges were first preferred against him. Senator Stilwell will go on trial before Justice Seabury to-morrow morning in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court.

In the first place it was learned by Mr. Nott that Senator Stilwell would have at least three lawyers to defend him. It was said that Robert M. Moore would be one of them. His own lawyer, Senator McClelland, will b in charge of the defense. The third lawyer is said to be an ex-member of the Senate.

Mr. Nott found that Stilwell, far from being too poor to defend himself properly, as he said, was worth a tidy sum. Two automobiles were found to be in his possession and ten lots in the Bronx were also found in his name.

The prosecution, it was learned, will first place on the stand the New York and Albany telephone girls who recorded the telephone calls between Senator Stilwell and Mr. Kendall. Then Mr. Kendall and other officers of his company will testify. The trial is expected to last six days.

BEAT LITTLE GIRLS, MOBBED

The reserves of the East Thirty-fifth Street Station were called out last night to save from a crowd a man who was attacked after he had beaten and cuffed two little girls in Third Avenue, near Twenty-ninth Street. The man ran out of a doorway as the two youngsters were passing. He began to shake and slap them roughly, when Miss Helen Leyden of 487 Second Avenue ran to their defense. According to many witnesses, the man turned from the little girls and, knocking Miss Leyden down, kicked her.

Fifty or more persons surrounded the man. Yelling inarticulately, he was thrown to the ground many times by the angry throng. Policeman Lobdel of the East Thirty-fifth Street Station fought his way to the centre of the crowd, but was not able to drive the crowd from the man. Some one telephoned to the police station that a patrolman was being killed, and the reserves were ordered out.

The man who attacked the girls was locked up, charged with assault, disorderly conduct, and intoxication. He would not give his name.

After the prisoner had been put into a cell a man came into the station and asked for "his friend, John Campbell." He was taken to the cell and identified the prisoner as John Campbell, 20 years old, of 336 East Forty-third Street.

BUFFALO LUKEWARM TO SULZER APPEALS

Special to The New York Times.

BUFFALO, May 19.—Gov. Sulzer opened his direct primary campaign in this city to-night, speaking at three meetings, all of which were well attended.

The Governor was well received, but his advocacy of a State-wide direct nomination system, involving the abolition of the State Convention and the designation of candidates by party committees, did not arouse any notable outburst of enthusiasm anywhere. It is the general opinion here to-night that the big gun in the Sulzer campaign missed fire.

In his thrice-repeated speech to-night the Governor emphatically asserted that the delegate and convention system, which gave to this State such Governors as Samuel J. Tilden, Grover Cleveland, Charles E. Hughes, and (if stress is to be laid on the fact) William Sulzer, had broken down, and now only offered public service and other corporations hostile to the people's interests ready opportunities for manipulation by means of which the people's will was set at naught. The Governor expressed confidence that seven-tenths of the voters of the State, regardless of party affiliations, favored his bill.

The largest of the meetings was held at the old Convention Hall, which, enlarged and renovated, has been acquired by the city with the special aim of attracting conventions here. When the meeting was arranged for and the Governor was invited to attend it, nobody had a thought that there would be a fight over direct nominations to add spice to the occasion. The meeting was merely to be the opening event of a festival week to celebrate the purchase of this big meeting place by the city.

About 8,000 persons awaited him at this first meeting and possibly half of them remained until the Governor finished speaking. Twenty-five per cent. of the audience were women and children, who had come to see, not hear, the Governor, and attend the dedication of the new hall.

The original plan was to have Edward H. Butler, publisher of the leading Republican evening paper in this part of the State, act as presiding officer. At that time no one knew that the Governor would open his campaign for direct primaries here. Mr. Butler has always opposed this change in the nominating system, but although the Governor appointed him a member of his Campaign Committee, Mr. Butler stayed away from the meeting. His place was filled at the last moment by Maurice H. Wall, a business man.

The Governor's reception at this meeting, on which the friends of his direct nominations propaganda based their strongest hopes, was lacking in spontaneous warmth. Gov. Sulzer was applauded fifteen seconds by the watch when Mr. Wall introduced him to the audience.

The second meeting of the evening was held at Dom Polski, a hall in a crowded tenement district, which held about 1,000 persons. The hall was filled and the Governor was well received.

The last meeting was at the Elmwood Music Hall, where the Governor arrived at a late hour after several speakers had tried to hold an audience of about 3,000 until the Governor's arrival. The audience here was supplied chiefly by members of the Progressive organization. A large part of the audience remained until the Governor came and greeted him very warmly. On the whole, the Governor got more satisfaction out of this meeting than out of any others. Altogether he spoke to 10,000 to 12,000 persons.

"It is self-evident to me," said the Governor at the outset of his speech, to each of his audiences to-night, "that if the people are competent to directly elect their public officials they are also competent to directly nominate these officials. If it is important for minor officers to be nominated by the people, it is still more important that the people be given the power to nominate candidates for United States Senator and for Governor."

All Conventions Must Go.

> Political conventions must go. Disgraceful secret alliances between special privilege and crooked politics must cease. That is all there is to it.
>
> The power of special privilege is greater in New York than in any other State, because in New York is centred the great financial interests of the Nation. Most of these interests are sound, legitimate, and honest, but some of these interests are illegitimate, and it is the last-mentioned kind which are fighting the salutary reforms which I am advocating.
>
> The spirit of true democracy is summed up in the slogan "Let the people rule." They cannot rule until they obtain a successful method of nominating the candidates of all political parties.
>
> New York State is one of the last States in the Union to capitulate to the present-day demand for popular rule in the nomination of candidates for all public offices. It is bound to come in New York. The fight is on and the people are in earnest.
>
> Every day I am hearing from Senators and Assemblymen who voted against our Direct Primary bill, and who now assure me they will give it their support at the coming special session of the Legislature.
>
> From others I hear that they will support the bill if it be amended so that State Conventions may be continued. The play of "Hamlet" with Hamlet left out would not be more of an abortion than a direct primaries law with the State Convention retained.
>
> To have direct primaries and to have State Conventions is impossible. There is no middle ground. There can be no compromise.
>
> The Democratic Party in New York, in its last State Convention, declared in emphatic terms for direct primaries, and State-wide at that. I believe it is my duty, as the Governor, elected on that platform, to do everything in my power to carry out this solemn pledge. So far as I am concerned there will be no step backward.

Features of His Bill.

> All party candidates except town, village, and school district officers, are to be nominated directly by enrolled voters at an official primary.
>
> A State Committee of 150 members, one from each Assembly District, and a County Committee for each county, to be elected by the enrolled voters at the official primary.
>
> All party candidates for public office to be voted for in the official primary to be by petition only, the same as independent candidates.
>
> Candidates to be arranged on the ballot under the title of the office. All emblems on the ballot abolished.
> The number of party voters required on a designating petition fixed at 1 per cent. of the party vote for Governor at the last preceding election, except that for State-wide offices the number need not exceed 3,000 voters.
>

MAY INDICT FOUR IN TAXI SCANDAL

The Supreme Court Grand Jury continued its investigation of the taxicab free ride scandal yesterday and late in the afternoon it became known that four indictments were being considered. The news traveled quickly to City Hall, where the special Aldermanic committee appointed to report on taxicab legislation was in secret session, and from the meeting room there soon afterward came the information that a taxicab ordinance very favorable to the public was ready to be reported to the Board of Aldermen. The indictments are expected within three or four days. The new ordinance will, in all probability, be reported to-day, thus putting an end to the fifteen months' delay.

Four men were before the Grand Jury and three of them told enough to fasten indictments, it was said, upon two city officials. Both of these indictments, it is expected, will charge bribery in that acceptance of free-ride privileges from the Yellow Taxicab Company influenced the official coduct of these officials. Another public official in a different department of the City Government may also be indicted for bribery. The fourth indictment before the Grand Jury is for one of the witnesses it has heard and charges perjury. Assistant District Attorney Du Vivier, who is conducting the investigation, is seeking particularly to bring about the indictment of the two city officials who have been most conspicuously named in connection with the free-ride scandal.

The new turn in affairs was most largely made possible, it is understood, by the testimony of Harry R. Swartz, Vice President and General Manager of the Yellow Taxicab Company. He told yesterday how the company made use of its free-ride passes and how his company's representatives boldly drew up a taxicab ordinance and submitted it for ratification to Alderman Grimm, Chairman of the Taxicab Committee.

Alderman McCann, one of the "majority" group of Aldermen on this committee, who until quite recently favored an ordinance not hostile to the taxicab companies, followed Swartz on the stand. He was asked about Swartz's admission that an ordinance had been drawn up by the taxi interests. Alderman McCann did not deny it, it was learned. He said that the seven members of the committee had each received a copy of a proposed ordinance from a lawyer in the employ of the Yellow Taxicab Company. He had himself gone to this lawyer for information about taxicab legislation in the first place.

"Circular Joe" Vendig, who last week refused to answer questions before the Grand Jury, answered freely yesterday, it was said, and strenghtened the case against the two city officials under the heaviest fire. It was said that Vendig had collected back charges running over a period of fifteen months from these officials, and that they amounted to nearly $1,000. When asked for the date of these collections, it is understood, he admitted that they were made after the newspapers began to air the "free ride" scandal.

The ordinance which will probably be reported to-day to the Board of Aldermen is expected to contain a provision abolishing the private stands, for which taxicab companies have paid the hotels and restaurants about $500,000 annually. The "minority" Aldermen, Bolles, Marks and Brush, have been in favor of such a provision from the beginning, thus siding with Mayor Gaynor's commission on taxicab legislation. The "majority" Aldermen, Grimm, McCann, Cunningham and Coleman, were opposed to this provision. It was the retention of the private stands which the taxicab companies particularly desired.

Of greatest importance to the public at large, of course, will be a reduced fare. On this point no definite information could be obtained yesterday. The Mayor's ordinance provides for a fare of 40 cents for the first mile and 10 cents for every succeeding quarter-mile, for two persons. It is expected that this rate will be approved of by all of the seven members of the committee, in view of the investigation in the Criminal Court Building. The present rates run from 60 to 80 cents for the first mile.

The investigation by Mr. Du Vivier would continue, it was announced last night, even if a favorable taxicab ordinance were reported out to-day. It will not be stopped until the business methods of all the larger taxicab companies have been duly scanned.

At the conclusion of the investigation of the Yellow Taxicab Company's methods the light will then be turned on the Mason-Seaman Transportation Company. Three of the officers of this company, as well as a lawyer for the company, called on Mr. Du Divier yesterday and turned over a number of the company's books. A free list was found, but on it there were no names of police or other city officials.

THREATEN BIG WAGE CUT.

Manufacturers Also Say 8-Hour Law May Drive Them from Illinois.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 19.—Certain manufacturers told the State Senate Committee on Labor to-day that an eight-hour law would drive many industries from the State or result in cutting the wages of women to the starvation point. Some of them admitted that the present ten-hour law was being violated openly, employers finding it cheaper to pay fines than observe the law.

D. E. Prescott of the Bursen Knitting Mills Company of Rockford told of the circumstances under which a petition signed by his woman employes had been obtained. He said the girls understood that their wages would be cut 20 per cent. if an eight-hour law went into effect and that they preferred present hours without a reduction in pay to smaller wages and shorter hours.

W. S. Hobbs of the Aurora Cotton Mills said his company would be forced to cut wages or leave the State if the eight-hour bill prevailed.

A. E. McCall of Gibson City, representing the fruit canning industry, said it was his practive to ignore the ten-hour law and pay any fines that might be assessed against him for violating it.

MAWSON'S AID TELLS OF POLAR TRAGEDY

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, May 19.—Capt. John K. Davis, commander of Dr. Mawson's antarctic ship Aurora, has arrived in London and gives in an interview fresh details of the sufferings of Mawson and his comrades and the deaths of Lieut. Ninnis and Dr. Xavier Mertz, the Swiss scientist and ski runner.

Capt. Davis arrived off Mawson's base in fearful weather and learned by wireless that several of the party were missing. He waited for news of them with intense anxiety, for he had to go 1,500 miles along the coast to pick up Wild and his party before the sea froze and darkness set in. In this dilemma he decided, after many days, to push on and save Wild's party first. In spite of the terrific gales and blizzards, blowing 80 miles an hour, this was safely accomplished.

The ship was called back to Mawson's headquarters after starting on its 1,500-mile voyage, and Davis was informed that Mawson had struggled in alone after the death of Ninnis and Mertz.

"We were not more than half a mile from Mawson when he returned," said Davis, "but could not relieve him and his party. Mawson had gone out with Ninnis and Mertz. Twenty-five days after the little party started Ninnis fell into an unfathomable crevasse, with a sledge full of provisions, and his body was not recovered. For thirty-four days after this catastrophe Mawson and Mertz struggled across the plateau on the verge of starvation, until on Jan. 17 Mertz, too, succumbed as the result of exposure and want of food.

"For twenty-two terrible days more Mawson struggled on alone, with a few starving dogs as his sole companions. That he did not go mad under such conditions is wonderful; and the account of his journey, when he tells it, will prove one of the greatest stories of antarctic heroism."

At the urgent request of Mawson, signaled by wireless, Davis has come to England to try to obtain part of the money rendered necessary by the extra season's work which has been forced upon the explorers, who are compelled to remain in the antarctic until Davis relieves them at the end of this year.

TIES UP COUNTRY HOMES.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 19.—As the result of 500 members of White Plains Local, General Laborers' International Union, going on a strike today and forcing 500 non-union men to quit work, $3,000,000 worth of construction work has been tied up.

The strikers left their work early this morning, forced non-union men to join in their march from place to place, and stopped farm and garden work on the estates of a number of New Yorkers near White Plains and other villages. In many instances the cows were left unmilked in the stables, the chores not done, and all the garden work suspended when the laborers flocked into the village to take part in a big parade.

The strikers took the laborers from Felix Warburg's big place in Greenburgh, Col. Alexander M. Crane's home in Scarsdale, the Scarsdale Golf Club, Scarsdale Estates, Green Acres, and other places.

In White Plains all the laborers from the Burke Foundation, the $500,000 home for convelescents, in course of construction, were driven away. The same thing happened at the Gerney farm and the State road contract work was stopped. About 3,000 men are being forced to wait until the Italians are willing to resume work.

There has been no violence, but Sheriff Doyle and Police Capt. John Harmon have special officers ready to go out on the first call. Sheriff Doyle assured Mr. Harriman, who is himself one of the sixteen "Gold Badge" Deputy Sheriffs of Westchester County, that he would have full protection if he wanted to replace the men who left his place to-day. The movement is a sequel to the one which ended in bloodshed in Mamaroneck and Harrison a few weeks ago.

ARREST CHILD PEDDLERS.

Nineteen Boys and Girls Taken In for Selling Gum and Candy.

Seventeen little boys and two small girls were arrested at the New York end of the Williamsburg Bridge last night and taken to the Children's Society rooms at Twenty-fourth Street and Fourth Avenue, charged with improper guardianship. Agent Cunningham of the society and two assistants found the children, the oldest of whom was 15 and the youngest 12, selling chewing gum and candy.

Not being charged with juvenile delinquency, their parents, who really will be the defendants in Children's Court this morning, were not allowed to bail the children out. The arrests are said to be the result of complaints made to the Mayor's office concerning the number of children who are selling gum and candy at the bridge, subway, and elevated entrances at all hours of night.

HER OWN TORPEDO RAMS THE VESUVIUS

BEACHED TO AVERT SINKING

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, May 19.—The Torpedo Boat Vesuvius—the same Vesuvius which, as a dynamite cruiser, took a spectacular part in the war with Spain by hurling explosives in to the Spanish trenches at Santiago—literally kicked a hole in her own hull this afternoon. She was saved from going to the bottom, with the fifty or more men aboard, only by the prompt action of her commanding officer, Chief Gunner Thomas Smith, who ran her ashore on Prudence Hope Island, in Narragansett Bay.

While at torpedo instruction something went wrong with the mechanism of a practice Whitehead torpedo loosed by the Vesuvius. The torpedo circled back and struck the Vesuvius in the stern, making a hole six inches in diameter. Through this rent the water rushed into the hold and the boat began to settle. Chief Gunner Smith did what he could to check the inrush of water and headed the Vesuvius for the beach. Assistance was summoned by wireless, and the hole in the Vesuvius was patched up sufficiently to enable her to proceed under her own steam to the Torpedo Station, where she arrived to-night.

Aboard the Vesuvius at the time of the accident were a number of seamen gunners besides her regular crew. When the practice torpedo turned like a boomerang and crashed into the Vesuvius, Chief Gunner Smith rushed hammocks, blankets, and other material to the stern in an effort to patch up the hole. But the Vesuvius settled rapidly astern, and a call for help was sent out by wireless.

Smith then ordered full speed ahead toward the nearest land, which was Prudence Hope Island, three miles away. All the available pumps were put to work to keep the water down. The vessel struck at high tide, with her stern settled so deep that it was swept by the waves. The crew massed in the bow, out of reach of the water, while the wireless operator notified the torpedo station of the beaching.

Commander George W. Williams, in charge of the Torpedo Station, responded on the torpedo boat Gwin, Lieut. Commander Thomas C. Hart, with other officers, seamen gunners, and pumps, on the torpedo boat Morris, and additional seamen gunners on the torpedo boat Blakely. The torpedo cruiser Montgomery, firing torpedoes near by, also was quick to respond.

In less than half an hour the first of the fleet from the Torpedo Station reached the Vesuvius. Some of the seamen gunners were taken off, while others remained aboard to help the crew patch up the hole. Naval tugs and other craft stood by. The damaged vessel was able to work herself off the beach.

No damage of consequence resulted from running aground. The vessel avoided the rocks and brought up on a bed of sand.

The Vesuvius, as a dynamite cruiser, was one of the first of the vessels of the "new navy." Off Santiago, when she threw the dynamite into the Spanish trenches ashore. It became a saying among the sailors that "when Vesuvius coughs there's always an eruption ashore."

The Vesuvius is famous as "the ship with the dynamite guns." When she went into commission more than twenty years ago she was hailed as the most destructive craft ever launched. The dynamite guns, of which she carried two, were said to be the most powerful pieces of ordnance on any ship afloat, and it was said the Vesuvius could send to the bottom any ship afloat.

Came the Spanish war, and the Vesuvius steamed to Santiago. Her dynamite guns were fired several times and they raised a racket such as was never heard in that part of the world before. But the damage done was not great, and the Vesuvius steamed back home. Naval men considered her a failure.

For several years she lay about the navy yards. The Navy Department officials did not know what use to make of her. Finally it was suggested that she be turned over to the torpedo service and used in testing torpedoes. That was done, and the Vesuvius proved a success in her new rôle.

TO PROSECUTE NEW HAVEN.

Wilson Appoints T. W. Gregory as Counsel in Railroad Suit.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The appointment of T. W. Gregory of Austin, Texas, as a special attorney of the United States to conduct the criminal proceedings against the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company for alleged violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust act, was announced by the Department of Justice to-day.

Mr. Gregory has been favorably known to President Wilson for some time, and was under consideration for Ambassador to Mexico until the State Department interposed in his case the traditional objection to sending a Texan to that country as the American diplomatic representative.

The appointment of Mr. Gregory is taken as an indication that the Administration intends to enter upon a determined investigation and prosecution of the charges against the New Haven Road.

Much preliminary work in this field has already been done by the Department of Justice under President Taft, including a Grand Jury investigation in New York.

SPANKED SISTER'S SUITOR.

Mrs. Spinalla First Disarmed Him of His Revolver.

Giovanni Lamando, 27 years old, a tailor, of 41 Spring Street, took a revolver with him when he went to call last night on Augustina Spinella, 22 years old, of 178 Mulberry Street. She lives with her sister, Mrs. Raffaelle Spinalla, who married a man of her maiden name. Mrs. Spinalla does not like Lamando, and threatened to spank him if he came to visit her sister. When Lamando appeared last night with a revolver, the woman arose in her wrath, took the pistol, and carried out her threat—she spanked him. He made for the street and was arrested, Mrs. Spinalla's two children having told the police about him.

In the station house the detectives say that the young man admitted the charge against him, but pleaded his love for the girl. The detectives say that Giovanni a few weeks ago was held up by a member of a rival gang and slashed across the face with a razor. The police say also that he lives in the house where Rizzo, who was shot by the murderer of the two policemen about two weeks ago, lived.

TO FINISH CANAL OCT. 1.

Completion Then Certain if Slides Are Not Greater Than Expected.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PANAMA, May 19.—More laborers are to be imported from the West Indies. Work on the canal is being rushed as never before.

1,750 IN MOTORCYCLE CORPS

Kansas the First State to Establish a Patrol in Each County.

TOPEKA, May 19.—There will be 1,750 riders in the Kansas motor cycle patrol, according to plans completed to-day. It is being organized along the lines of the anti-horse thief associations, and will be under the direction of Gov. Hodges.

Kansas will be the first State to have a motor cycle patrol in every county. The members will receive no pay. Each one must be a member of the Federation of American Motor Cyclists.

DEPUTY SHERIFF SENTENCED

Judge Denounces Nassau County Official Who Shot a Negro.

Judge Humphrey of the Queens County Court sentenced Alfred Cabello, a Deputy Sheriff of Nassau County, to not less than two years or more than four in Sing Sing Prison yesterday. Cabello was convicted of assault in the second degree for shooting Edward Edwards, a negro, at Far Rockaway on Feb. 24.

In passing sentence the Judge said that he had no sympathy for the man before him, because Cabello seemed to harbor the belief that with the badge of a Deputy Sheriff and with a pistol and club he could, by showing his badge, shoot about at random.

CUT RATE EMPLOYERS FINED

Thte Justices of Special Sessions yesterday fined ninety employers of labor from $20 to $30 each, following their plea of guilty to violating the labor laws. The most important case was that of Morris Klopsky, manufacturer of boys' coats at 10 Mangin Street, who was fined $30 after he had pleaded guilty to employing a 15-year-old girl, whom he paid 8 cents an hour for her work.

In all the other cases it was found that the average pay for labor was between $3.50 and $4 a week.

"HIGH LIVING COST A MYTH."

Head of Grocers' Association Lays Talk to Railroads and Trusts.

ST. LOUIS, May 19.—The National Retail Grocers' Association met here today with several hundred delegates in attendance. John W. Lux, President of the association, in his annual address, said the high cost of living was a myth.

"We have been blamed for high prices by the railroads and by the trusts and the public has grabbed at the bait," said he.

Mr. Lux urged an amendment to the Sherman law permitting grocers to combine to reduce prices. He also urged the repeal of the 10-cent tax on oleomargarine in order to strike at the "Butter Trust."

C. J. PENNOCK MISSING.

Twenty-fifth Disappearance Reported in Philadelphia Recently.

PHILADELPHIA, May 19.—Charles J. Pennock, a business man and public official of Kennett Square, near here, is missing. Twenty-five men, several of them leaders in business circles in Philadelphia and its vicinity, have disappeared within the past two months, and in only a few cases have they been found.

Pennock, who is an uncle of Herbert Pennock, the Philadelphia American League team pitcher, disappeared last Thursday night. He is 55 years old and is a Justice of the Peace.

MEDAL FOR KERNOCHAN.

Gaynor to Speak When Cross of Honor is Presented to Magistrate.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Thomas H. Herndon, President of the American Cross of Honor, received a letter to-day from Mayor Gaynor saying he would take great pleasure in presenting to Magistrate Kernochan the cross recently voted to him. The American Cross of Honor is an order incorporated by Congress, and the medals conferred by it are regarded as being on an equality with those voted by Congress.

Mr. Kernochan saved a young woman from drowning at Highlands, N. J., in 1886.

The medal in each award is separately designed. When Magistrate Kernochan's medal is completed, which will be a week or ten days, it will be sent to Col. John Schuyler Crosby, the New York representative of the order, who will arrange with Mayor Gaynor for the formal presentation.

A "DECAPITATING" SPEECH.

Negro Y. M. C. A. Would Like to Hear Similar One from Vice President

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—While Vice President Marshall was sitting in a street car to-day a negro sidled up to him and introduced himself as an officer of the Negro Young Men's Christian Association. He wanted the Vice President to address that organization.

"We have glorious meetings," he said. "Senator Works of California talked to us a while ago, and I tell you what he said was decapitating."

SAY HE BLEW UP HIS HOME.

Special to The New York Times.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Col., May 19.—James L. Bacon, one of the most prominent citizens of this place and a member of the Colorado Legislature, was arrested to-day, accused of having murdered his wife and stepdaughter, Miss Josephine Bacon, who were killed in an explosion which wrecked the Bacon home on April 28.

Bacon also was injured by the explosion, and lay unconscious in a local hospital for several days. When he recovered he intimated that the tragedy was the work of some enemy who had placed dynamite in his stove. At first the explosion was thought to have been an accident which resulted from an attempt to thaw dynamite by placing it in the stove.

RIOTS IN PATERSON SEND EIGHTY TO JAIL

ORDER TURN HALL CLOSED

Special to The New York Times.

PATERSON, N. J., May 19.—Despite the threats of agitators of the Industrial Workers of the World, who had said that the employes of the Arthur Price Silk Mills would not be permitted to return to work until every silk mill in Paterson had surrendered to the Haywood organization, the Price Mills resumed operations this morning with about half of the regular force. This result was obtained, however, only after a pitched battle between the police and strikers' pickets. To-night more than eighty of the strikers are in jail as a result of their efforts to carry out the orders of their leaders that the Price Mills were not to be permitted to reopen this morning.

There was more activity to-day on the part of both strikers and police than there has been on any day since the great silk mill strike was called. The authorities acted with great promptness in breaking up the rioting that followed the resumption of work in the Price Mills. During the day orders were issued that Turn Hall, the principal meeting place of the strikers, should be closed. This is the hall where Quinlan, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn and other strike agitators made the speeches that resulted in their indictment by the Passaic County Grand Jury, on one of which indictments Quinlan has already been convicted. Helvetia Hall, the strike headquarters, it was said to-night also would be closed to-morrow by order of the authorities.

That trouble of a serious nature might be expected this morning was the conclusion to be drawn from the speech delivered at Haledon yesterday by Frederick S. Boyd, one of the bitterest and most outspoken of the Haywood subordinates. Boyd in his speech told the strikers to go to the Price Mills this morning, and see to it that no man or woman went to work. The "I. W. W.," he said, would not permit any silk mill worker to return to his work so long as workers in other mills remained idle. The Price Mill employes are not members of the Industrial Workers of the World, but that fact was not to be taken into consideration, it was pointed out, because, as Quinlan put it to-day, "the strike is against an industry and not against any one mill or set of employers."

Efforts to Check Workers.

As a result of Boyd's orders, delivered in the name of the "I. W. W.," about 2,500 strikers, at least half of them boys and girls still in their teens, gathered in the streets near the Price Mills this morning to do their part in preventing the Price employes from going back to their looms. By 7 o'clock the streets were packed from curb to curb with an excited mob.

Twenty-four policemen were sent to the mills at first, but when Capt. Tracey looked at the faces which met his gaze he realized the seriousness of the situation and called for seventy-six reserves and detectives, thus increasing his force to 100 men. Just before the outbreak Chief of Police Bimson arrived on the scene and issued orders for the men to act quickly and with decision the moment the occasion demanded it.

At Straight Street and Broadway the police formed a corral, in which prisoners were to be kept until the situation was in hand and the crowd had been dispersed.

Beginning of Disorder.

The riot started at 8 o'clock. It lasted half an hour. At one time the police found it necessary to brandish their pistols in the air in order to impress the rioters. Ambulances were on the outskirts of the crowd waiting to transport injured persons to the hospitals.

The Price Mill's whistle gave notice a little before 8 o'clock that work was to be resumed. Immediately the Broadway entrance to the mill was the scene of a wild demonstration by about 1,500 strikers. Seventy policemen rushed into this mob, and before it could be driven back the police had to draw their clubs and use them vigorously in subduing the more disorderly of the strikers. When this demonstration ended the police had sixty-six prisoners, who, surrounded by policemen, were taken to Police Headquarters, where they were locked up to wait the hearing later in the day before Recorder Carroll. Ten women, all of them young, were among these prisoners.

During this outbreak the employes of the Price Mills went back to work. They went through hooting, jeering crowds, and the only thing that prevented an attack upon them was the strong guard of police which escorted them to the Broadway entrance of the mill structure. The mill employs about forty weavers, and of this number twenty-two returned to work this morning. Other little outbreaks followed, and when at last quiet of a sort had been restored in the trouble zone the police had over eighty prisoners, all of them charged with disorderly conduct.

Mob Attacks Police.

The second serious riot occurred at about 8:30 o'clock on Ellison Street, near Furman Alley, not far from the Turn Hall headquarters of the strikers. About 150 strikers and their sympathizers were massed at this point when Policemen John Donegan and Philip McDonald ordered the crowd to move on. The crowd turned on the policemen, and there followed a battle in which the clubs of the police were matched against fists and stones. Policeman Zimlinghaus was the first man to go to the rescue of McDonald and Donegan, but before he could give any assistance he was laid low with a brick which struck him back of the ear and sent him reeling to the sidewalk.

Zimlinghaus was rescued by a squad of policemen who were hurried to the scene. They carried him to a near-by house, where he was attended by an ambulance surgeon. Four arrests were made as a result of this outbreak. One of the prisoners came out of the fray with a bruised head and was sent to the hospital for treatment. Another prisoner was a woman who had a five months' old baby with her. Her baby was turned over to the Poor Commissioner. The prisoners were held for further examination. The bail in the case of all but the injured striker was fixed at $2,500. Louis Soleran, the man whose head was hurt, was held in $7,500 bail.

Threat to Throw Police Out.

The third conflict of the day between the strikers and the police occurred in Turn Hall during one of the Haywood meetings. Sydney J. Turner, a court stenographer, had been sent to the hall to take notes for the authorities. The police were represented by a squad of seven detectives, among them three of the Italian squad.

The strikers resented the presence of the police and one suggested that as "they had no right" to be at the meeting the best thing to do was to "throw them out of the hall." The suggestion caused an uproar in the hall and for several minutes it looked as if the crowd, which was angered to the rioting point, would attempt to carry the suggestion into effect. The detectives were hemmed in by a yelling crowd of men and women. It was a tense moment and the police, drawing their pistols, said they would have to defend themselves if anybody placed his hand upon any of them. The exhibition of the pistols had the desired effect and the detectives backed out of the hall. Their exit was marked by the jeering and booing of the strikers. Several arrests followed. It was due to this outbreak that the authorities subsequently ordered the closing of Turn Hall on the ground that it was a disorderly place.

The prisoners taken during the riots were arraigned before Recorder Carroll this afternoon. Six were discharged, and the others received the alternative of paying fines of $5 each or going to jail for ten days. Every one, including the twenty women prisoners, decided in favor of the jail.

Sing on the Way to Jail.

The transfer of the prisoners to the jail was a spectacle which drew hundreds of people to the Circle to watch the patrol wagons whirl away, each carrying convicted strikers. A dozen trips were necessary to transfer all the prisoners to the jail. On each trip the strikers in the automobile patrol wagons shouted and sang their joy at the sacrifice they were making for the "I. W. W." cause.

When it was time to stop work in the Price mills there was a great crowd of strikers in the near-by streets. The police, however, had learned their lesson from the morning happenings, and none of the strikers was permitted to approach within a block of the Broadway entrance. It was said later that the workers had left the mill under police protection by ways unknown to the strikers.

The strikers say that they again will have their pickets on duty at the Price mill to-morrow morning, and will make a determined effort to get the Price mills employes to give up their work. The police will be represented in force.

Haywood Advises Strikers.

"These strikers," said Haywood to-day, "never looked for trouble. They have stood the insults of the policemen, the Vigilance Committee, hired thugs, and everything else, which would drive any person to violence.

"If it continues any longer the newspapers and the authorities will be held responsible. We have advocated no violence. We stand for certain rights which will better men's conditions. We want what our forefathers died on the battlefield for, free speech, free press, and free assemblage, and we'll demand it."

In his speech to the strikers Haywood said:

"This strike is our life. If you go back defeated you will be worse than before. You are not going back defeated, for you'll win the strike. We're going to turn the searchlight on the city and we're going to have a Federal investigation, too. We are going to let 'Billy' Hughes call it, and if he refuses, then we will get some one else to do it. He is supposed to represent the people, but right here in his own district is one of the largest strikes that has ever occurred in the State, and he does nothing at all. We'll see where he stands, whether with the bosses or the workers. We will show the mills, the conjested homes, and everything. We have enlisted men who are capable."

Prosecutor Dunn said to-day that Tresca would go on trial on Monday next, and he would continue with the trials daily until all the indictments against Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, Patrick Quinlan, Haywood, and Lessig are disposed of.

SHUT OUT I. W. W. DELEGATES.

Dressmakers Will Not Listen to Paterson Strikers.

Several hundred members of Local 25, American Branch of the Waist and Dress Makers' Union, voted unanimously last night to exclude a committee of Paterson strikers from Independence Hall at Twenty-seventh Street and Third Avenue, as a rebuke to the Industrial Workers of the World and the methods of the organization.

The union was holding its semi-monthly meeting, with Miss Gertrude Barnum in the chair, when the announcement was made that "a committee from the strike sufferers in Paterson" sought admission, and desired the privilege of the floor for a few minutes. It was said that the visitors desired to tell about conditions in the silk city and take up a collection for the benefit of the strikers' families.

"What labor organization does the committee represent?" asked several members in unison.

"The Industrial Workers of the World," replied Miss Barnum.

"Keep them out—keep them out!" was the shout. "Let them make their speeches before their own crowd. We are with the American Federation of Labor."

The question was put, and the I. W. W. delegation was excluded.

ODD ANGLE IN STRIKE.

Summit Doctor Resigns Rather Than Give Free Patients' Names.

Special to The New York Times.

SUMMIT, N. J., May 19.—Rather than make public the names of patients whom he has treated free of charge, City Physician E. E. English has resigned. He was directed recently by the Common Council to give the names of persons treated free by him as City Physician, but he said to-day he regarded such disclosures as unprofessional.

The order of the Common Council was the result of a protest made by Paul F. Dorgeval of the Summit Silk Company, whose employes, Dr. English said, were among some of those whom he treated free. Dorgeval is Superintendent of the company and resented the imputation that the silk mill employes were underpaid and pauperized.

Iron Company Demands Protection —Wharton's Attitude.

Special to The New York Times.

WHARTON, N. J., May 19.—The Empire Steel and Iron Company, which operates the Mount Hope Mineral Railroad, running from Mount Hope a distance of four miles to Wharton, where it connects with the New Jersey Central and Lackawanna Railroads, served notice this afternoon through its attorney, Elmer King, on Sheriff Whitfield B. Gillen, at his office in Morristown, that the company was desirous of operating the railroad. It has been tied up for three weeks on account of the strike. In three places the tracks have been blown up by dynamite.

The company said that it had a quantity of iron ore which ought to be shipped immediately, and that in order to repair the roadbed it was necessary for the company's employes to have protection. The wrecking crew of the Lackawanna Railroad to-morrow morning will try to remove the demolished cars. A guard is wanted.

The attorney for the Sheriff, Willis W. Cutler, in turn served notice on the Borough of Wharton, in a communication to Mayor Ulysses G. Davenport, that protection was needed while the roadbed was undergoing repair. The Mayor and members of the Borough Council held a conference to-night, at which the Chief of Police said that it would be possible to offer protection to the wrecking crew while removing the wrecked locomotive and cars now on the tracks, but he could not guarantee to afford protection if the road were put in operation.

The Mayor and Borough Council notified the Empire Steel and Iron Company what it was possible for the county and borough authorities to do.

WANTS FEDERAL INQUIRY.

Paterson Would Welcome Action by New Industrial Commission.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Senator Hughes of New Jersey urged the President again to-day to hasten the appointment of the members of the new Industrial Commission.

The Senator said he had had requests from Paterson, N. J., expressing the hope that the commission would look into strike conditions there soon.

WILL NOT DEAL WITH I. W. W.

Boss Barbers Will Call Now on City to Protect Employes.

It was decided yesterday at a meeting of the representatives of six associations of boss barbers employing most of the barbers now on strike in Manhattan, the Bronx, and Brooklyn, to make no agreement with the Industrial Workers of the World or any of its locals. The meeting was held in the rooms of the State Board of Mediation and Arbitration. The associations represented were Boss Barbers' Associations 1 and 2, the Bronx and Harlem Associations, the Italian Boss Barbers' Association, and the largest of the boss barbers' associations of Brooklyn.

It was expected that Frank Cancillieri, the leader of the Manhattan strikers, would attend, but no representative of the strikers appeared, and the boss barbers passed a resolution not to have any dealings with the Industrial Workers of the World or its officials. Having decided on this, the boss barbers will ask the city authorities for protection for any men they employ.

Joseph J. Ettor, the Industrial Workers of the World strike leader, said yesterday that the men now on strike had no intention of talking arbitration with any set of men, but would fight until they won all the Industrial Workers of the World demands from all the boss barbers.

The officers of the barbers' unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor are indignant that the members of these unions have been forced to strike in Manhattan and Brooklyn by mobs of Industrial Workers of the World men, and a conference of representatives of American Federation of Labor unions was held at Clinton Hall, 151 Clinton Street, late in the afternoon to consider what action should be taken. After the conference Organizer Frayne said the American Federation of Labor unions would take charge of the strike, which would have the support of the federation. Another conference will be held with the representatives of the bosses' associations, with a view to ending the strike by an agreement with the American Federation of Labor unions, by which none but members of these unions will be re-employed.

VOTE ON RAILWAY STRIKE.

Head of Tranmen's Union Hints at Big Tie-Up in East.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen is to take a vote on the question of a strike as a result of the refusal of the railroads east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio River to consider a 15 per cent. wage increase for conductors and brakemen.

This was decided at a convention of trainmen to-day.

"We had a conference with the general managers of the various roads in New York several weeks ago, and they refused flatly to raise the pay of trainmen in their employ to the standards maintained in the Middle West, South, and North, as well as on the Pacific Coast," said W. G. Lee, President of the Brotherhood. "They told us they could not afford it. We replied that the richest systems in the entire country, if not in the world, were those operating east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio. The conference ended in a wrangle.

"I do not say that we will strike. I simply want it to be known that the wages will be raised on these roads or there will be trouble—big trouble and lots of it."

CINCINNATI STRIKE ENDS.

Traction Officials and Car Men Agree to Arbitration.

CINCINNATI, May 19.—Conferences between representatives of the Cincinnati Traction Company and leaders of the striking street car men's union ended to-night in an agreement by which the strike is declared off, and the service will be resumed to-morrow.

Most of the questions in dispute will be submitted to arbitration.

TAUGHT TO RESPECT FLAG.

Court Convicts Men Who Covered It with Strike Labels.

Francis Midlionni, an organ grinder, of 24 Baxter Street, learned in Special Sessions yesterday that it was contrary to law to paste signs written in Italian over the American flag. Samuel Finklestein, a silk weaver, of 569 Southern Boulevard, also learned a lesson in patriotism.

Both were arrested at Broadway and Thirteenth Street on May 14 after they had been threatened by a crowd of men and women who resented the insult to the flag. They had a flag, on which placards had been pasted which said that 5,000 silk workers were out of work in New York. Midlionni was convicted, but sentence was suspended, as it was shown that he acted under the instruction of Finklestein, who was fined $25.

I. W. W. LEADER GUILTY.

B. J. Legere Convicted of Rioting in Little Falls Strike.

UTICA, May 19.—Benjamin J. Legere, the I. W. W. leader, was convicted at Herkimer to-day of participation in the strike riots at Little Falls last November.

No defense was submitted except in the summing-up. The jury took the case at four o'clock and returned at nine to-night with the verdict. Legere has not been sentenced.

Eight-Hour Day at Carlstadt.

Special to The New York Times.

PASSAIC, N. J., May 19.—The Scharg Brothers' silk mill at Carlstadt, employing several hundred hands, which was closed last week because many employes favored a strike, was reopened this morning. The demand for an eight-hour day was granted, but wages were not increased. Many of the employes did not return to work to-day, but it is believed that to-morrow they will agree formally to return.

SENATE MAY TIE ON WOOL AND SUGAR

Defection of Walsh, Who Now Opposes Their Free Listing, Will Have This Result.

MARSHALL WOULD SAVE BILL

Its Fate Depends on Newlands, Poindexter, and Works — Changes in Chemical Rates Please Republicans.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—A statement made to-day by Senator Walsh, a Democrat, from Montana, that he will be compelled to oppose free sugar and free wool seems to reduce the Administration's strength on those items to a tied Senate with the vote of the Vice President deciding them both. There is no question that Vice President Marshall will support the Administration programme, so that, even relying on Democratic votes alone, the two items have more than an even chance of enactment. Besides this, Senator Poindexter of Washington, the only Progressive in the Senate, has supported the Democratic tariff policy for two years, and may vote with the majority for free sugar and wool. But his assistance on those items would be about offset by the contingency that Mr. Newlands, a Democrat, of Nevada, would make good his treat and insist upon a duty on the two staples.

Unless an almost inconceivable combination arises, the worst that can befail the Administration seems now to be the adoption of free sugar and free wool on a tie vote, the Vice President casting the decisive ballot. In the face of Mr. Walsh's defection, which aligns him with the two Senators from Louisiana, support from Mr. Poindexter would give a clear majority of two, regardless of the Vice President, on both articles. As Mr. Walsh's statement does not imply that he will vote against the bill itself, once all amendments are disposed of, the Administration can rely on a party vote unbroken, except for the two Louisianans, on the final passage of the bill.

The circumstances that would spell defeat for the Administration on sugar or wool, or both, would be the defection of Mr. Newlands, Mr. Walsh, and the two Senators from Louisiana, with Mr. Poindexter voting with the Republicans. That would give the Administration a minority of 47 to 49, and the Vice President would be powerless to help.

Works May Waver.

There has been some expectation that Mr. Works of California, who retained his Republican allegiance, but voted for President Wilson last November, might support his tariff policy, but on Friday he voted for the delay of public hearings, and is receiving many petitions for protection from industries in his State.

The upshot of all these calculations is that the majority leaders in the Senate realize that they are running the Tariff bill on a very narrow margin. Already there have been indications enough that they know the need of care, and the slow progress of the sub-committees of the Committee on Finance suggests that they are going carefully over every item in the bill. It has been known for some days, in spite of the President's "no-compromise" declaration, that the committee is undecided on free sugar, and its members are still saying that either a permanent duty on sugar or the separation of the sugar schedule from the rest of the bill may prove necessary. The latter course, it was pointed out, would probably effect the ultimate adoption of the Administration's programme, although the procedure of a separate bill has already been definitely rejected by the President.

Simmons Sees Delays.

Senator Simmons, Chairman of the Finance Committee, confirmed to-day on the floor of the Senate Saturday's dispatch to THE NEW YORK TIMES which told of unexpected delays the committee was encountering in its consideration of the bill. In response to Republican questions Mr. Simmons said the most he could "hope" was that the bill would be ready for reporting to the Senate in the first week in June. His tone indicated plainly that he feared it would be considerably later than that.

The subject came up when Mr. Penrose of Pennsylvania, the ranking Republican of the committee, offered a resolution directing the committee to publish a list of all manufacturers, experts, and others who had testified before sub-committees, conferred with them, or in any way given them information on tariff matters. A volley of Democratic objections postponed consideration of the resolution.

Mr. Penrose then asked unanimous consent that 2,000 copies be printed on the questions drafted by Mr. La Follette, to be used by the committee in getting information on the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad. Though Mr. Simmons had announced on Friday that the committee, while refusing to hold hearings, would send out the questions, he demurred to-day to doing so. The questions ought first to be considered by the committee, he said, at its meeting to-morrow.

The sub-committee of the Committee on Finance, of which Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi is Chairman, has tentatively completed its consideration of Schedule A, relating to chemicals. While the sub-committee amendments have not been made public, Republicans who are informed of their general nature are pleased with the changes the committee proposes to make in the House rates. It is understood that these changes restore to the free list such dyes as alizarin, anthracin and their products, and the products of indigo.

This sub-committee plans to meet every day this week, as well as others considering the wool, cotton, and sugar schedules. On all those manufacturers are here pleading to be heard against the rates of the Underwood bill.

For Free Listing Trust Goods.

An amendment to the tariff bill introduced to-day by Senator Kenyon proposed that when any corporation or concern was adjudged a monopoly its products should automatically go on the free list. Mr. Kenyon hopes that the Finance Committee will favorably consider the amendment, but if not he will press it on the floor of the Senate. The proposal has almost unlimited possibilities for overturning schedules.

The question whether products of concerns reorganized since the Supreme Court held them to be monopolies might still be under monopolistic control would also enter into the application of the law should the Kenyon amendment be

Assistant Attorney General Winfred T. Denison and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury James F. Curtis filed with the Finance Committee to-day briefs in support of changes in the administrative features of the Underwood bill suggested by them last week. These suggestions embodied authority for the Secretary of the Treasury to proclaim fixed values for fluctuating prices of imports, the prohibition of contingent lawyer's fees in customs litigation, and simplification of appraisement reviews by substituting a direct review in appraisement cases by three appraisers and by one appraiser in classification cases.

In addition Mr. Denison filed briefs supporting two changes not indorsed by Mr. Curtis. The first of these gives the Board of Appraisers authority to publish its decisions in full. The other strikes out of the bill the provision requiring the board to file opinions in each case. The first suggestion is made, explains Mr. Denison, for the justification of the board making the decision. The second is to save the board from the necessity of violating confidence and thereby discouraging the free testimony of witnesses.

To Consider Foreign Protests.

Protests from foreign nations against administrative features of the bill and the provision granting a 5 per cent. reduction of the duty on imports in American bottoms have been lodged with the State Department and communicated to the Finance Committee, where they will first be considered by a sub-committee of which Senator Williams is Chairman. They come from England, Germany, France, Italy, Australia and other countries.

Luis M. Rivera, resident Commissioner from Porto Rico; José De Diego, Speaker of the Porto Rican House; Martin Travieso, President of the Executive Council, and a delegation of business men from the island presented to-day a memorial to President Wilson stating that the free sugar provision in the Tariff bill would destroy their sugar industry. The President promised to study their argument.

INQUIRE INTO COAL STRIKE.

Committee of Three Senators for West Virginia Investigation.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—A compromise in the Senate to-day checked the prolonged debate on the resolution of Senator Kern of Indiana for investigating the recent West Virginia coal strike. As a result, the resolution, instead of coming to a vote, was referred to the Committee on Labor and Education, with the understanding that the committee would report the resolution immediately, with the recommendation that the investigation be conducted by a sub-committee of three Senators.

The Republican member of the sub-committee will be Mr. Borah of Idaho, who at the last session introduced the resolution upon which Mr. Kern based his later draft. None of the Democrats, however, want to take the Chairmanship, and all who have been approached so far, including Mr. Shively of Indiana, have declined.

Mr. Goff of West Virginia, in opposing the investigation to-day, said that conditions in his State were no worse than in New Jersey, and that an investigation was no more needed in West Virginia than in New Jersey.

"But in Paterson," furiously interrupted Mr. Martine of New Jersey, "we have had no martial law, and the courts have not been superceded by military tribunals."

"Well, then, they ought to be," retorted Mr. Goff. "I am informed that property has been destroyed and lives lost in Paterson. In West Virginia, where conditions have been so criticised, the strike is over, but in New Jersey the disorder continues."

Mr. Hughes of New Jersey later explained that while there had been one death in Paterson among those connected with the strike, it had been due to causes other than the strike. Some arrests had been made, not all of which he considered just, he said. In view of the number of persons affected by the strike, he thought the peace had been remarkably preserved.

RAISES A WORLD QUESTION.

California Tangle Leads to Grave Issues, Says a London Writer.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, May 19.—Sir Valentine Chirol, Director of The Times's foreign department, has a three-column article in that newspaper, dealing with the issues which lie at the back of the differences between the United States and Japan. Sir Valentine, who regards the California matter as serious, says:

"It threatens to force to a definite issue a question which diplomacy has hitherto been at pains to elude by a series of skillful compromises.

"The ultimate issue involved is, in fact, whether Japan, who made good her title to be treated on a footing of complete equality as one of the great powers of the world, is not also entitled to rank among the civilized nations, whose citizens the American Republic is ready to welcome, subject to a few well-defined exceptions, within its fold, whenever they are prepared to transfer their allegiance to it, or whether her people are to be individually subject to the disabilities, imposed upon Asiatics collectively, whose lower plane of civilization is held to justify their exclusion from the enjoyment of rights freely accorded to all those who come with European credentials.

"Such an issue, whether it be raised in the law courts or through diplomatic channels, will have to be met and dealt with on equally broad grounds."

After pointing out that probably a majority of the Japanese emigrants are superior to many of those who swarm to the United States from Eastern Europe, the writer says:

"If the right of naturalization is to be denied all the Japanese, it cannot be on the ground that every Japanese is personally more undesirable as a citizen than any European. The color bar cannot very logically be pleaded as in itself prohibitive by a State which within living memory has waged the greatest civil war of modern times in order to establish the claim of American negroes to equal rights of citizenship with the white population of the Republic.

"Then again the number of mixed marriages between Japanese and Europeans are no doubt still very small, but they are increasing, and it would be easy to name several Japanese in high positions who have set the example. Could the color bar be maintained also against the offspring of such unions?

"Even less can religion be operative to bar them, for there are already considerable Christian communities in Japan.

"Nor could any educational bar be sustained. There is no branch of science, art, or letters in which the Japanese have not shown themselves capable of acquiring proficiency, while in some they have already earned conspicuous distinction."

Sir Valentine concludes that the bar of race would seem the only one which could be plausibly maintained, and asks whether such a bar must be permanent. He goes on:

"Japan was too long bound up with Asia by geographical propinquity and by the traditions of her own ancient civilization to repudiate her Asiatic descent. A question, which she may raise with much greater propriety, is whether her Asiatic descent is permanently to disqualify her from enjoying the full rights freely accorded one another by the great nations into whose company she has already gained entrance on a footing of complete political equality. Her argument would presumably be:

"'Modern civilization is not a matter of longitude or latitude, of race or creed. Japan has based upon it her laws and institutions. She has confined her national life to it. In so far as the term Asiatic means active or passive antagonism to the influences of modern civilization, Japan has ceased to be an Asiatic nation. If her practice sometimes fall short of principle, if her people do not all tread in the new paths with equal readiness, let those nations cast stones at her who never lapse from the high standards they pride themselves on having set up and whose entire organism is free from blemish.'"

LONDON, Tuesday, May 20.—The Daily News in an editorial this morning remarks that England is keenly interested in watching how President Wilson handles the Japanese nettle, because the question affects the policy of British Columbia and Australia.

The paper thinks that the Californians' fears are exaggerated and that the Japanese are not likely to become a serious factor in America, as they have abundant scope in Korea.

ATTACK JOHNSON'S ATTITUDE.

Radical Tokio Papers Denounce His Statements to Wilson.

TOKIO, May 19.—Some of the radical newspapers bitterly denounce Gov. Johnson's reply to President Wilson as illiberal and unjust, asserting that it is strongly anti-Japanese and that Gov. Johnson is seeking to evade his own responsibility under cover of the National law.

It is pointed out that the Japanese have not acquired land by violence, and it is urged that they are no more objectionable than Europeans who acquire citizenship, amass wealth, and return to their fatherland. Instead of endangering peace and order, they have opened up the resources of California and advanced the prosperity of the State. The inhabitants of the Eastern States, some of the papers contend, should be alive to the injustice of California.

The Yorodzu considers Gov. Johnson's attitude as an intolerable insult to Japan, which, it says, has always shown good-will, and has voluntarily restricted emigration. The paper expresses the hope that a protest will be lodged against the alien land ownership bill recently signed by the Governor of Arizona.

The group of business men from various cities of Japan who visited the United States in 1909 and made many friends there are seeking the co-operation of the most influential of these toward a continuance of the friendly relations between the two countries. They held a reunion at Kioto to-day, and decided to communicate with their American friends in an effort to aid in the settlement of the controversy over the alien land legislation.

The discussion was of a friendly character, but the granting of naturalization and the conclusion of a new treaty were regarded as most desirable.

WILSON HESITATES TO EXEMPT LABOR

No Hint Whether President Will Veto or Sign Under Protest Bill Crippling Sherman Act.

CONFERENCE WITH LEADERS

But Martin and Fitzgerald Declare Exemption Clause of Sundry Bill Was Not Discussed.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Realizing its far-reaching importance, President Wilson is giving serious consideration to the action he must take in regard to the provision in the Sundry Civil bill prohibiting the use of any part of the appropriation of $300,000 for the enforcement of the Sherman Anti-trust act in the prosecution of labor unions and farmers' organizations.

This provision was adopted by the House when the Sundry bill was passed there April 22. It was approved by the Senate May 7. On the latter date, the Senate, 41 to 32, with 23 Senators not voting, refused to strike the exemption clause from the bill.

The adoption of the provision by both Houses was regarded by the conferrees as final action, which made it impossible for them, under the rules governing Congressional conferences, to touch this clause while adjusting differences between the two bodies.

There has been a partial agreement on the bill in conference, the only item in dispute now being an amendment added by the Senate seeking to reduce the number of Governors in charge of the Soldiers' Homes throughout the country. When this difference has been composed the bill will be sent to President Wilson, putting squarely up to him the decision as to whether he is to sign the bill or disapprove it on account of the exemption clause.

President Wilson has received hundreds of communications from business men, lawyers, and others throughout the country urging him to use his influence and, if necessary, the veto power against the enactment of the labor union and farmers' alliance exemption. Some of these protests characterize it as class legislation of an extremely dangerous character, and all assert that it is unjust and unfair to provide by legislation that public funds shall not be utilized for the punishment of violations of existing law.

Whether President Wilson will veto the bill or content himself with approving the measure and attaching to it a memorandum of protest is not known, but it is understood that he feels that such legislation should not be attached to an appropriation bill which in this case carries more than $100,000,000, but, if enacted at all, should be presented on its merits as a separate legislative act providing for the amendment of the Sherman law. In that event it would be possible for him to consider the matter strictly on its merits and sign or veto the measure.

Senator Martin of Virginia and Representative Fitzgerald of New York, the Chairmen, respectively, of the Senate and House Appropriations Committees, visited the White House to-day and had a long conference with President Wilson. The report was current at the Capitol afterward that this conference dealt almost entirely with the labor union clause of the Sundry Civil bill. One report had it that the President had informed Messrs. Martin and Fitzgerald that he would feel obliged to veto the bill should it come to his desk with the exemption clause retained, and that Mr. Fitzgerald had said to the President that a veto of the bill would result in a motion in the House to pass the bill over the Presidential veto, because the sentiment there was overwhelmingly in favor of the clause.

Flat denial of these stories was made to-night by the two Chairmen. Senator Martin asserted that the labor union clause was not discussed at the conference with the President, which, he said, dealt wholly with appropriation policies. Representative Fitzgerald was emphatic in his repudiation of the veto report. He said that the labor union clause was not even mentioned at to-day's conference; general appropriation policies were talked about, he said.

Democratic leaders in Congress say they do not know what action the President will take with reference to the bill. Three of the four Democratic conferrees said emphatically to THE TIMES correspondent that they had not been informed as to the course the President would follow. One of them asserted that the President has not taken an "antagonistic" attitude toward the bill, but that he had not indicated whether he would veto the bill or sign it with a protest.

In the Sixty-second Congress the Sundry Civil bill was sent to President Taft with the labor union clause in the identical form in which it is now to be presented to President Wilson. Mr. Taft vetoed the bill and denounced the exemption clause as "vicious."

When the bill will reach President Wilson is problematical. The conferrees have not held a meeting since Friday. After they agree their report must be adopted by Senate and House, and the changes made incorporated in the engrossed copy of the measure.

A CLOSED-SHOP MEASURE.

Sundry Bill Exemption Denounced at Manufacturers' Convention.

DETROIT, May 19.—"The Sundry Civil Appropriation bill, which has passed both houses of Congress and is awaiting the signature of the President, is the outcome of constant agitation by closed-shop unions to prevent their being held 'subject to the Sherman anti-trust law,'" declared Joseph W. Bryce of Battle Creek this afternoon before the National Association of Manufacturers.

"If all who labor were members of the closed-shop unions," said Mr. Bryce, "or were even sympathizers with them, one might consider it political wisdom for the party in power to manifest its sympathy with closed-shop ideals, as it has done. However, the number of people in closed-shop organizations would not equal 5 per cent. of all the laboring people in this country. Yet it seems the 5 per cent. are being given special privileges which cannot help but work injury to the 95 per cent.

"The labor unions, and more especially the American Federation of Labor and the Industrial Workers of the World, are constantly attempting to unionize the industries of this country so that none but members of their organizations may be employed. In many cases their agreements are absolutely in contravention of all law.

"Closed shops usually breed limitations of production. In fact the closed shop has been advocated by organized labor as necessary to make more jobs for more men.

"If the employers of labor will have regard for their men and keep in closer touch with them, playing the game fair with them, there will be little fear of any possible advance of the closed-shop idea. Profit-sharing, co-partnership, wage dividends, accident prevention and age pensions are all questions that must be settled and settled right, and the employer who is not giving active consideration to these questions is not doing his whole duty to himself or his fellowman."

JEWISH CHARITIES SHORT.

They Have $25,000 of $50,000 Needed to Assure a Big Gift.

Announcement was made at a meeting of the Brooklyn Federation of Jewish Charities last night in Unity Hall, Franklin Avenue and Hancock Street, Brooklyn, that $25,435 had been raised in the campaign begun on May 13 to raise $50,000 to complete a fund of $200,000. The $200,000 fund is needed to meet the conditions of a gift made by Julius Rosenwald of Chicago, who agreed to present the federation with $25,000 provided its subscriptions reached $200,000.

Benjamin H. Namm, Chairman of the Campaign Committee, said last night that the campaign would be continued until the remainder of the $50,000 was pledged. Nathan S. Jonas, President of the federation, presided. Justice Julian C. Mack of Chicago was a speaker.

Train Beheads Two Track Workers.

WALDO IN PHILADELPHIA.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 19.—Rhinelander Waldo, the New York Police Commissioner, came here to-day to learn something about handling the vice situation and to give some police hints to George D. Porter, Director of Public Safety. To-night the two went through the closed Tenderloin so Mr. Waldo could get an idea of the results of Mayor Blankenburg's "vice quarantine."

They found the resorts closed, but from the number of women he saw on the streets in the quarantined section Mr. Waldo concluded that the quarantine was not very effective. He declined, however, to make any comment for publication.

There is New Strength and Vitality for you in Sanatogen

WHEN practicing physicians, to the number of over 18,000, state over their own signatures their belief in the health promoting action of Sanatogen, when grateful users of Sanatogen everywhere sing the praises of Sanatogen, when leading medical journals record the good effects of Sanatogen—you surely cannot doubt that Sanatogen will bring new strength and vitality to you.

For many years, physicians in many countries have watched the true upbuilding, fortifying action of Sanatogen. They have seen how it infuses new strength and endurance into a starved nervous system, how it regenerates blood and tissue, bringing fresh vigor to the weak and anemic, how wonderfully it improves digestion, helping other foods to feed and nourish.

And those who actually use Sanatogen know that these effects are real, natural and lasting—they know that Sanatogen does not act as a spur or stimulant, but as a true food and tonic which feeds and fortifies—naturally and persistently—not whipping or spurring nature, but faithfully assisting her in winning back that glorious possession: Health and Strength.

If you wish to learn more about Sanatogen before you use it, write for a copy of this booklet, beautifully illustrated and comprising facts and information of the greatest interest.

THE BAUER CHEMICAL CO., 26 Irving Pl., New York

Harrison Fisher, The well-known artist, writes: "I have used Sanatogen from the first of the year, and find it a wonderful tonic. I am recommending it to my overworked friends."

Charles D. Sigsbee, Rear Admiral, U. S. Navy, writes: "After a thorough trial of Sanatogen, I am convinced of its merit as a food and tonic. Its beneficial effects are beyond doubt."

Sir Gilbert Parker, M. P., the eminent novelist-statesman, writes from London: "Sanatogen is to my mind a true food-tonic, feeding the nerves, increasing the energy, and giving fresh vigor to the overworked body and mind."

Col. Henry Watterson, the famous editor, writes: "I feel I owe it to truth to state that I have made a thorough trial of Sanatogen and that I have found it most efficacious and beneficent. I do not think I could have recovered my vitality, as I have done, without this Sanatogen operating equally upon the digestive organs and nerve centers."

"How much are these?"

Man wants some record cards. Naturally, he drops in at a Library Bureau salesroom. Picks up a 3x5 card. Bends it. Tears it to see how good the stock is. Asks "How much?" Salesman says, "Dollar a thousand." "H—m, that's cheap," says the man.

He picks up another 3x5 card. "How much?" Salesman says, "$4.50 a thousand."

"Why such a difference?" Salesman explains. "This index card is for temporary use. This other card will last for years. Bend it! Tough, isn't it? Notice what a fine writing surface it has. We experimented for twelve years before we were able to produce a card that will stand what this card will."

The point is this: Library Bureau salesmen keep in mind, continually, the needs of the user. For temporary use, almost any quality of card will do. We have cards for temporary use. For permanent records the very best cards are none too good. We have cards for permanent use—the best that can be made.

MEXICANS REQUEST DIAZ TO RETURN

Delegation Arrives at the Ex-Dictator's Place of Exile in Spain.

AEROPLANE FOR REBEL ARMY

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, Tuesday, May 20.—The Journal's Corunna correspondent says that the steamship Ypiranga has arrived there with a Mexican delegation aboard. The delegates visited ex-President Diaz and requested him to return to Mexico and take the reins into his hands again.

NOGALES, Ariz., May 19.—The war aeroplane which crossed into Mexico near Naco last night was the same flying machine confiscated by United States officials two weeks ago. The machine has disappeared from a ranch betweeen Tucson and this point. With it disappeared Reuben Hopkins, a United States Deputy Marshal of Tucson, who was left to guard the craft.

The machine, in sections, was taken in three automobiles south to the international line and safely carried across late yesterday afternoon. With it went high-power bombs of the gravity contact type, which the insurgents expect to drop on the Federal gunboat Guerrero, which lies in Guaymas Harbor, ready to assist the garrison of the town in defending the only remaining point in the State of Sonora held by the Central Government. The flying apparatus and bombs for aerial use went south to-day on a special train. The attack upon Guaymas, to which point the defeated Federals have retired, has been postponed, it is explained, until the aeroplane arrives to offset the power of the gunboat.

The disappearance of the aeroplane, supposedly safe in the keeping of the Federal officers, led late to-day to a search for the missing Deputy Marshal. It is asserted that he was kidnapped. The Mexican customs collector of Nogales, Sonora, passed the incident with the remark: "It cost us lots of money, but we got it."

The aeroplane, a three-passenger, eighty horse power biplane, was held two weeks ago, when Didier Masson and his mechanic, Thomas Deane, began setting up the machine at Pike's ranch, twenty miles below Tucson. Masson and Deane escaped with some necessary parts of the machine, and it was rumored that still another aeroplane had been smuggled over the line.

It is said that the machine which crossed last night is the second of five contracted for by the insurgents.

José Manuel, a seventeen-year-old Mexican-American, was arrested in Nogales, Sonora, yesterday and sentenced to be shot as a spy. A conference between Prefect Calles and the American Consul to-day led to a retraction of the order. The youth signed a statement in which he confessed complicity in a plot to smuggle arms, ammunition, and petroleum into Sonora, the oil to be used in destroying bridges and probably public buildings.

Two unidentified Mexicans, also accused of being Federal spies, were shot at sunrise to-day.

EAGLE PASS, Texas, May 19.—Gov. Carranza, Constitutionalist leader, is preparing a message to President Wilson, notifying him that United States Consul Luther T. Ellsworth, at Piedras Negras, is persona non grata, and requesting his withdrawal. He refused to-day to discuss the reasons for his determination. Consul Ellsworth declined to talk about the matter.

No protest against Consul Ellsworth had been received from Gov. Carranza to-day, but from unofficial sources it was learned that the principal complaint of the Constitutionalist leader against the Consul is that he has been friendly to the Huerta Government and its officials to the disadvantage of the revolutionists.

"My purpose to solve the situation in Mexico by force of arms is fixed and inflexible," was the message Gov. Carranza wired to his agent here to-day in response to queries as to whether he had decided to compromise the conflict by agreeing upon Francisco Vasquez Gomez for Provisional President.

White House officials, when informed to-day that dispatches from Mexico City interpreted Secretary Bryan's statement of last Saturday as an indorsement of Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson, expressed the opinion that there never had been any proof to substantiate the charges recently made against the Ambassador.

GALVESTON, May 19.—Nearly twoscore refugees from Mexico, who have just arrived on board the steamer Noruega, report conditions in the southern republic acute, in some instances bordering upon a state of anarchy. They boarded the steamer at Vera Cruz and Tampico.

Among the refugees were business men and their families, employes of foreign concerns operating in the larger cities, a Methodist missionary, and three men said to have been officers of the Federal Army during the régime of the late President Madero.

RULES FOR MEXICAN MAIL.

Burleson Warns Postmasters to Honor Only Huerta Money Orders.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—An order was issued by Postmaster General Burleson to-day directing that Postmasters refuse to pay money orders issued on and after May 25 at any Post Office in Mexico unless they should have received the corresponding advices previously indorsed by the Huerta Postal Administration with a special stamp, reading: "Visador por la Direccion General de Correos de Mexico, D. F." When payment is thus refused, the instructions say, the holder of the order should be advised to return it to the sender. The order is in accordance with an agreement entered into between the American and Mexican Postal Departments.

At present all mail for any part of Mexico under the control of the Huerta Government moves by maritime routes down to Vera Cruz, and thence to Mexico City by rail, and is there distributed by the Mexican postal authorities. Mail for the Northern States of Mexico, where the Constitutionalists are in control, is delivered, according to the regular practice of the department, to the postal authorities who are de facto in control, in spite of the protest of the Huerta Administration, which has given notice that it will not be responsible for mail delivered to any one but its own postal authorities.

ESCAPES FROM ELLIS ISLAND

Authorities Think Hospital Patient Tried to Swim to Jersey.

The immigration authorities sent out an alarm yesterday for the arrest of Ivan Czykowska, a Russian, 25 years old, who escaped from the hospital on Ellis Island, where he had been an inmate since May 17, when he arrived on the Cunarder Ivernia suffering from trachoma. It is assumed that the Russian escaped from the ward at an early hour yesterday morning, attired only in his hospital clothes, and swam across to the New Jersey shore, a distance of nearly half a mile, risking his life to avoid being deported to Russia.

He was missed at breakfast time. After a search of the island showed that he had escaped to the mainland, an alarm was sent to Police Headquarters in this city and Jersey City.

Officials at Ellis Island said last night that Czykowska might have drowned unless he was picked up by a passing boat, as the wind and tide were very strong yesterday morning.

ANTI-VICE BILLS SIGNED.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 19.—Announcement was made to-day of the disapproval of sixty-three bills by Gov. Sulzer. He disposed of them before he left the capitol on his direct primary stumping tour. These measures are grouped under the title of "Omnibus Veto No. 1," and include bills which are duplicates, defectively drawn, unnecessary or in violation of the Home Rule principle. One of these is Senator Blauvelt's bill providing for the creation of mutual companies to insure employers against damage or compensation for injuries received by employes. This measure was a companion of the Foley-Walker Workmen's Compensation bill, which the Governor vetoed last week.

Among the bills signed before the Governor's departure were two more of the group proposed for the reform of speculation in Wall Street. One makes it a felony for brokers to trade against customers' orders in stocks or bonds. The other requires brokers to deliver to customers memoranda describing the securities purchased or sold, also giving the name of the person or corporation selling them, with the day of sale and hours between which the transactions took place.

The Governor has also signed the Weil Loan Shark bill. It creates the office of Supervisor of Small Loans, and provides for the licensing of brokers who loan sums of $200 or less on chattel mortgages or wages. An applicant for a license is required to file a bond of $3,000 if he lives in New York, Buffalo or Rochester, or in a city of the second class, and a bond of $1,000 if elsewhere. The license fee is $100.

Two bills aimed at vice conditions in New York City are among the new laws. One provides that the keeping of disorderly houses, or the leasing of property for such purposes by owners or agents, shall constitute a misdemeanor. The other amends the Tenement House bill by prohibiting the use of tenements or any parts of such buildings for disorderly purposes, and providing that all persons entering such tenements for disorderly purposes shall be deemed vagrants.

A new amendment to the banking law, which was made effective by the Governor's signature, provides for the incorporation of "credit unions" to promote thrift among their members and permitting loans to members at reasonable rates, with or without security.

The Governor has also signed Senator Foley's bill designed to prevent false and misleading advertisements. It prohibits the advertisement for the sale or exchange of real estate by means of prizes, rewards or distinctions, or by the so-called "puzzle" method.

DESIGNATES J. W. OSBORNE.

Will Help Place Sing Sing Charges Before Grand Jury.

ALBANY, May 19.—At the request of Gov. Sulzer, Attorney General Carmody has designated James W. Osborne of New York to assist District Attorney Francis W. Winslow of Westchester County in presenting to the Grand Jury of that county the criticisms made against the management of Sing Sing Prison by George W. Blake of New York.

Under a new law, Mr. Osborne's compensation and expenses must be borne by Westchester County.

MULRANEY PAYS PENALTY.

Dies in Electric Chair for Murder of "Paddy the Priest."

OSSINING, N. Y., May 19.—John Mulraney, who was known in New York as "Happy Jack," was put to death in the electric chair in the death house in Sing Sing Prison this morning for the murder of Patrick McBreen in New York on the night of Oct. 3, 1911. McBreen was a saloon keeper known as "Paddy the Priest," and was killed in a hold-up in his saloon at 771 Tenth Avenue, Manhattan. A sixty-day reprieve was granted by Gov. Sulzer to enable Mulraney to make good his declaration that he could establish an alibi. He failed to do so.

GREENWICH VILLAGE GOES BACK 50 YEARS

A NIGHT OF MEMORIES

But McAneny, Discussing the Subway and Greenwich's Future, Wins Lion's Share of Applause.

From every part of the city and beyond men and women who used to live in Greenwich Village went back to it last night. Through the familiar tangle of streets that were once the criss-cross lanes of the little community separated by the Lispenard Meadows from the town down below City Hall they picked their way to Public School 95, in Clarkson Street, near Hudson, there to gather in the big auditorium for the formal opening of Old Home Week. It is the first Old Home Week ever held in this city, and it is held in the only part of town that could really hold such a celebration of neighborhood sentiment and reminiscence. In the auditorium they were shown to their seats by girls tricked out daintily in costumes of the forties and the fifties, many of them sweet with the scent of lavender from long treasuring in some old cedar chest.

Nearly all the talk of the evening was of half a century ago, with much recollection of the days when the line formed at the old town pump at Jefferson Market and when pigs rooted enthusiastically in the streets of the village.

Happy in Their Memories.

And at every stirring of such old memories some gray head in the audience would nod a confirmation and the oldest of the men there would chuckle and pound delightedly on the floor with walking sticks now no longer carried for effect. Yet proud as was the mood of reminiscence, the heartiest applause of the evening, which came alike from young and old, was invoked by the speech of Borough President McAneny when he told of the havoc that the subway was soon to work with much of the quaintness of Greenwich Village. If the applause meant anything, it meant that much as they loved the ancient houses and the crooked streets they wanted the subway. Last night, amid all the reminiscence, they hailed the coming of more modern things to Greenwich Village, and seemed resigned to the fact that many a dormer window and gabled roof, many a fanlight and fluted door column would have to give way.

"It wil not be so many days now," said Mr. McAneny, "before the wreckers with their picks and their axes will invade these parts, clearing the way for the big broad avenue that is to be brought down through here and on down through Varick Street. When the subway has come it may not be so quaint here, it may not be so suggestive, but the change will mean much in real estate values hereabout. The subway is coming, and then we'll see what becomes of Greenwich Village! Let us hope that the best of it will remain as it is to-day! Let us hope that the memories will never go! Perhaps we are celebrating this week the eve of a new chapter in the history of the old village that will be the best of all, better than any it has ever known. Perhaps I am here to remind you that this part of New York is coming into its own as a living section of the modern city."

Mr. McAneny frankly confessed that he had no recollections of the old village, but they were supplied by the more venerable men on the platform—most delightfully by Robert W. de Forest and Everett P. Wheeler.

De Forest's Early Days.

Mr. de Forest started right in by going back to the days when he used to peer from the windows of his father's house in Charles Street, clutching fiercely to his nurse's apron as he watched the red-shirted firemen fighting the flames across the way. Mr. Wheeler made a mental note of this and whispered to his companion that this fire company must have been "Harry Howard's 34." Mr. de Forest remembered how that same nurse took him into a grocery store to see the bodies of the little children who had been crushed in the famous panic in the school. There were shaking of heads here, for others remembered that panic. Mr. de Forest recalled somewhat resentfully how that same nurse had pointed to the graveyard behind the de Forest home and told him one night of the man who had got shut in one of the vaults and had been gnawed to death by rats. Now that he came to think of it, he said, that must have been a rather inferior nurse. He turned hastily to pleasanter reminiscences of the ragman and the scissors grinder.

Mr. Wheeler confessed to having been born in Grove Street some seventy years ago when it really was a grove. His father had built the house when there was nothing between it and the river save St. Luke's Chapel, which looks down to-day upon a shabbier Hudson Street.

Mr. Wheeler remembered when he used to pick grapes and apricots in Grove Street, and he had only to close his eyes to see again the lamp lighter hurrying from lamp to lamp along the jumble of streets in Greenwich Village. They were quaint pictures of another generation that he drew, but he would not close until he had taken his stand with the modernists and said that he, for one, believed this was a far better city than it was in the days when he played in the streets of old Greenwich.

"It is a far more moral city," he said, "no matter what our critics of to-day tell us. It is a more decent age in which we live."

Tributes from Other Sections.

It was an evening, too, of compliments brought from other sections of the city, and the respects of Morningside Heights were conveyed to the village by Prof. Charles Sears Baldwin of Columbia University. Prof. Baldwin was there by right of one born in the village, as were his father and mother before him and his grandfather and his grandmother. He spoke of the ancient effort to keep Greenwich Village "American," and after recalling the old prejudice in the village against the Irish he laughingly turned to the programme of the evening, which fairly bristled with Irish names.

"To-day it is better," he said. "In those days the watchword was, 'We must keep the village American.' To-day our watchword is, 'We must make them all Americans.' It is a better watchword."

Mrs. V. G. Simkhovitch, President of the Greenwich Improvement Society, took the platform only long enough to introduce Arthur J. Hilly, President of the local board, who presided. Among the speakers were Chairman McCall of the Public Service Commission, Mornay Williams, and Alderman Curran, whose district is in Greenwich Village. He brought down the house by telling how stanchily he had opposed all efforts to rename Fourth Street, determined that he should enjoy forever the inherent Greenwich Village privilege of guiding confused strangers through the maze of streets.

The music of the evening went with the perfect doorways and windows of the street. It was contributed by Miss Loraine Wyman, who, in crinoline, stood on the platform and sang many old ballads like "Lord Lovel" and "The Bailiff's Daughter of Islington."

To-night will be parade night in the celebration of Old Home Week. The Greenwich Village organizations will march from Grove and Christopher Streets to the reviewing stand in Hudson Park. There will be a concert after that. Not down on the official programe is a special service to be held to-morrow evening in the Washington Square Methodist Episcopal Church in Fourth Street between the Square and Sixth Avenue. From 8 to 9 o'clock there will be prayer in the old church and after that a "social with refreshments."

SERVANT CATCHES A WOMAN BURGLAR

Finds Her Robbing Her Employer's Room While the Family Is at Dinner.

HER HUSBAND IN SING SING

A young woman who said she was Mrs. Katherine Pretzl of 501 West 131st Street, was locked up in the West Sixty-eighth Street Police Station late last night on a charge of burglary. The complainants against her were a Mrs. Beale and William H. Stubbs, who live at 114 West Seventy-ninth Street. They allege that in the course of a dinner at their home the young woman entered the house by the basement door, took the key to Mrs. Beale's apartments on the fourth floor from the rack in the hall, and, entering Mrs. Beale's room, stole a pocketbook containing jewelry and money. The police say this property was found in the prisoner's possession.

Mrs. Pretzel was expensively dressed and wore diamonds. She said, according to the police, that she had been married a year ago to John J. Delaney, who is serving a term in Sing Sing with Mike Quinlan for burglary. She asserted that she was a saleswoman out of employment. At the address given by her the police said they learned that she had a room for which she paid $6 a week. In the police station she pleaded with both Mrs. Beale and Mr. Stubbs not to press the charge.

According to the story Mrs. Beale told Detective Mulligan, who made the arrest, she with friends was at a late dinner, when she thought she heard some one moving about on the upper floor. She called her servant and told her to see who was upsairs. The servant, according to Mrs. Beale, went up to the fourth floor, and in Mrs. Beale's room saw Mrs. Pretzl. The servant asked her what she was doing there, and she said she was looking for a Mrs. McDonald. She was told that no such person lived in the house. She asked pardon for her mistake and started to walk down the stairs.

The servant's suspicions were aroused and she screamed. Her cries attracted the attention of the diners on the first floor, and headed by Mr. Stubbs they ran to the upper floors, intercepting the young woman on the stairs. Mr. Stubbs questioned her and she repeated that she was looking for a Mrs. McDonald, but was unable to give the number of the house other than it was in Seventy-ninth Street. Mrs. Beale then discovered that her door was open, and recalled that she had locked it and left the key on the rack in the hall.

The servant was sent to see if it was there, and when she reported that it was missing, Mrs. Beale looked through the room, while Mr. Stubbs detained the young woman. Mrs. Beale then discovered that her pocketbook was missing and asked the young woman for it. At first the young woman denied having it, but when pressed, according to Mrs. Beale and Mr. Stubbs, handed it over. The police of the West Sixty-eighth Street Station were then notified.

AMEND SCHOOL RULE.

Feature of Changes of Bylaws of Temple Emanu-El.

The Congregation of Temple Emanu-El, at its annual meeting held last night, in the vestry room of the Temple at Fifth Avenue and Forty-third Street, adopted with a few verbal changes the report of its Committee on Revision of its by-laws, and the recommendations made by the committee for their amendments. There was a large attendance, and the meeting, with its spirited discussion of the proposed amendments, lasted until after midnight.

Chief interest attached to the amendment proposed by the committee in connection with the management of the religious school attached to the temple. Under the old by-laws the superintendency of the religious school was shared jointly by the two rabbis of the congregation, the Rev. Dr. Joseph Silverman and the Rev. Dr. E. G. Enslow. The Committee on revision of the Bylaws recommended vesting the Board of Trustees with power in its discretion to assign one of the rabbis or the other, or both as Superintendents of the school, and against this recommendation there had been formed a protest which sought to make it mandatory on the Board of Trustees to assign one and only one of the rabbis as Superintendent. This protest, however, was voted down by the congregation last night, and the amendment of the committee adopted, leaving the appointment of the Superintendent of the religious school wholly in the discretion of the Trustees. The conclusion was reached, it was said, harmoniously.

Reporters were excluded from the meeting while the discussion and voting were going on, but at one point, in a speech by Louis Marshall in favor of the protest resolution, they could hear him shout:

"I'll tell you what sort of Judaism there has been in our religious school under the present régime: it is no more Judaism than Episcopalianism or Methodism or Unitarianism!"

Mr. Marshall added that a pledge had virtually been extended to the younger rabbi that he should have charge of the Sabbath School before he accepted the post at Emanu-El, and he asked that the pledge be fulfilled.

Mr. Marshall, former Justice David Leventritt, and Henry Sidenberg were re-elected Trustees of the Temple, their terms expiring last night. Other members of the Board of Trustees are James Seligman, M. H. Moses, Samuel M. Schafer, A. J. Dittenhoefer, Daniel Guggenheim, and William I. Spiegelberg.

POISONED BANKER ALIVE.

Special to The New York Times.

MACON, May 19.—B. Sanders Walker, the wealthy banker of this city, who swallowed a seven-grain tablet of bichloride of mercury on Wednesday morning, is still alive and conscious. His heart action is strong and he is able to talk. He gets out of bed when he feels like it, and this morning he greeted a group of banker friends and business associates who gathered on his lawn to inquire about him. The patient stood at the window and nodded to them.

Saline solutions injected into his veins are prolonging his life, but his physicians maintain that he has only about one chance in a million of recovering. Mr. Walker fully realizes this and faces the situation most philosophically.

To-day a New York doctor sent the following telegram to Mr. Walker's physicians:

"Pour all of the olive oil you can into Walker's stomach. It's the only chance to save him."

The local doctors declined to say whether or not they had applied the oil treatment.

Since taking the poison Mr. Walker has had very little nourishment. A teaspoonful of milk two or three times a day is all that he has been able to swallow.

CABLE OPERATORS DETAINED

Transfer from London Causes Talk of Labor Law Violation.

Robert S. Hamilton of Edinburgh and H. E. Davis of London, two cable telegraphers, who arrived yesterday on the Atlantic Transport liner Minnehaha from London, were detained by the immigration authorities under the contract labor law and will be sent to-day to Ellis Island to go before the Special Board of Inquiry.

The clause which relates to their case states that it is illegal to hire laborers in a foreign country to work in the United States. Mr. Hamilton said that they had simply been transferred from the London office of the Commercial Cable Company to the New York office of the company to do some special work.

If it is proved that the contract labor law has been violated the two operators will be sent back to London, probably on the same vessel next Saturday.

WOMAN OPENS COURT TERM.

Miss McDonnell of Watertown Takes the Place of the Court Crier.

Special to The New York Times.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., May 19.—For the first time in the history of this State a woman opened a term of Supreme Court in this city to-day. Miss Bertha McDonnell, Deputy Clerk of Jefferson County, performed the duties which ordinarily fall to the court crier, Willard Saxe, who to-day was busily engaged in a term of County Court. Miss McDonnell was pressed into service and she performed her duties well.

As the venerable Justice E. C. Emerson, but lately returned from holding court in New York City, ascended the bench the voice of Miss McDonnell sounded through the courtroom with the usual "Hear ye, hear ye!" Her proclamation was obeyed to the letter by the dozen attorneys and litigants assembled for the opening case.

for Men and Young Men will be offered today at $17

¶ The policy of our clothing shop will not permit us to use comparative prices, but if you know how to read between the lines—if you can tell when a woman's No means Yes—if you can recognize opportunity without a set of plans—we shall not have written this advertisement in vain!

¶ There are 300 Norfolks in this offering, of which these are the particulars: They are made of serges, crashes, cheviots and homespuns, in designs and colorings especially adapted to Norfolk garments. The models include both full and semi-belted styles, with knife, inverted, and box pleats; and some are three-piece Norfolks with the vest cut extremely high.

¶ The rest of the story should be Action! And we will leave you to supply it. But as a parting shot let us suggest that you consider the season before you, the vacation you are bent on, the fact that Norfolks are at the height of their popularity, and, finally, the name these garments carry, and all that name implies in workmanship, in finish and in style.

of the party candidates for office to be voted for by the State at large; party Congressmen and party United States Senators, candidates for the Senate and Assembly, and members of the State Committee.

Election of United States Senators provided for. Nominations to be made at official primary in the same manner as for Governor.

Use of party funds at primary election prohibited.

Penal law to be amended limiting the amount that may be expended by a candidate.

"Any proposition less than this begs the whole question, and violates the pledged faith of the Democratic Party to every voter in the State," the Governor said, and he added:

> I am convinced that every member of the Legislature is solemnly bound in honor and by the highest moral and political obligations to vote for its enactment; and those who fail to do so will be forced to yield to public opinion and be replaced by others who will vote to give the State an efficient and just State-wide direct primary law that will embrace every office, from Governor down to Constable.
>
> The Democratic candidates promised the people in the last campaign that if we were successful we would give them, among other things, a State-wide direct primary law
>
> Let us keep the faith. That is where I stand, and I will stand there to the end. If any Democrat is against me in my determination to keep Democratic faith, I must of necessity be against him.
>
> It is all very simple to me. If any Democrat in this State is against the Democratic State platform, that man is no true Democrat; and, as the Democratic Governor of the State, I shall do everything in my power to drive that recreant Democrat out of the councils of the Democratic Party.

William H. Fitzpatrick, leader of the Democratic organization here, after receiving reports to-night regarding the Governor's reception at the three meetings he addressed and the apparent effect of his speeches on the audiences, said he did not think the Governor's invasion of his bailiwick would change a single vote in the Erie delegation to the Legislature. Of the seven Democrats who were elected to the Senate and Assembly from this county only one, Senator Wende, voted for the Governor's bill at the regular session.

"The Governor is entitled to a hearing," said Mr. Fitzpatrick. "He has got it. We have received him in a spirit of cordial hospitality with which I do not believe he can find any fault. I do not think his speech here to-night will change the situation as far as the lawmakers from Erie are concerned. They have given this subject as much thought as the Governor and have arrived at the conclusion that it would not be a good thing to abolish the State Convention."

Day Dickering for Support.

While Gov. Sulzer spent the evening in making "appeals to the people," he had spent the day in appealing to the greed for patronage and power that has prompted many down-and-out politicians from William J. Conners down in taking their stand against the organization and with a Governor who has at his disposal patronage and veto power and has openly asserted that he will use both unsparingly to win a fight in which his own political future is involved.

It was men of this type who flocked to the Governor's suite at the Iroquois Hotel all day and kept him so busy that he found it necessary to disappoint two large audiences—one in North Tonawanda and one in Lancaster, which he was scheduled to address.

Gov. Sulzer spent practically all day in dickering with ex-State Chairman William J. Conners, who was thrown out by the Democrats three years ago when an effort was made to rejuvenate the party.

Mr. Conners and his friends are trying to dethrone Fitzpatrick, Charles F. Murphy's chief up-State lieutenant, who defeated Conners in the primaries here two years ago and captured the leadership of the county organization. Mayor Fuhrmann, who wants a renomination and knows he cannot expect any favors from Fitzpatrick and the State Committeeman, Henry P. Burgard, who has leadership aspirations of his own, have jumped on the Sulzer band wagon.

When Gov. Hughes was fighting his battle for direct nominations and there was no patronage in it for those who enlisted with him, Conners, who owns two newspapers here, was fighting tooth and nail for a continuance of the old system. To-day Gov. Sulzer was hardly out of bed when Conners presented himself, and in a long conference laid down the conditions for his continued support of the Governor's bill.

He told the Governor that he and his faction were not in the direct primary fight for their health, that they were practical men looking for practical results, and that their first aim was the defeat of Fitzpatrick and their restoration to local power.

He therefore called on the Governor to swing the ax on William J. Hillery, Election Superintendent, who is Fitzpatrick's brother-in-law. He also demanded the removal of every Fitzpatrick man in office whom the Governor can reach. This includes Devoe P. Hodson, whom Gov. Sulzer named as Public Service Commissioner on the recommendation of Fitzpatrick before the break between the Governor and the Democratic organization here.

During a reception in the Governor's suite he served flat notice that no patronage would be given to Erie County until the lawmakers from here were whipped into line for his direct nominations bill. The threat was made with all the pugnacity of an old-time boss, and in the hearing of a score of persons.

Dr. Frederick T. Koyle, recently an army surgeon, who has known Mr. Sulzer for many years, called on him to ask him to appoint a friend to a place in the reorganized State Health Department. The Governor stepped back sharply and raised his hand and his voice so that every one in the suite could hear him:

"Not another job will go to Erie County from the Executive Chamber until the Legislators from Erie County see fit to vote for my direct nomination bill. This is final, and I want you to tell your leaders so unless the Erie Legislators come to the support of my bill, Erie will not get a look in on an patronage."

Dr. Koyle was dumfounded and drew back in amazement. He told the Governor he could bring indorsement for his request from veterans' associations in various sections of the State.

"I don't care!" the Governor exclaimed. "Tell those people that if they want their indorsements to count for anything with me they must get out and hustle for my bill."

Dr. Koyle said afterward that he felt thoroughly humiliated as a result of his experience.

A moment later Gen. George C. Fox, the retired commander of the Seventy-fourth Regiment, accompanied by Lieut. Thomas N. Harris, commander of the Naval Militia here, called on Gov. Sulzer to thank him for approving substantial appropriations for the benefit of the local militia.

Wants Thanks Put in Action.

"I don't care for verbal thanks from you nor anybody else," the Governor told them. "The only kind of gratitude that is acceptable to me is gratitude translated into action. Tell your leaders to get the legislators to redeem their party pledges and vote for the Direct Nominations bill. I have been most generous, not only with you but with this city in general."

When the representative of the newspaper published by Norman E. Mack, former Democratic Chairman and member of the Democratic National Committee, came up to interview the Governor, Mr. Sulzer turned on him sharply. Mr. Mack is not with the Governor in his fight.

"Huh!" said the Governor, "your boss is Norman E. Mack. Why he should send anybody to ask me if I am going to compromise, I don't know. He knows where I stand. There will be no compromise. You go back and tell Mack that he is only a dreamer if he is thinking of compromise. This is a man's fight, and will be a fight to the finish. Mr. Mack got a big appropriation for his commission and a nice trip to Panama at the State's expense. He ought to be with us in this fight out of gratitude if nothing else."

Soon after noon Gov. Sulzer addressed business men of Buffalo at a luncheon, given at the Ellicott Club. Many of the guests were disappointed when the Governor read a prepared speech in which no mention was made of his fight on the bosses or the direct nominations mission, which had brought him to this city.

The speakers who have seconded the Governor in his efforts here include John Mitchell, John De Witt Warner, Clarence J. Shearn, and ex-Congressman James G. Havens of Rochester.

SPEAKERS IN SULZER FIGHT.

Hearst, Mitchel, McAneny, and Maybe Roosevelt Will Respond.

The Executive Committee of the Sulzer Direct Primary Campaign Committee held a meeting yesterday and arranged for the speakers who are to address the three meetings to be held in the city on May 28. The meetings are to be held at Carnegie Hall, Niblo's Garden, the Bronx, and Prospect Hall, Brooklyn.

The speakers will be Gov. Sulzer, John Purroy Mitchel, William A. Prendergast, William R. Hearst, and George McAneny. Col. Roosevelt may also speak at the Carnegie Hall meeting.

Men who have been active as independents in politics in Kings County met last night at the Brooklyn Democratic Club, and organized as a committee to aid Gov. Sulzer in his campaign for State-wide direct primaries. There were Democrats, Republicans, and Progressives among the thirty men present.

Alonzo G. McLaughlin, President of the Brooklyn Democratic Club, was chosen as Temporary Chairman of the committee, Mark Reardon, Jr., being elected as Secretary. The organization expects to have several hundred members.

CONTRADICTS WAGNER.

Special to The New York Times.

BUFFALO, May 19.—Gov. Sulzer this evening replied to Senator Wagner, the leader in the upper house, who said in New York yesterday that the Governor's assertion that he had helped to draft the Syracuse platform was untrue.

The Governor stated that he submitted a good many planks for the platform, which were accepted by the Committee on Resolutions of which Senator Wagner was Chairman, and that the platform builders would have done better had they accepted more of the suggestions he made.

"However," said the Governor, "it is immaterial now who wrote the Syracuse platform. The real question before the voters of the State is, Who is repudiating it? Judging by what Mr. Wagner says, he and his friends want to repudiate the platform. All I want to do is to redeem the pledges in that platform, on which Senator Wagner and I were elected. I am opposed to cheating the people. Is Mr. Wagner?"

Committee Urges Progressives to Join in War on Bosses.

The New York County Committee of the National Progressive Party at a meeting last night in the Brevoort Hotel went on record by resolution as most cordially commending the efforts being made to obtain the enactment of a real State-wide direct primary law in this State.

All members of the Progressive Party, and all Progressive Party committees, clubs, and other organizations, were asked to co-operate actively in the present non-partisan agitation for the decisive overthrow of boss rule in this State.

MANAGERS' QUARREL DELAYS 'CROESUS'

Hansen Had the Scenery Put in Storage While He Held the Theatre.

HIS SANITY QUESTIONED

American Again Remanded in Custody, but May Be Released on Bail on Friday.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, May 19.—The siege of the Garrick Theatre and the dispute between J. Salter Hansen, the American manager, and Arthur Bourchier as to who is to produce Baron Henri de Rothschild's "Croesus" is discussed with great interest by the London public.

The courts will decide to-morrow who possesses the legal right to present the millionaire's play, but whatever Mr. Justice Bucknill's decision may be, the première will have to be postponed. Advertisements in the newspapers announce that the production on Thursday has been withdrawn. One of the reasons advanced is that Mr. Hansen, during his twenty-four hours' occupancy of the Garrick Theatre, removed the scenery for "Croesus" and stored it in his own name.

As Mr. Hansen, who was brought up at Bow Street to-day charged with threatening violence to Mr. Bourchier, was remanded till Friday, Hansen's supporters assert that even if Mr. Justice Bucknill's decision to-morrow is unfavorable to Hansen, Bourchier will have difficulty in obtaining possession of the scenery.

Magistrate Curtis Bennett after remanding Hansen to-day intimated that bail in two sureties of $2,500 each would be acceptable, and THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent understands that these will be furnished to-morrow.

LONDON, May 19.—J. Salter Hansen, on being brought up at the Bow Street Court to-day, charged with threatening Arthur Bourchier, the English actor-manager, was remanded until Friday in custody. The attorney for the prosecution described Mr. Hansen as a man of very violent character, while the police testified that they had to throw him to the ground in order to search him.

Detective-Inspector Carlin said he thought Mr. Hansen was insane.

If the Prison Doctor reports favorably on the state of the prisoner's mind, Mr. Hansen will be released on Friday on finding sureties in $5,000 to keep the peace.

BIG PRICES FOR AMERICANA.

Sale of Another Part of the Great Phillipps Library Begun.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, May 19.—The sale of another portion of the famous collection of the classical, historical, topographical, genealogical, and other manuscripts and autograph letters of the late Sir Thomas Phillipps of Middle Hill, Worcestershire, and Thirlestaine House, Cheltenham, was begun at Sotheby's to-day. Of the 202 lots dispersed this afternoon nearly all related to America in colonial times.

A large folio manuscript, entitled "A particular discourse concerning the greate necessitie and manifolde comodyties that are like to growe to this Realme of Englande by the Westerne discoveries lately attempted, written in the yere 1584 by Richard Hackluyt," &c., brought $1,075. This unique volume formerly belonged to Sir Peter Thomson. It was afterward owned by Lord Valentia, and at the sale of his collection was purchased by Henry Stevens of London. After fruitless efforts to have it go to some public or private library in America or to the British Museum, Mr. Stevens sold it to Sir Thomas Phillipps. It has never been decided whether the manuscript is actually in the autograph of Hackluyt.

A volume marked "Papeles MSS. de Indias," consisting chiefly of manuscripts of the eighteenth century, brought $530.

"The Original Entry Books of the Evidence and Decisions upon Such Cases as Come Before the Commissioners under an Act of Parliament passed in July, 1783, to enquire into the Losses and Services of all Such Persons who have suffered in their Rights, Properties and Professions in America in Consequence of their Loyalty," seven volumes folio, 1783, brought $1,800.

The original office book, partly in the autograph of William Blathwayt, Surveyor and Auditor General, of "All that passes in office of trade and plantations," 1682-9, went for $455.

The sale will be continued to-morrow.

$4,830 FOR AN ENGRAVING.

Total of $60,635 Realized for 152 Lots at Christie's.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, May 19.—At Christie's to-day a valuable collection of engravings of the English and French schools of the eighteenth century was sold, the 152 lots producing a total of £12,127, ($60,635.)

"A Promenade at Carlisle House," by and after J. R. Smith, an etched letter proof, went for £966.

"Lady Hamilton as Nature," after Romney by H. Meyer, brought £861.

CUBA'S INAUGURATION DAY.

Celebration Began at Midnight—City Elaborately Illuminated.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, Tuesday, May 20.—Havana welcomed President Menocal's inauguration day at midnight with an enormous din from aerial bombs, giant firecrackers, and bugles, all the vessels in the harbor joining in.

The illuminations, which are the most elaborate in the city's history, were turned on at midnight, making the principal streets paths of light.

Notes of Foreign Affairs.

BENGHAZI, Tripoli, May 19.—The Italian losses in the recent engagement with Arabs at Sidi Garba numbered 79 killed and 259 wounded. The Italians captured an entrenched camp of the Arabs after a hard fight.

PARA, May 19.—The British steamer Denis, which went aground on May 9 about 120 miles from this port on her voyage from New York, was floated to-day after a considerable part of her cargo had been discharged.

CZAR'S OLD NURSE DEAD.

Imposing Funeral for Miss Franklin, Beloved American Attendant.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 19.—The death is reported of Miss Franklin, an American employed as nurse to the children of Czar Alexander III. She was greatly respected by Czar Nicholas and the other members of the imperial house, and her imposing funeral was attended by most of the Grand Dukes and Grand Duchesses and high functionaries of the Court, who manifested the sincere affection which her august pupils held for the unpretentious and plainspoken nurse.

Miss Franklin, who attained to a ripe old age, was said to have been descended in a direct line from Benjamin Franklin. She came to Russia specially recommended by Queen Alexandra of England to her sister, the present Dowager Empress of Russia.

The last descendant of Benjamin Franklin to bear the family name was William Temple Franklin, who died in 1823.

Duke's Brother Denies Engagement.

LONDON, May 19.—Lord Edward FitzGerald, brother of the Duke of Leinster, states that the announcement of his intended marriage to Miss May Etheridge, until recently a musical comedy actress, was unauthorized and incorrect.

SECOND FLIGHT TO CUBA.

Parla Flies from Key West to Mariel—May Receive $5,000.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, May 19.—Without waiting his Government, which would have furnished warships to protect the route over which he passed, Agustin Parla flew from Key West to Cuba this afternoon, landing at Mariel Bay, thirty miles southwest of Havana.

Parla says that he did not lose his way, but found the winds off shore opposite Havana so strong that he could not make a landing here, as his machine suffered from some slight imperfections.

Although the City Council, which voted $5,000 for the second aviator making the flight from Key West to Havana, stipulated a landing in the city, it is believed that a liberal interpretation will be made, so that he may receive the prize, inasmuch as he flew thirty miles further than Domingo Rosillo did in his flight across the channel on Saturday, when he won $10,000 for being the first Cuban to do so.

Parla's flight took Havana by surprise. When a cable dispatch from Key West gave the information that he had started, three guns were fired from the Cabana fortress, whereupon thousands quickly gathered along the sea front, looking for his coming. When 5 o'clock had passed and no word had been received, and several passing ships said by wireless that they had not seen him, he was supposed to have been lost.

The first news of him after his departure from Key West came when the Mayor of Mariel telegraphed his arrival; whereupon the Mayor of Havana and other prominent citizens automobiled thither, bringing Parla to Havana.

In order to leave no doubt as to the legality of his receiving the prize, Parla may fly from Mariel to Havana to-morrow.

EPHRUSSI TREASURES SOLD.

High Figures Paid for Old French Furniture and Tapestry.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 19.—Pictures, furniture, and miscellaneous works of art belonging to Maurice Ephrussi were sold by auction to-day. The total realized was $111,593.

Louis Seize furniture attained the highest prices. Six thousand two hundred dollars was paid for two bergères and four fauteuils. A single armchair, signed "Gourdin," brought $2,010, and a stool covered with Beauvais tapestry, $2,900. Two stools upholstered in Savonnerie tissue brought $2,120.

High figures were also bid for Louis XV. furniture. One secretaire was sold for $5,200, and a small secretaire for $3,440. Two marquetry secretaires fetched $2,920 and $3,000, respectively. Some fine tapestries brought keen bids, a Regency piece fetching $3,400 and a Beauvais specimen $2,700.

The most notable painting was Fragonard's "Venus Offrant des Couronnes." It brought $5,920. The experts' valuation was $5,000.

Works by Clodion were in much demand, a terra-cotta group of a satyr and his child bringing $1,600, and two vases $2,100.

SAYS OUR WOMEN ARE ILL-INFORMED

Mrs. Gilman Finds That English Women Know and Care More About Public Matters.

BUT OURS WANT TO LEARN

While Women's Clubs in London Are Only Social—More Independence of Taste Abroad Than Here.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Tuesday, May 20.—Charlotte Perkins Gilman, who is visiting London, contributes an article to The Daily News on "English and American Women," in which she says:

"The broadest and most conspicuous difference between English and American women of fairly parallel circumstances is the superiority of the Englishwoman in knowledge of and interest in the affairs of the nation, and, for that matter, of the world. She knows more, cares more, and talks with more ability in regard to public matters."

Against this English advantage Mrs. Gilman places the American woman's passionate thirst for knowledge. In London, she points out, women's clubs are largely social, like men's clubs, whereas the American women's clubs, of which there are literally thousands, are mainly for mutual improvement. They are educational institutions. She adds:

"Englishwomen as individuals seem to have more independence of taste than American women, wearing with easy calm whatever garments seem suitable to them, but, in paradoxical contradiction to this, Englishwomen as classes seem far more uniform in apparel. As a whole American women 'follow the fashions' more submissively and are apt to make shallow comments on the independent taste of their English sisters, but this adherence to fashion distinguishes her who demands to be called a 'saleslady,' or the typist, or the parlor maid, as well as Mrs. Millionaire.

"The Englishwomen of the fortunate classes seem stronger physically, more given to real exercise, more 'advanced' in the use of tobacco—if that is an advance—but Englishwomen of the unfortunate classes seem far more oppressed, underpaid, and neglected.

"There are some distinctions purely climatic, as in the fresh color and rich long hair, which are found in our own northern seacoasts and in Scandinavia as well as in England. Also there are racial variations, our English blood being now added to by strains from practically all races.

"Yet under all these superficial differences there is no bar between mind and mind or heart and heart. The best women both of England and America all respond to the new demands of life to-day and call on womanhood to take better care of the world."

HIRED FOR ARSON SQUADS.

Suffragettes Apparently Engaging Women of the Lower Classes.

LONDON, May 19.—Some confirmation of the hint that the militants are hiring women of the lower class as members of their "arson squads" was received early this morning, when Nellie Robinson was arrested outside the New College Chapel at Hempstead. The woman described herself as a servant, and said she was awaiting the arrival of two suffragettes and with them was going to set fire to the church.

The Magistrate before whom the woman was charged remanded her, remarking that she "seemed to be in course of training as a professional petroleum incendiary by miscreants worse than herself."

It is officially denied that any steps have been taken by the British Government to obtain the expulsion from France of Christabel Pankhurst.

"There is no division in the ranks of the Women's Social and Political Union," was Miss Naylor's disclaimer uttered at the weekly meeting to-day of the militant suffragettes. She made this statement as a reply to the reports of a revolt among the members of the militant society, which have been widely circulated. She continued:

"We are going to tide over the present crisis. We are not going to be suppressed by coercion and intimidation. If the printers are mice, we women must show that we have the courage to print the newspaper ourselves."

Miss Naylor, referring to the daily bomb incidents, declared that most of these "monkey tricks" were the work of boys.

John Scurr, President of the Dockers' Union and a prominent Socialist and laborite, was arrested at Poplar, London, to-night. He is charged with inciting disorder in a speech which he delivered at Leeds a fortnight ago on behalf of the suffragettes.

PARIS, May 19.—Christabel Pankhurst denies the report that she has been warned to depart from France.

She says that so far she has received no communication on the subject.

DANCES SHOCK PEERESS.

She Says She Fears to Chaperon Debutantes in Ballrooms.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Tuesday, May 20.—"A Peeress" writes to The Times asking its aid "in a matter of grave perplexity."

She says she is one of many matrons upon whom devolves the task of guiding girls "through the mazes of the London season," and her perplexity is due to the state of affairs in most ballrooms as a result of the advent of the latest form of dancing.

"My grandmother," she writes, "often told me of the shock she experienced on first beholding the polka, but I wonder what she would have said had she been asked to introduce a well brought-up girl of 18 to the scandalous travesties of dancing which, for the first time in my recollection, are bringing more young men to parties than are needed.

"I need not describe the various horrors of American, South American, and negroid origin. I would only ask hostesses to let one know what houses to avoid by indicating in some way on their invitation cards whether the 'Turkey Trot,' the 'Boston'—the beginner of the evil—and the 'Tango' will be permitted."

BLOW AT FRENCH GAMBLING.

Chamber Votes to Suppress Enghien Casino and Other Places.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, May 19.—When the debate on the French gambling house question was resumed in the Chamber of Deputies to-day a representative of the Ministry stated that the alleged police report in which a suggestion was made that Deputies and Senators had interests in the profits of French casinos, which report was read by a Deputy in the previous debate, was a forgery.

The Chamber, however, adopted an amendment prohibiting all public gaming houses within sixty-two miles of Paris.

This will have the effect of withdrawing the gambling license from Enghien, the popular Summer resort of Parisians.

PARIS, May 19.—The gambling question again came up for consideration in the Chamber of Deputies to-day.

After a lengthy discussion an amendment to the gambling law of 1907, proposed by Georges Berry, Deputy for the Seine Department, was adopted by a vote of 454 to 55. This provides for the suppression of gambling casinos in university towns and within 100 kilometers (62 miles) of Paris.

The Enghien Casino, near Paris, against which many allegations have been made, will come under this prohibition. This was one of the resorts referred to by Vicomte Gustave de Kerguezec in a statement in the chamber, in which he charged that many Deputies and Senators were addicted to gambling in public places and that these places enjoyed protection.

The chamber rejected a motion for an investigation by a parliamentary committee of the Enghien Casino, deciding to leave the matter in the hands of the judicial authorities.

GIVES MOST HONOR TO KING GEORGE

Emperor Pardons Three British Spies Serving Long Sentences—English Rulers Arrive To-morrow.

BERLIN, May 19.—The preparations for the wedding next Saturday of Princess Victoria Louise, only daughter of the German Emperor, and Prince Ernest Augustus of Cumberland give striking prominence to the Emperor's apparent desire to make the occasion contribute to a betterment of the relations between Great Britain and the German Empire.

Officially, the non-political character of the marriage has been emphasized, but the real attitude of the Emperor was illustrated to-day by the granting of a pardon to three English spies who are now undergoing terms of imprisonment in Germany.

Another evidence of German concern in the forthcoming visit of King George and Queen Mary is contained in the official programme, published this evening in the Norddeutsche Algemeine Zeitung, which prints in a prominent position a half-column article on the reception arrangements for the British sovereigns, and in a few lines in another column describes the preparations for the reception of Emperor Nicholas of Russia.

According to the programme, two squadrons of cuirassiers and dragoons will compose the escort of King George on his arrival in Berlin on Wednesday, while only one squadron is assigned to escort Emperor Nicholas on his arrival the following day.

The German newspapers are giving much attention to the political importance which the wedding may have in bringing about a manifestation of friendship between Germany and Great Britain, but they have little to say concerning a similar manifestation toward Russia.

Emperor William will spend a busy morning on May 22. He will make three journeys to the railroad station in the short two hours and a half in which he will receive successively the Grand Duchess Louise of Baden, the Duke and Duchess of Cumberland, and the Russian Emperor.

The visitors will make state entries into the city, each through two and a half miles of streets lined with the crack Guard troops, and their welcome by the Emperor will necessitate three changes of uniform on his part. Six German sovereigns and the representatives of several other German reigning houses also will arrive in the course of the day, making necessary more or less formal receptions.

A number of high British and Russian police officials arrived in Berlin to-day to supervise arrangements for the safety of King George and Emperor Nicholas. The English precautions are attracting perhaps more attention than the elaborate installation of a system to insure the security of the Czar.

The nuptial banquet will witness a revival of the mediaeval functions of titulary High Cup Bearer and Butler, the present incumbents of which offices are Prince von Hatzfeldt and Prince von Radolin respectively, who actually will present wine and soup to the royal guests at the beginning of the dinner.

Emperor William, as an act of grace in connection with the visit of King George, to-day granted a pardon to three English spies undergoing long sentences in German jails.

The first is Lieut. Brandon of the British Royal Navy, who was arrested at Borkum while taking photographs of German fortifications. He was sentenced on Dec. 22, 1910, to a term of four years and confined in the Fortress of Wesel.

The second is Capt. Trench of the British Royal Marines, arrested at Emden at the same time as Lieut. Brandon on the charge of photographing German fortifications. He was sentenced to a term of four years at Glatz.

The third is Bertrand Stewart, a London lawyer, arrested at Bremen on a general charge of espionage and sentenced on Jan. 5, 1912, to three and a half years' imprisonment at Glatz.

LONDON, May 19.—King George and Queen Mary started to-day for Berlin. They will embark on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert at Port Victoria and cross to Flushing to-morrow morning, escorted by British warships.

When the British sovereigns arrive midway across the North Sea a flotilla of German torpedo-boat-destroyers is to meet them and convoy their yacht to the Dutch coast.

TO RESUME TIME TESTS.

Long Wireless Experiments Between Paris and Washington.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, May 19.—Beginning next October, extensive wireless tests, lasting six months, will be resumed between Paris and Washington on lines similar to those of the tests carried out under the auspices of the Bureau of Longitude last March.

A report on the tests already made by the French mission which visited Arlington was read to the Academy of Sciences to-day. According to it, despite unfavorable weather, important results were obtained. It was found possible to make frequent comparisons of time by the radiographic system, while on the night of March 28 Paris and Washington were able to converse. Attempts were also successfully made to photograph records of wireless signals.

When the tests are resumed next Autumn the speed of Hertzian waves across the Atlantic will be determined. As at present calculated, the speed is equal to that of light.

The report also says that as soon as various Colonial wireless stations are completed, around-the-world tests will be made, with the Eiffel Tower as the first transmitting station.

A POLICY

Quality with us is not a condition, but a policy—not something we agree to do, but something we cannot help doing.

The plans and specifications may call for a stairway here or a doorway there, and it is our bounden duty to conform, but the quality of our work is a fixed and not a fluctuating quantity.

We will even go so far as to state, that if we were to undertake to conduct an operation where economy was the prime requisite and quality of minor importance, we should be a miserable failure.

SAYS UNION TEACHES HINDU PHILOSOPHY

MAJORITY REPORT FRIENDLY

Holds That Reconciliation Is Possible — Southern and United Churches May Combine.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, May 19.—Charges of preaching pantheism and Hindu philosophy were made against the Faculty of Union Theological Seminary at this afternoon's session of the Northern Presbyterian Assembly.

The Rev. Dr. Monfort, who is one of the editors of The Herald and Presbyter, published in Cincinnati, bitterly attacked the Union Faculty in presenting a minority report opposing the majority report of the Union Theological Seminary committee, which had just been offered by the Rev. Dr. David G. Wylie of New York City.

Restoration of previous relations between the seminary and the Northern Church was favored in the majority report, but opposed in the minority reports. In presenting one of these reports Dr. Monfort said:

"The time has come for the Church to draw the line. The issue lies between true faith and Hindu philosophy masquerading in the guise of Christianity. Here is a Hindu philosophy in a modern theological school—shall we allow this to cintinue?"

As Dr. Monfort made this charge the assembly broke into applause, which continued for several minutes.

Before his final charge of "Hinduism" Dr. Monfort had declared that the teachings of the seminary were opposed in many respects to the belief of the Presbyterian Church, and that preachers were being turned out who did not believe in the inspiration of the Bible or the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

The Rev. Dr. John R. Davies of Philadelphia, who presented the other minority report, made the same charge as Dr. Monfort as to the belief of many graduates. He said that the Presbytery of New York and other Presbyteries had licensed and ordained graduates of the Union Theological Seminary who did not believe in the infallibility of the Bible or the resurrection.

Dr. Wylie, pastor of the famous Scotch Church in New York, in presenting the majority report, asked that the committee be continued until 1914 for a final report. Then Dr. Davies, who presented the minority report signed by himself and E. H. Perkins of Baltimore, asked that the special committee be dismissed on the ground that a resumption of relations between the Assembly and the seminary was impossible under present conditions.

Dr. Francis Brown, President of Union, replied to the charges made in the minority reports. He denied the accusations of rationalism and Hinduism and said that the seminary was conforming strictly to Christian and evangelical beliefs in teaching. Dr. Brown also called attention to the fact that Union Seminary was not at the bar of the Assembly, as there had been no official connection between the seminary and the General Assembly for a number of years.

The present committee was appointed in 1911 to confer with the Directors and Faculty of the seminary with a view of resuming relations. The majority report of the committee tells of a proposition to install a chair in the seminary of instruction in Presbyterian doctrine, but this was as far as the committee had got toward a reconciliation.

The debate on Union Seminary will be resumed to-morrow.

The Northern Commissioners were greatly excited this morning by the reproduction here of a New York newspaper story charging that Dr. J. T. Stone's election as Moderator of that body had been brought about through "a deep-laid political scheme." The charge was indignantly denied by Dr. Stone and the Commissioners generally. Moderator Stone announced the appointment as Vice Moderator of Frederick A. Booth of New York.

The Northern Assembly this afternoon added impetus to the organic union movement by adopting resolutions authorizing the transmission of proposals for organic union to the supreme judiciaries of all the Presbyterian churches in America.

The Southern Assembly by a large majority proposed to send an amendment to the presbyteries looking to a change in the elect infant clause of the Confession of Faith. The Assembly, however, went on record as holding that all infants were saved by the grace of God.

The United Presbyteries also had some excitement this afternoon. Dr. W. B. Smiley, Secretary of the Sabbath School Board, charged that politics was at the root of a move to shift Sabbath school extension work from the Board of Publication to the Board of Home Missions. Dr. Smiley pleaded with the Assembly to "lift the work out of the petty personalities into which it may have fallen." It was decided to postpone action until the next Assembly, but the Rev. George B. Raitt was chosen to succeed Dr. Smiley as Secretary of the board.

The Southern Presbyterian Assembly went on record to-night as opposed to considering the question of union with any of the ecclesiastical bodies in the United States having the Presbyterian system, except the United Presbyterian, with which it had already entered into negotiations looking to union.

The committee to which the overtures for union from the Associated Reformed Presbyterian Churches had been referred reported that the time was inopportune, and the Assembly adopted the report by acclamation.

Banishment of liquors of all kinds from White House functions and the need for an effective law in the District of Columbia were urged in the report of the Special Committee on Reforms adopted to-day by the United Presbyterian General Assembly.

WOMAN FORGOT HER NAME.

Feeble and Old, She Wandered All Day in City's Streets.

Policeman Ditmar of the West Thirtieth Street Police Station was standing at the corner of Fifth Avenue and Thirty-seventh Street about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when an old woman asked him to take her to a place where she could rest until she could recall her name and address which, she said, she had forgotten.

She was about 80 years old and was well clothed. She told the policeman that she had been walking about all day trying to recall the names of her friends, but she had forgotten even where she came from in the morning. She was very feeble, and Ditmar took her to the West Thirtieth Street Police Station. There she told him that she thought the number of her house was 349, but she could not remember the street.

The police later took the woman to the Jefferson market Court. Magistrate Levy tried to refresh her memory, but to no avail. He sent her to the Florence Crittonden Home on Thirteenth Street for the night.

GREED FOILED A BURGLAR.

Got His Loot, but Couldn't Resist Bracelet on Sleeping Girl's Arm.

Dissatisfied with the loot he obtained in the apartments of Phillip Burnstein, on the second floor of 153 South Second Street, Williamsburg, a burglar who got in early yesterday morning through false keys, attempted to remove the diamond-studded bracelet from the arm of Tillie Feiber, Burnstein's fifteen-year-old adopted daughter. The touch of his hand awoke her and she screamed for help. The thief escaped to the street, but was afterwards caught by the police after a chase in which several shots were fired. At the station house he said he was Peter Drugells, 18 years old, of 73 Grand Street.

The burglar had about $100 worth of trinkets when he passed through the room in which Tillie Feiber and Rosie Burnstein, 14 years old were sleeping. His eye caught the bracelet and he cautiously approached the bed and tried to draw the bracelet from the sleeping girl's arm. Her screams awoke the other members of the family. The burglar ran from the room and to a window from which he slid down a fire escape. Several firemen from Engine 121 attempted to stop him, but he dodged and raced through South Second Street for several blocks, disregarding the orders of Policemen McDermott and Bracken of the Bedford Avenue Station to stop. The police then drew their guns and fired, but the fugitive kept on. Finally they overhauled him, but even then he fought before he was subdued. He was arraigned before Magistrate Geismar in the Manhattan Avenue Police Court and he was held without bail for the grand jury.

PREDICTS A RETURN TO CATHOLIC CHURCH

FORMS GENERALLY ADOPTED

A Catholic viewpoint of the "Roman Movement in the Anglican Church" was given in the lecture last night of the Very Rev. Vincent McNabb of the Dominican Order and Prior of Holy Cross Church, Leicester, England, to a large audience in the Astor Gallery of the Waldorf. It was the first expression here by a Catholic of such prominence on the subject since several important groups and a few individuals in recent months exchanged the Anglican faith for that of the Church of Rome. A few Protestant clergymen were in the audience, several of whom were said to be Episcopalians. The lecturer was introduced by the Rev. Father Meagher, Prior of the Dominican School, Washington, D. C., who said:

"When the Roman movement is written the character of the work performed by Father McNabb will stand out in blazing letters." Father McNabb said he appeared more in the guise of a "peacemaker," not an enviable position, for he was likely to be stoned by both sides. He treated the subject in a scholarly way throughout.

It appeared that in Father McNabb's town of Leicester the non-Catholic Churches were more Catholic in form than his own.

"To-day, the most Catholic person in our little town of 250,000 inhabitants," said he, "is a Unitarian Minister. There are ten or eleven parishes there, all finer than mine, all built by Anglican funds, and within five minutes' walk of my church is another church where the high mass is carried on with more decorum than within mine. On Good Friday there was a procession of men parading through the streets from St. Paul's carrying the crucifix of Christ, while all business was suspended in the streets of London. The Roman movement is marvelous, and it is still moving. There is a school of leading minds who want full communion with the Catholic Church.

"It is as if a regiment had become detached from the main body and, wandering around in the fog, found that they had been shooting on each other, and now they are going back to the army.

"I prophesy that sooner or later there will be a Roman movement, a decided Roman movement, among all dissenting churches. It will be based upon that passage in Macaulay, to find 'a living and visible authority to which you and I may refer in matters of doctrine and faith.' Since the breach with Rome nothing has been found to take her place.

"The fathers of your Republic, men whom you think are fine in their wisdom, drew up a statement, a written document called the Constitution. Now, a written thing is a dead thing; if governed by writing you are governed by a dead hand. To make it a living authority they decided that the Constitution should not be interpreted by the Legislature, but by the Judiciary. That is the parallel to the living authority of the Catholic Church. If you cannot come into the United States and become a citizen without abiding by the authority of the country, how can you run the Catholic Church without a living authority?

"All the religious bodies which have convictions that faith is a certainty realize also that there must be somebody to say the last word."

Father McNabb referred to the last census, which gives 55 per cent. of the almost 100,000,000 of population of the United States as being without any religious affiliations. He expressed the hope of Christian unity, and added that many people in considering this subject shut out of consideration the Roman church.

This is his first visit here, and is made primarily to obtain funds to rebuild his church. He voluntarily came in the steerage, he said, because a man in search of "bricks and mortar" had no place in more expensive traveling. He will return on May 31.

The patronesses of the lecture were Mrs. Henry W. Taft, Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt, Mrs. Morgan J. O'Brien, Mrs. Robert Collier, Countess Leary, Mrs. Frederick Childs, Mrs. John S. Carroll, Mrs. Albert Gould Jennings, Mrs. Walter Burke, Mrs. A. S. Hupfel, Mrs. William Arnold, Mrs. Nicholas Brady, Mrs. John McCann, Mrs. John P. Costello, and Mrs. J. Henry Haggerty.

BISHOP GRIMES SEES POPE.

Finds Him Looking Well—Del Val Receives American Pilgrimage.

ROME, May 19.—An American pilgrimage of fifty persons conducted by the Right Rev. John Grimes, Bishop of Syracuse, N. Y., was received this morning by Cardinal Merry del Val, the Papal Secretary of State. Bishop Grimes delivered an address expressing the loyalty of the pilgrims and presented Peter's Pence amounting to $500. Cardinal Merry del Val thanked the pilgrims warmly and praised the zeal of American members of the church. He then imparted to all the apostolic benediction in the name of the Pope.

Bishop Grimes was afterward received in private audience by Pope Pius. He was the first American prelate to be received since the Pontiff's illness. He said he found the Pope looking well, in cheerful spirits, and alert. The Pope expressed satisfaction with the report presented by the Bishop.

The pilgrims paid a visit to Cardinal Falconio, formerly Papal Legate to the United States, who expressed his great pleasure at being once more among Americans.

Cardinal O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston, had a long interview to-day with Cardinal Merry del Val. Cardinal O'Connell will remain in Rome two weeks.

MILL ISLAND PLANT BURNS.

Crooke Lead Works Destroyed Without a Staying Hand.

For two hours last night large crowds collected on the water front at Bergen Beach, Rockaway, Canarsie, and points about Jamaica Bay and watched one of the most spectacular fires that that section of Brooklyn has seen for some time. The Crooke Lead Works, a branch of the National Lead Company, at Fifty-fourth Street and Ralph Avenue, was entirely destroyed. A damage of $100,000 is estimated, and the fire is said to be the largest that has ever been answered by one alarm in Brooklyn.

The plant was on a piece of meadow land called Mill Island, which can be reached only by a bridge over Mill Island Creek, and the inaccessibility of the spot was responsible for the fact that the four large one-story buildings and the two-story office of the company were a total loss.

The fire started in the solder rooms shortly after 8 o'clock. There were eight or ten working there, but apparently no one thought of using the telephone to the main building to call for help. Instead all tried to fight the fire themselves until they were driven out.

Policeman Beard of the Vanderveer Park Police Station, who saw the flames, telephoned in an alarm from Harm's Hotel at the foot of Flatbush Avenue. It was half an hour before the apparatus could reach the spot, and when it arrived after a long run there was little else to do except watch the flames.

Prize Cattle Here on Liner.

The Atlantic Transport liner Minnehaha arrived yesterday from London with fifty head of prize Hereford cattle, roughly estimated to be worth $10,000, for breeding purposes. This included thirteen yearling bulls at $500 each and a two-year-old bull worth $2,500. He will be exhibited at the cattle show in Chicago before being sent with the other cattle to Aurora, Ill.

Men's Summer Suits
Quarter Silk-Lined
That Are Tailored with Talent

Quarter-lined Suits are a touchstone of good tailoring. The bungler, or the shirker, or the tailor who is trying to cut the corners on cost-of-making, keeps away from them.

On the other hand, your good custom tailor prides himself on the perfection of the Quarter-lined Suits he turns out just because they show the master hand.

GIMBEL tailors specialize on quarter-lined suits. And we ask your close scrutiny of the fine group we show.

Turn one of the coats inside out. Notice the way the pockets are stayed; how the seams are piped with the same silk of which the linings are made—silk of our own choosing, to harmonize with the color of the cloth; frequently in handsome "shot" effects. It takes TAILORING to turn out a job like that!

But these details, while of great satisfaction to the owner, are less important to the bystander than the externals—the manner of cloth and the question of cut. As to the former, flannels, plain or striped, stunning Scotch homespuns, and soft-finished worsteds in stripes or checks, give a fine field for choice. Style is the GIMBEL no-padding model, without a vestige of stiffening; long soft lapels; patch pockets that are unobtrusive, because right; trousers that hang equally well with suspenders or belt. Waistcoats with the GIMBEL "Arm-free" cut, and silk backs, which cut the question of weight down to an irreducible minimum.

Here's YOUR Straw Hat!

Stiff Straw?—English whole Sennit braid in a very "toppy" shape. American and Italian Sennit and Split Straw in coarse and fine weaves. Yeddo braid—the lightest ever—with ventilated roof. First appearance of Mackinaw Straw in a stiff hat. A brand new stiff Panama Hat that many men will like because of its novelty and handsome appearance. High crowns and saw-tooth edges are favored. ALL RAINPROOF. $2 to $4.

Soft Straw—Milans and Mackinaws, with pencil curl brim. Bangkoks that are nearly as light as air, $2 to $4. And Panamas, of course, with a special group at $5, and from there up to $25.

We repeat—YOUR Straw Hat is here; and it's easy as A B C to prove it. Fourth Floor.

New Soft Shirts at $1.50

Many a man who has stuck to stiff cuffs is surprised to find the comfort, especially in hot weather, of Shirts with soft cuffs. These new ones are good to experiment on. In fine stripes, on white light-weight mercerized cotton, or a little heavier rep. Plain bosoms; sizes 14 to 17.

N.B. Better pick out a couple of these new English Foulard Neckties to go with them. Four-in-hands, 65c; Batwings, 50c. You'd expect to pay $1 and 75c for them—and you usually will. Main Floor

JUDGED BY YOUR PIANO

ABOUT the only article in your home that bears the maker's name in a conspicuous place is your piano, and your friends are apt to judge your musical taste by the name it bears.

A poor piano never yet had a good name, because a "good reputation" is given by the public itself; no amount of money can buy it. A piano is a lifetime companion, and a good piano is cheapest in the end.

If you buy a you not only get a good piano, one that has stood the test of 69 years, but an instrument that has always been associated in the public mind with pianos of the best class.

You seldom find Pease pianos among the so-called bargain sales, nor offered on the dollar a week basis. Of course, we sell on a liberal payment basis, but that's not the principal reason why you should buy a "PEASE."

MEN'S modes fork into two sorts. There's the ripened mode, which girdles the globe and knows no boundary of custom or country. It doesn't wane, because it's sane. And—there's the immature vagary which mocks true fashion and shocks refined taste. This appears only to disappear.

Regal styles are ripened styles, treading sure-stepped between the "dead level" of the characterless commonplace and the dizzy height of foppish foolery. A Regal is style-supreme without being style-extreme.

We drain the world dry for Regal Styles—ripened styles. We sap and sift the Continental capitals for pre-advanced "custom lasts" and leathers. That's why Regal Styles are not only abreast, but usually ahead—not postscripts, but prologues to fashion.

TELLS OF LOANS TO SISTER'S HUSBAND

THEN HE MARRIED ANOTHER

Three Letters Offered in $25,000 Alienation Suit of Mrs. Marion E. Simmonds.

The suit for $25,000 damages for alienation of affections brought by Mrs. Marion Elizabeth Simmonds, first wife of Phillip R. Simomnds, against Mrs. Emily Caldwell Simmonds, his second wife, was continued yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Giegerich. Mrs. Simmonds, the first wife, testified that she married Simmonds, reputed to be the son of a wealthy banker of London, in New York City in 1885, and lived with him on a farm in Virginia, which she owned, until, in 1903, she became suspicious of her sister, Miss Annie Louise Stevenson, and brought suit for divorce. Her charges against her sister, she acknowledged, were not proved, but she later obtained a divorce.

Miss Stevenson, on the witness stand, related her experiences with her former brother-in-law, told of his proposal of marriage to her while his wife's divorce suit was pending, and of how she had loaned him money and offered to share everything with him. In regard to the money affairs between herself and Simmonds, she said that she could not remember the exact amounts which she had loaned him because he had entire charge of her estate, and, under the instructions of her father on his death bed, she had trusted him implicitly in all financial arangements. A letter alleged to have been written by Miss Stevenson, and offered as evidence, read:

"I will share my last crust with you. I have $30 in the bank, and I will give you $20 of it and sell out my stock if you need the money."

In another letter Miss Stevenson is alleged to have written: "If you find any woman you like, marry her." But another letter, written after Simmonds had announced his intention of marrying Mrs. Emily Caldwell of Far Rockaway, read: "I am astonished. You said you loved be better than any one else. I had my pearl wedding dress all ready. Love is worth more than money."

The pearl wedding dress referred to in the letter by Miss Stevenson, she admitted, had never been made, but she did sell her stocks and send the money to Simomnds in Chicago, she said.

CUTS FIRE ALARM CABLE.

Encumbrance Removal Squad Causes a Stir in Fourteenth Street.

Acting under the orders of Commissioner Thompson of the Department of Gas, Water and Electricity, a squad of men and Inspector Cameron began yesterday morning to disconnect all overhead wires in Fourteenth Street, it having been decided by the Bureau of Encumbrances that they must be put under ground. The squad worked west through Fourteenth Street, cutting telephone, telegraph, cable, ticker and fire alarm wires, until they reached the Fourteenth Street Theatre, west of Sixth Avenue.

Inspector Cameron mounted to the roof and found a four-span cable running from the theatre building to the Salvation Army Headquarters across the street. The Inspector chopped through the cable, which connected the two buildings with the Manhattan Fire Alarm Telegraph Company's box at Fourteenth Street and Sixth Avenue.

In a few minutes fire apparatus arrived at the theatre, the usual crowd assembled and traffic stopped while the firemen hunted for a blaze. Then Inspector Cameron explained that he had cut the cable and probably turned in an alarm, and the firemen drove away.

OLD GUARD DECIDES AGAINST CONVENTION

Conservative Republicans Oppose Any Harmony with Progressive Faction Yet.

PLAN PROSELYTIZING WORK

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—There will be no Republican National Convention held this year to take steps looking to a reorganization of the party. The harmony plan proposed by the Progressive Republicans at their meeting in Chicago recently, contemplating the convening of a National convention to reduce the Southern representation in such conventions, will be ignored by the Republican National Committee, which is controlled by the Old Guard. This course has been agreed upon by the leaders of the conservative faction, and there is little doubt that it will control.

It was said in the best-informed quarters to-day that when the Executive Committee of the Republican National Committee meets in Washington on Saturday no action looking to the issuance of a call for a convention could, therefore, be expected. This Executive Committee in itself does not hold the power to summon a convention, but a recommendation from it to the full committee would doubtless have that effect

Careful inquiry to-day revealed that the real reason for the meeting of the executive committee here was to arrange for a committee to keep up the work of proselytising until the opening of the next National campaign. It is proposed to establish a press bureau, with headquarters probably in Washington, which will forward the propaganda of Republicanism and keep in close touch with affairs. The Democratic National Committee has just arranged for such an organization and the Progressives have a bureau of this kind for several weeks. Plans of this nautre are entirely within the scope of the Executive Committee, and they can be carried out without consulting the full committee. Chairman Hilles has called the meeting for this purpose, it was said, while the opportunity would also be grasped for an exchange of views regarding harmony and the possibility of reorganization.

The announcement that the harmony plans proposed by the Western Republicans in Chicago last week were not to be taken up, followed a dinner given by Franklin Murphy, the National Committeeman for New Jersey, at his home in Newark last Friday evening. The dinner was intended to be a social function, but it afforded the opportunity for leaders of the party to exchange views on the situation. All the guests were members of the Republican National Committee, with the exception of Senator Penrose, who retired last year. Among them were William Barnes, Jr., of New York, and F. W. Estabrook of New Hampshire. George R. Sheldon, the Treasurer, and Charles F. Brooker of Cincinnati, were expected, but were unable to be present.

No complete list of the guests is obtainable here, and no official report of the conference was given out, but it was learned that the sentiment among them was that everything should move slowly in the matter of reorganization. It was the general opinion that the best plan was to let the situation develop and not attempt a harmony deal at this time. There was general feeling expressed that if the Democrats put through the tariff bill in its present form, there would be a swinging back of the pendulum towards Republicanism.

The proposal to reduce the Southern representation was held to be ineffective, and a sentiment was shown that it could not be carried out without trouble. The Southern members of the National Committee are a large factor, and if they fought the proposal, as it was expected they would, they could get support among the Northern members, and defeat a plan to call the convention, in the opinion of those present. In short, the change was regarded as a dangerous thing to attempt.

It was said that not only was there no likelihood of a convention being called this year, but that there would probably be no convention at all until the regular quadrennial meeting in 1916. The Old Guard is not disposed to permit the radical element of the party make the terms for re-organization. It is determined to stand by its guns for a time at least.

FEARS GRUBER BLUSTERS.

His Rival, Davis, Expresses Apprehension—Gruber's Turn Now.

The fight for leadership of the Seventeenth Assembly District, between Col. Abraham Gruber and Willis B. Davis, is getting hotter every day. They have been bombarding each other with letters for some time, and these yesterday took the tone of threats to call in District Attorney Whitman and the grand jury. Col. Gruber, although diminutive in stature as compared with his antagonist, has already offered to settle the matter with his fists without waiting for the slower primaries.

In a letter to Mr. Davis which he signed "Yours, against hypocrites," Mr. Gruber called upon Mr. Davis to admit that he was the author of a circular recently sent out.

"I am not going to ask District Attorney Whitman to lend his office to advance my political schemes or personal aggrandizement, as you suggest," wrote Mr. Gruber. "I am going to ask him, at the proper time, as District Attorney of the county, to present you to the grand jury for indictment, and, as an honest prosecuting officer, he will do his duty. I have no doubt about that and I suspect that you will have some fear in this regard."

Mr. Davis replied with the suggestion that Mr. Gruber consult a lawyer to find out "what facts you need to take the proceedings you threaten," and he added:

"What do you consider as the 'proper time' to call upon the District Attorney to present the matter of my alleged libel of you to the grand jury for investigation? To my mind the proper time is now. It is due to the voters of the Seventeenth Assembly District that your grievances be aired at once, so that the public may have an official verification of the charges made against you before Primary Day. Of course, I realize that your challenge to fisticuffs was characteristic bluster. I am greatly apprehensive that your promise to appear before the grand jury is also bluster."

Mr. Gruber's friends are wondering what the Colonel is going to say to that.

PARKER WILL NOT RUN.

Can't Accept Nomination, He Says, for Old Place on the Bench.

Ex-Judge Alton B. Parker, in reference to a report that he was to be nominated this Fall by the Democrats as Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals, said yesterday:

"One of the newspapers of this city printed yesterday a statement to the effect that Charles F. Murphy was intending to have me placed in nomination this Fall for the place which I once held, that of Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals of this State, and said that likely an understanding existed between Mr. Murphy and myself.

"Mr. Murphy has had no communication with me whatever on the subject. The serious losses to be sustained by that court in the coming retirement on Dec. 31 next of Chief Judge Cullen and Judge Gray have very greatly concerned the bench and the bar of this State. Within the last few months Judges and ex-Judges and members of the bar, (members of both great parties,) some of whom have been especially appointed by bar associations to use the good offices of those associations in the nominations to fill the vacancies occurring this year, have urged me to consent to a movement looking to my return to the position in the court once occupied by me.

"After I have given the reasons why I could not consent, the point has been made in every instance, I think, that it would be my duty to do so if it should be the general judgment of the bench and the bar that I should consent. To this suggestion I have replied that under such circumstances, were I alone involved, I would do so, but as others are concerned to whom I am deeply obligated, I cannot."

MOST OF ESTATE TO CHARITY

Theodore Goetze Leaves $54,000 Out of Estate Estimated at $75,000.

The will of Theodore Goetze, who died on May 9, was filed yesterday for probate in the Surrogates' Court, with charitable bequests amounting to $54,000. These were as follows: Six thousand dollars apiece to the Wartburg Orphans' Farm School of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, the Isabella Heimath, the Seton Hospital for Consumptives, the Society for the Relief of the Destitute Blind of New York, the Catholic Institute for the Blind, the Sisters of the Poor of St. Francis and the society's hospital, known as St. Joseph's Hospital; $5,000 apiece to St. Mark's Hospital and the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, and $8,000 to the German Hospital.

After making legacies of $500 apiece to his grandsons, Theodore and Frederick Goetze, and $300 to his grandson, Ernst Riccius, he left the remainder of the estate, estimated at $75,000, to be divided equally among his children,, Marie Meyer, Herman A. Goetz, and Gustave Goetz. In a codicil to his will he provided that, should any beneficiary attempt to break the will, such share in the estate should be distributed equally among the charitable institutions mentioned as beneficiaries.

BARNES IS TARGET IN FLANK ATTACK

State-Wide Conference Will Discuss Leadership of Republican State Committee.

TALK OF FORCING HIM OUT

About a hundred prominent Republicans of the State are to hold a conference at the Republican Club here on Friday to take up the matter of the rehabilitation of the party in the State. The progressive men in the party are helping the movement. One question that will be considered seriously will be the advisability of continuing William Barnes, Jr., as State Chairman. The progressives are opposed to Barnes and want him to resign. Mr. Barnes, however, has said that he intends to stick until his term expires, so a movement may be started to force him out.

Invitations have been sent to responsible men in the party all over the State to attend the conference. Many of them have accepted. The invitations were signed by Henry L. Stimson, William M. Calder, Harvey D. Hinman, F. C. Stevens, George J. Smith, and Herbert Parsons, all of whom are considered progressives. No invitation went to Mr. Barnes, however, although the Senator and Assemblyman from his own district were invited.

There will be some members of the "Old Guard" at the conference, and they may oppose any attempt to force the State Chairman to resign. Considerable anti-Barnes feeling has developed all through the State, it was said yesterday, and the leaders feel that the time is ripe for the public to be informed that the reactionaries no longer rule the party. The plan is in line with the reorganization of the party in the Nation. Several matters of a progressive nature will be decided upon.

The club received last night a report of its Committee on National Affairs which has been considering the question of "Panama Tolls and International Relations." This resolution was adopted:

> Resolved, That this club, upon the subject of Panama tolls and international relations, approve the following conclusions:
>
> The exemption of vessels engaged in our coastwise trade from the payment of tolls under the Panama Canal act can be justified as against our treaty oblizations only on the ground that such exemption is merely a grant of subsidies.
>
> This exemption, recognized as a grant of subsidies, should as such, be reconsidered by Congress as a matter of domestic policy.
>
> If such subsidies are disapproved, the exemption should, of course, be repealed.
>
> If such subsidies are approved, preferably they should be given by separate enactment; but if they are to be provided for by permitting the present exemption to stand, Congress should take such further action as may be necessary to make known that such exemption is to be regarded as a grant of subsidies and to secure that, in the accounts to be used in fixing just and equitable tolls, the tolls thereby remitted will be charged as receipts, as if they were in fact paid by our coastwise vessels.

Ezra P. Prentice is Chairman of the committee, and the report was prepared by a sub-committee consisting of Thomas Thacher, Henry L. Stimson, William Williams, A. Gordon Murray, and W. Cleveland Runyon.

OLD MARITAL IDEA UPSET.

Wife Not Bound to Follow Husband Everywhere in Missouri.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 19.—The Court of Appeals to-day overthrew the doctrine that a wife is bound to follow her husband wherever he goes. The ruling was in the case of James Collet, who sued for divorce because his wife declined to go with him to a farm. The Vernon County Court refused the decree, and the Court of Appeals sustained this ruling.

"She was not bound to follow him, and if he chose to go and live alone in peace, his act does not constitute desertion," said the decision.

WINS FROM GOVERNMENT.

The Federal Government yielded to the city yesterday in the long-drawn-out controversy over the ownership of the strip of land alongside the old Sub-Treasury Building at the corner of Nassau and Wall Streets. There is an iron railing separating the strip from the Nassau Street sidewalk, and Borough President McAneny in his street-widening crusade sought to have it removed.

The Federal Government maintained that the fence and strip belonged to the Government. After considerable correspondence President McAneny received a letter yesterday from William G. McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury, yielding up the Government's claim, and the iron fence will come down immediately.

Waltham Automobile Timepieces

Everybody knows that automobile clocks have been unsatisfactory—inaccurate and not in keeping with the splendid speedometers and accessories.

This Waltham timepiece is the first especially designed for automobiles. It is similar in design to the Waltham Chronometers you see in jeweler's windows and to the Waltham Marine Chronometer which the U. S. Government is buying for use on war vessels.

It is sturdy and reliable; it will resist hard road use and will run so accurately that you can set your watch and house clocks from it.

It is supplied with an 8-day movement, which has an indicator on the dial which gives warning three days before the watch runs down. It is adjusted to temperature, an advantage every motorist will appreciate.

These timepieces can be had alone or in combination with standard speedometers. Choice is also offered of a raised dial or dial flush with the dash. FRIEDMANN CONCERN ENJOINS DR. STURM

BETRAYED BY PATIENTS

Persons Whom It Is Alleged Ansonia Physician Agreed to Treat Consulted Dr. Friedmann.

The Standard Distributing Company, organized by the Eisner-Mendelson syndicate to handle the turtle vaccine which Dr. F. F. Friedmann says will cure tuberculosis, applied for an injunction before Justice Pendleton in the Supreme Court yesterday afternoon to restrain Dr. Maurice A. Sturm of the Hotel Ansonia from selling or offering to sell any vaccine under the name "Friedmann," or from giving away any cultures prepared by the Berlin physician. The application was brought on the same day that the first Friedmann institute for the treatment of tuberculosis was opened by the Distributing Company in this city.

Dr. Sturm asserted that he possessed the secret of the process by which the vaccine was manufactured. He announced some days ago that he was prepared to furnish free of charge to the Board of Health and to Surgeon General Blue of the Marine Hospital in Washington cultures and prepared vaccine for examination.

The application for the injunction was made by Arthur Garfield Hays of 60 Wall Street, counsel for the Distributing Company. Justice Pendleton granted a temporary injunction against Dr. Sturm to run until June 1, when William Travers Jerome, who has been retained by the Friedmann concern, will argue on a motion to make the injunction permanent. Here is the text of the temporary injunction which was served upon Dr. Sturm last night:

> Ordered, that until the hearing and determination of the application herein, and the entry of an order thereon, the defendant, his servants, employes, and any persons in privity with him or them, be restrained and forever enjoined from making or offering for sale or offering to treat or from treating patients with the "Friedmann" vaccine, or from using or causing to be used the name "Friedmann" in connection with any treatment of patients, or any vaccine or any remedy for the treatment of tuberculosis, from manufacturing or selling, or from in any manner offering to sell, or from in any way disposing of any remedy or preparation to which shall be applied in any form or manner the name "Friedmann"; from communicating in any manner, either directly or indirectly, now or at any other time hereafter to any person or persons any knowledge or information in relation to or concerning the plaintiff's or Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann's process for the treatment of tuberculosis, or any process which the defendant may claim to be that of the plaintiff or the said Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann, and from using, selling, or giving away any cultures made by the said Dr. Friedmann, or any alleged cultures which he may have obtained unlawfully or surreptitiously, or any product or growth from cultures so obtained.

In his application for the temporary injunction Mr. Hays submitted to Justice Pendleton affidavits from Moritz Eisner, Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann, Malvine Kroll, Carl L. Schurz, Dr. Charles H. Dwinell, and Davis G. Arnold, Dr. Friedmann's attorney in Providence, R. I.

Dr. Friedmann's affidavit sets forth that he never imparted to Dr. Sturm the secret of the preparation of his turtle vaccine, although that physician accompanied him to various hospitals and witnessed injections of the remedy. Dr. Friedmann asserts that the first time he discovered that Dr. Sturm was administering injections to patients of some preparation which he said was the Friedmann vaccine, was on Sunday, April 27. On this day, he says, he was in his room at the Ansonia Hotel with Isador H. Lehman and Moritz Eisner, when word was brought to him that a woman visitor was waiting to see him. He saw the visitor, who informed him that she had brought a friend for whom she had arranged to have an injection of the turtle vaccine administered, and that she had $300 with her as the fee demanded.

Dr. Friedmann denied all knowledge of such an appointment, and the visitor told him, according to the affidavit, that the arrangement had been made through Dr. Sturm, who had promised to administer the injection. The affidavit asserts that Dr. Sturm was charged with having arranged to administer the vaccine, and that he admitted the truth of the accusation and confessed that he had no knowledge of the process of preparing the vaccine. Later Carl L. Schurz was consulted, according to Dr. Friedmann's affidavit, and recommended that something should be done at once to stop Dr. Sturm from administering the treatment. Thereupon, Mr. Schurz prepared a statement for Dr. Sturm to sign, the Friedmann affidavit sets forth. This is the statement, which Dr. Sturm has asserted is a forgery.

> Having to-day made the statement that I have knowledge of the formula for the preparation of Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann's vaccine, I now of my own free will repudiate that statement as in all respects unwarranted, and I fully and voluntarily state that I have no knowledge of the method of preparing said vaccine or of the ingredients composing the same.

> April 27, 1913.

The affidavits of Mr. Eisner and Mr. Schurz contain practically the same allegations as those in Dr. Friedmann's affidavit. Attached to the affidavits are letters written to Dr. Friedmann by patients desiring treatment by Dr. Strum requesting information. One exhibit is a telegram from Joseph U. Brown of Asheville, N. C., saying that Dr. Sturm had engaged to treat him with the remedy. To this telegram, Dr. Friedman replied that Dr. Strum was not authorized to administer the vaccine.

Dr. M. A. Sturm said yesterday that his lawyer, Jacob I. Weiner, had advised him that he might continue to administer tuberculosis vaccine, provided that he did not call it the Friedmann remedy.

"If a patient comes to me and asks me to give him the Friedmann treatment for tuberculosis," he asserted, "I will tell him that I have been enjoined from saying that I have the Friedmann vaccine, but that I have a turtle vaccine and that I give treatments with it. They say I haven't the true Friedmann vaccine. Then I have been guilty of larceny every time I have treated a patient with what I represented to be the Friedmann vaccine. I have committed petty and grand larceny, if the charge is true. Why don't they prosecute me for that?"

Dr. Sturm said that before the break came between him and Dr. Friedmann he had treated patients and turned their fees over to Dr. Friedmann. Dr. Sturm asserted that it was illegal for Dr. Friedmann, who was not a licensed practitioner in this State, to accept fees.

"The injunction is too late," Dr. Sturm continued, "to accomplish one of its objects. That is, to prevent my disclosing the secret of the preparation of the vaccine. I have already put the formula where it will be obtained by Dr. William H. Parks, head of the bacteriological department of the Board of Health. He is out of the city, but will return on Thursday. To-morrow I am going to write to Surgeon General Rupert Blue, offering him the secret."

FRIEDMANN INSTITUTE OPEN.

Twenty-five Patients Treated, Some of Them Without Charge.

The Friedmann Institute at 103d Street and West End Avenue, established by the concern which has bought the control of the Berlin physician's turtle vaccine for tuberculosis, opened yesterday and twenty-five patients were treated. Dr. Friedmann was in charge and he was assisted by Drs. J. J. Meyer, John S. Waterman, H. Finkelstein, J. W. Schelpert and T. L. Hein.

Sufferers from tuberculosis who presented themselves at the Institute went to the office of Alfred Rossiter and made their arrangements with him for payments for the treatment. It was said that the charge ranged from $25 upward. According to Mr. Rossiter, several patients were treated yesterday free of charge. He would not say how many.

All day tuberculosis patients came into the office asking for free treatment. None received an injection unless an appointment had been made previously. The sufferers who could not afford to pay for the treatment received blanks yesterday and they were told to come back after filling them out. The treatment would be administered to them when full information concerning their cases was submitted, they were told.

Officials of the New York County Medical Society said last night that the Friedmann Institute would be watched carefully. All proceedings there seemed to be well within the law, it was asserted. Many members of the society were bitter in their criticisms of the physicians connected with the institute.

CIVIL SUITS GOING TO NIGHT COURT, TOO

LOSS OF TIME SAVED

As It Is Now, They Have to Lose Workdays and Pay Lawyers in Disputes with Employers.

Under the auspices of the Educational Alliance the Night Court is shortly to be extended to the civil courts of this city for the purpose of saving time and money to wage-earners who become involved in litigation. The idea was conceived from the mass of litigation brought before the Legal Aid Bureau of the alliance during the past year, when 25,000 applications for advice were received. In a majority of instances it was discovered that workingmen had been compelled to lose from one to four days from work in order to go into court, and incidentally were frequently obliged to pay lawyers' fees and other expenses.

Dr. Henry Fleischmann, administrator of the alliance, has fitted up a room in the Educational Alliance Building, at East Broadway and Jefferson Street, as a court room, and various municipal court Judges will be invited to sit there from time to time at night to decide cases. Judge Edgar J. Lauer, who has been sitting in the Second District Municipal Court, said yesterday that the idea was a splendid one, and that he would gladly consent to hold court from time to time at night. It is understood that litigants taking advantage of the Night Court must sign a stipulation to the effect that both sides will accept the decision of the court as final. The Board of Directors of the Educational Alliance will supply clerks, interpreters, and stenographers and other court attendants.

"The plan is a very good one," said Judge Lauer yesterday, "and I am sure that may colleagues on the municipal bench will assist to make it successful. It is unjust that a workingman who has had a disagreement with his employer as to the money due him in wages should be asked to lose a day or more from work in order to obtain simple justice. Under the plan proposed by the alliance such a litigant and his opponent would have an opportunity to submit their case to the Night Court. If they consented, they would be notified of the night upon which a Judge had consented to sit and upon which their case would be heard. There would be no delay, no loss of time or wages, and no postponements. The decision would be final."

Metropolitan Golf Starts To-morrow

The best of the golfers of the metropolitan district are entered for the annual championship tournament of the Metropolitan Golf Association, which begins to-morrow morning over the links of the Fox Hills Golf Club on Staten Island and continues the remainder of the week. One hundred names appear on the list given out yesterday. Besides the members of the "Big Four"—Travers, Travis, Kirkby, and Herreshoff—there are plenty of other well-known players who have signified their intention of teeing up. There is James R. Hyde of South Shore, McKim Hollins of Westbrook, Max H. Behr, former New Jersey champion; Hamilton Kerr, the Lakewood medalist; Max Marston, the new interscholastic champion; Gilman P. Tiffany, the Hudson River champion; A. F. Kammer, the Staten Island champion; Chisholm Beach, the champion of the New York Athletic Club; W. G. Pfeil, the Yountakah record holder; R. C. Watson, President of the United States Golf Association, and John M. Ward of Garden City.

TENNIS PLAYERS IMPROVE.

Hackett and Little Defeat Leonard Brothers in Three Hard Sets.

Showing marked improvement over their previous displays Harold H. Hackett and Raymond D. Little, who will compete in the Davis Cup matches with Australia, yesterday defeated E. W. and E. R. Leonard on the West Side Lawn Tennis Club courts two sets in three by the score of 8—6, 5—7, 7—5. The defeated pair put up an exceptionally strong game and forced the internationalists to their limit.

Each of the three sets went to deuce, but the improvement of Hackett and Little was apparent from the start. They played together and held their own sides of the court without interfering with the work of each other. They were particularly strong at driving and effective in volleying. The Leonard brothers were at the top of their game and placed the balls to advantage.

The opening set was a give-and-take affair, with first one team and then the other in the lead. The Davis Cup team rallied after deuce had been called and secured the necessary two games. The Leonard combination kept their opponents busy in the second set, and met the attack with stubborn resistance. Hackett and Little made a strong effort to take the set and match, but after carrying it to deuce they succumbed to their opponents. The final set was marked by clever rallies and good foot work, and so evenly were the two teams matched that the set went to deuce before Hackett and Little captured it.

It has been decided to play exhibition matches to-morrow, Friday, and Saturday, in which Hackett and Little will be paired against the best doubles the International Committee can secure. McLoughlin and Williams are expected to arrive in time to play on Saturday.

New England College Tennis.

BOSTON, May 19.—New England intercollegiate tennis championship opened to-day at the Longwood Cricket Club, with eight colleges represented in the singles and nine in the doubles. The Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the University of Vermont, and Bates failed to send men. Only one match was drawn for the first round. The summary:

Second Round—F. A. Victor, Williams, won from F. H. Foster, Colby, 6—3, 6—3; J. F. Cady, Amherst, won from C. F. Bacon, Wesleyan, 7—5, 7—5; G. C. Burgwin, Trinity, won from A. H. Howe, Brown, 6—4, 6—4; H. W. Webber, Dartmouth, won from M. Murphy, Tufts, 6—1, 6—1; J. A. Richards, Wesleyan, won from H. F. Cushman, Colby, 6—0, 6—3; P. C. Savage, Bowdoin, won from F. H. Greene, Brown, 6—4, 6—4; C. F. Cutler, Williams, won from H. W. Turner, Tufts, 6—0, 6—1.

Doubles.—First Round—Nelson and Webber, Dartmouth, defeated Foster and Cushman, Colby, 6—1, 6—1; Bacon and Richards, Wesleyan, defeated Savage and Slocum, Bowdoin, 6—0, 6—1; Victor and Cutler, Williams, defeated Murphy and Turner, Tufts, 6—1, 6—3.

TIGERS WIN AT NETS.

Harvard Loses First Tennis Match of Season to Tigers, 6 to 3.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 19.—Princeton's and Harvard's tennis teams met here with clean records this afternoon, and at the end of the tournament Harvard's slate was scratched. The Tigers won 6 to 3, taking four of the six single matches and two of the three doubles. Church, last year's intercollegiate champion, though lacking practice, swamped Whitney, the runner-up last year, in two straight sets, the latter's net work being extremely faulty. Washburn of Harvard gave the best exhibition of the afternoon, defeating Mace, one of the doubles champions last year, and keeping Princeton's champion doubles team on their toes throughout the match. The play was the best that has been seen here in years. The summary:

Singles.—Church, Princeton, defeated Whitney, Harvard, 6—0, 6—1; Washburn, Harvard, defeated Mace, Princeton, 6—4, 6—4; Farr, Princeton, defeated Wood, Harvard, 6—2, 8—6; Kidder, Princeton, defeated Devereux, Harvard, 5—7, 6—2, 6—3; Lowry, Harvard, defeated Vandeventer, Princeton, 6—3, 6—2; Kuhn, Princeton, defeated Hastings, Harvard, 4—6, 8—6, 6—3.

Doubles.—Mace and Church, Princeton, defeated Washburn and Whitney, Harvard, 7—5, 5—7, 8—6; Devereux and Hastings, Harvard, defeated Kidder and Vandeventer, Princeton, 6—4, 6—4; Kuhn and Farr, Princeton, defeated Wood and Lowry, Harvard, 6—1, 2—6, 6—4.

Tennis for Bronx Title.

Fast court work was witnessed in the tennis tournament yesterday on the Bedford Park Tennis Club courts for the men's singles championship of the Bronx. Material progress was made in the tourney, with but three matches to be played to complete the second round. A strong wind blew across the courts, making it a difficult matter to lob the ball. The summary:

Men's Singles, Bronx Championship.—Preliminary Round—F. P. Fox defeated Dr. B. F. Drake by default; S. B. Knapp defeated T. H. Haverman by default.

First Round—O. C. H. Childs defeated A. Du Rest Blanchet by default; Rolland Raymond defeated Walter Pate by default; R. L. Baggs defeated C. F. Potter, 6—1, 6—2; F. Walsh defeated F. P. Fox, 6—4, 6—1; P. Mead defeated F. D. Knapp, 6—3, 6—2.

Second Round—Rolland Raymond defeated O. C. H. Childs, 8—6, 8—6; F. Baggs defeated Horace Gulick, 6—3, 10—8; B. M. Phillips defeated P. Goold, 10—12, 6—2; F. H. Voshell defeated H. A. Ostendorf, 6—1, 6—4; Igo Hartman defeated G. Brinkerhoff, 7—5, 6—0.

Jones's Playing Applauded.

PHILADELPHIA, May 19.—Hundreds of spectators witnessed the practice to-day of the Australian tennis team, which is preparing for the preliminary round in the Davis Cup matches. Capt. F. M. Doust played against A. B. Jones, while Horace Rice opposed Hicks in the singles. Later the team practiced doubles. Jones seemed to be the favorite with the spectators and his execution of passes was applauded. He was able to pick up the sphere with his racket from within half an inch of the turf and in returning he sent the ball with lightning speed, just skimming the net. Capt. Doust made many spectacular and brilliant returns. Rice and Hicks, both of whom served and received left handed, played exceptionally good throughout the practice, which was held on the courts of the Philadelphia Cricket Club. No scores were kept in any of the matches.

MOTOR CYCLISTS QUIT F.A.M.

National Cycling Association Will Control Racing in the East.

Motor cycling hereabouts, particularly at Brighton Beach Stadium, will be conducted under the auspices of the National Cyclists' Association, instead of the Federation of American Motor Cyclists as heretofore. The track at Point Breeze Park, Philadelphia, is also going in with the new combination, and the races will be held under the sanction of the National Cyclists' Association, the body which controls the New York Six-Day race and the motor-paced and bicycle racing in Newark, Salt Lake City, Boston, and New Haven.

This decision was reached by the management of the two tracks after several efforts to obtain a better class of official and racing conditions than last season from former Governors.

Contracts with all the stars, including Arthur Chapple, Hartley Thomas, Johnny Cox, Mike Costello, Billy Venderbury, Ray Vedotz, George Sperl, Charlie Davis, and others, were signed several weeks ago and the riders agreed to compete on the local course and in Philadelphia regardless of any sport-governing affiliation.

AN INVESTOR'S CATECHISM

Q.—After a mortgage is taken, how is an individual investor handicapped as compared with a Mortgage Company?

A.—By lack of time to watch his investment, a source of loss being that of letting loans run as long as interest and taxes are paid. When a good mortgage loan is made the work is just begun, not ended. Interest and tax payments must be kept up, fire insurance maintained, and the physical condition of the building closely watched.

$416,250 VERDICT IN COBALT MINE SUIT

KEPT FOR MANIPULATION

Niner Alleges Whitney, Barouch, and Others Feared He Would Interfere with Pool's Plans.

One of the largest verdicts ever awarded in this city against an individual or individuals was recorded yesterday against Payne Whitney, Bernard M. Baruch, Clarence K. McCornick, Willis McCornick, William H. Brevoort, Thomas Raborg, George Martin Luther, and Samuel Newhouse in the Supreme Court of Kings County. The verdict, which was for $416,250, was in favor of George Niner, suing as assignee on behalf of Charles B. Flynn, a mining expert. It was returned sealed Friday night and was opened yesterday. One feature of the case was a written agreement providing for "supporting and manipulating" the stock of a mining company. Counsel for the defendants moved yesterday to set the verdict aside as contrary to the weight of evidence, and Justice Benedict allowed two weeks for the filing of briefs.

Herbert R. Limburg, who, with Henry Scheuerman, represented Mr. Flynn, was asked yesterday to tell of the transactions that led up to the suit.

"Mr. Flynn," he said, "was the real discoverer of the Cobalt silver mining district. In 1906 he interested Mr. Brevoort and the McCornicks in what he had found at Cobalt and engaged himself with them to examine and report on all the properties in the district. The arrangement, according to his claim, which has now been allowed by the jury, was that if he recommended any of the properties for purchase and his reports were confirmed by engineers to be sent to Cobalt for the purpose, he was to receive in stock 10 per cent. of the profits of any syndicate Mr. Brevoort and the McCornicks might form to put the property on the market. The agreement was not in writing and the defendants denied that such an agreement was made.

"On his reports Mr. Brevoort and the McCornicks, according to the testimony, bought the Colonial Mine for $650,000, formed a syndicate and capitalized the property for $5,000,000 in shares of $1 each. Enough stock was sold to the public to pay for the property and to furnish working capital. The rest of the stock was the profit of the syndicate and they delivered to Flynn 25,000 shares. In the suit they contended that this was not 10 per cent., but at the time he supposed it was.

"Mr. Flynn also recommended the purchase of the Watts and King Cobalt mines, on which he obtained options, and which are the properties involved in the suit just decided. While his negotiations were in progress Mr. Brevoort said he would take charge of them. He did so, and purchased the properties. They were taken over by a syndicate consisting of all the defendants for $890,000. They formed a company, known as the King Edward Silver Mines Company, capitalized at $6,000,000 in five-dollar shares. Of these 400,000 shares were offered to the public at $2.50, and they were oversubscribed five times in a day. This supplied $1,000,000, which paid for the property and provided $110,000 for working capital.

"Two hundred thousand shares were put in the treasury and the rest of the 600,000 shares were the profit of the syndicate. Mr. Flynn demanded 60,000 shares as his 10 per cent. of the profit, but they refused to give them to him, and he sued for them. The jury's award is for the full amount at the value they had at the time when he was entitled to receive them, namely, $5 a share. This amounts to $300,000, and the interest since 1906 brings it up to $416,250.

"Mr. Flynn contended that the reason the defendants refused to deliver the shares was that his possession of them would interfere with their plans for forming a pool and manipulating the stock in the market. We offered in evidence an agreement signed by all of them for this purpose, but the court ruled it out as immaterial, holding that it did not matter why they withheld the stock. The other side, however, in contesting the 10 per cent. arrangement, introduced a similar agreement and declaration of trust in respect to the Colonial Company, which was admitted, inasmuch as we did not object.

"This agreement purported to be between the syndicate managers and the Trustees, of whom one was Lewis H. Starkey, then office manager for the McCornicks, and now their partner. The other parties were Mr. Brevoort, Clarence McCornick, and associates. In this agreement occurs this language:

> Three hundred thousand shares shall be sold from time to time and the proceeds devoted to the payment of the purchase price and the remainder, either stock or cash, is to be used for the benefit of the syndicate, either by distributing the same to them or using the same for the support or manipulation of the market as they may in their best judgment deem best fitted to serve the interests of the syndicate.

"Both stocks went to $6 or $7 a share at the time of their issue in 1906, but within a month the Guggenheims announced that they would not go ahead with the purchase of the Nipissing mine in the same district. They had an option on it at $25 a share, and it was selling at $34 or $35. It fell to $12 within two days. This meant the collapse of the whole Cobalt district as a stock proposition, and the stock concerned in this suit has been selling recently around 50 cents a share."

In the trial of the suit Robert L. Moffett, Willard N. Baylis, and Noel B. Sanborn appeared for Mr. Brevoort and the McCornicks; William H. Page and Henry Kosch for Mr. Baruch; Carter, Ledyard & Milburn for Mr. Whitney; Kurnal R. Babbitt for Messrs. Raborg and Luther, and I. H. Kramer for Mr. Newhouse. The judgment runs against all the defendants, making each individually liable.

One of the counsel for the defense emphasized last night the point that while the verdict of the jury was in Mr. Flynn's favor, judgment had not been entered, and the motion to set aside the verdict was before the court.

M. J. EARLY, JR., TO ISLAND.

Imprisonment for a Year Is Sentence of Young Lawyer.

Martin J. Early, Jr., a lawyer of 30 St. Nicholas Avenue, was sentenced to imprisonment of one year in the penitentiary yesterday by Justice Seabury in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court. Early pleaded guilty to the theft of $1,800 from Joseph Latkee, a barber of City Island.

Early was indicted for grand larceny in the first degree. It was charged that he obtained the money from Latkee by getting him to invest it in mortgages on property which the defendant falsely said he owned. He pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the second degree, and by doing so automatically was disbarred.

His father, Martin J. Early, who conducted the law office with his son at 57 Chambers Street, is also under indictment. It is charged that the elder Early, who is 67 years old, got his former chauffeur, Louis Ryan of 466 West 131st Street, to invest $3,000 in some lots which Early said he owned in Long Island City. It is charged in the indictment that this property never belonged to him.

ON TRIAL FOR 'PLANT' IN LAWRENCE STRIKE

Wm. Wood, Boston Manufacturer, and Others Face Jury in Dynamite Case.

CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY

BOSTON, Mass., May 19.—The trial of William M. Wood, President of the American Woolen Company; Frederick E. Atteaux of the Atteaux Mills Supplies Company, and Daniel J. Collins of Cambridge, who are charged with conspiracy to "plant" dynamite at Lawrence during the textile strike in January, 1912, began before Judge John C. Crosby to-day.

The proceedings moved swiftly, and in an hour after the opening of court the following jury had been selected:

Charles J. Wesson, foreman, boot and shoe dealer; John H. Enos, manager; Michael J. Whelton, clerk; Joseph E. Hines, painter; Edward J. Kennedy, watchman; Edmund J. Egan, clerk; Benjamin Small, shipper; Henry Barrett, Jr., shipping clerk; Leo J. McRae, carpenter; Patrick Flynn, coachman; Morris Shuman, newsdealer; Jeremiah J. Mahoney, clerk.

Joseph C. Pelletier, Commonwealth Attorney, told the jury that the evidence would indicate that the three defendants conspired with John J. Breen, an undertaker of Lawrence, and Ernest R. Pitman, a builder, of Andover, to "plant" the dynamite in a house occupied by striking textile workers in order to prejudice public opinion against the strikers. It would be shown, he said, that Atteaux and Wood went from Boston to Andover, near Lawrence, on the night that Breen and Collins were said to have hidden the explosive. He said he would attempt to prove that Atteaux had received $2,605 from Wood for his services in the strike, and that part of the money had found its way to Breen and Collins.

Judge Crosby's court was crowded to capacity, so great was the interest in the trial. Wood and Atteaux were represented by leading members of the bar, and from the start of the trial the lawyers manifested a disposition to contest every point. Wood's counsel is ex-Representative Samuel L. Powers. Daniel H. Coakley appeared for Atteaux, and John J. Attridge for Collins.

Wood, surrounded by personal friends with whom he chatted smilingly, occupied a seat in a corner of the room opposite the jury box. Atteaux sat within the bar inclosure near his attorney, and Collins was outside the rail.

Although Breen is mentioned as a coconspirator in the indictment his conviction in an Essex County court—where he was fined $500—makes him immune from trial here. It is the contention of the prosecution that although the dynamite was "planted" in Essex County the plot was laid in Boston.

Police Inspector Thomas H. Lynch of Boston, the first witness, testified that on Aug. 26 last he summoned Ernest R. Pitman to appear before the Suffolk County Grand Jury the next day, and that Pitmon shot and killed himself on the morning of Aug. 27. The facts attending the finding of the dynamite were related by Cap. William H. Proctor and Policemen Fred M. Flynn and Ernest S. Bradford of the Massachusetts District Police, who were on duty at Lawrence during the strike. Each witness told of the seizure of the explosive in buildings occupied by striking textile workers in a part of the city occupied chiefly by foreigners. Four persons were arrested at the time, the witnesses said, but were discharged.

The cross-examination of the policemen was conducted by Daniel H. Coakley of counsel for Atteaux. Coakley brought out that John J. Breen, who was convicted and fined $500 for unlawfully concealing the dynamite, had told the police where the explosive might be found. Flynn and Bradford said that Breen had drawn a plan of a section of St. Mary's Cemetery in Lawrence, saying that he had information that dynamite might be found at an indicated spot. A search of the cemetery disclosed the explosive.

Flynn said that Breen told him he received his information regarding the dynamite from a reliable source. Bradford said he heard Flynn tell other policemen that his knowledge regarding the dynamite came to him from a person who did not want to be drawn into the matter because it might hurt his business.

DR. CATTELL TO STAY.

Columbia Denies That Psychologist Has Been Asked to Resign.

An emphatic denial was made at Columbia University yesterday of a report that Dr. J. McKean Cattell, Professor of Psychology, had been asked to resign. Attempts were made to communicate with Dr. Cattell at his office in Schermerhorn Hall and at his home at Garrison, but these were unsuccessful.

One of the university officers laughed at the idea that the championing of Dr. Jacques Loeb's candidacy for the Century Association would affect Dr. Cattell's status at Columbia University. It was officially stated that any matter dealing with the resignation of Dr. Cattell had not been brought before the Trustees, and that he would give the course next year in advanced psychology as usual.

Three years ago when Prof. Harry Thurston Peck was retired by the Trustees Prof. Cattell prepared a pamphlet showing that Columbia was losing ground in the matter of retaining its leaders in education. Subsequently he showed considerable interest in the retirement of Prof. J. E. Spingarn. Dr. Cattell was head of the Department of Psychology until a year ago, when he retired in favor of Prof. J. S. Woodworth.

STABILITY
Safest Most Luxurious

The firmest car over the road at high speed; it affords the greatest sense of security.

A mechanical construction that is stronger than any other, combined with the easiest riding chassis and the most luxurious body.

The tests to which every part of the Locomobile is subjected exceed in severity those employed by any other manufacturer.

Free acting rear springs—carry the load, but do not push the car.

The luxury of complete physical relaxation—driving about town or over country roads. Driving shocks and jolts do not reach the passengers.

Electric Motor Starter—an unfailing success since it was adopted; best built and best installed Electric Lighting.

IN A COMPARATIVE DEMONSTRATION WITH ANY OTHER CAR, THE LOCOMOBILE WILL GO FARTHER AND FASTER WITH LESS FEELING OF HIGH SPEED.

SIX thousand dollars for an American motor car is the highest price; and yet $6,000 for the Alco is fully justified. It is designed, built, sold and intended to serve only that limited clientele who always seek the best at any cost.

We ask $6,000 for the Alco because it possesses what many engineers believe to be the best motor they have ever driven. This motor was designed by M. Berliet of Lyons, France, and put in his own famous car, the "Berliet". Subsequently he sold the American rights to us. We imported parts made by him and selected French mechanics to build this motor. Many of these men are still with us in our works at Providence.

Engineers, other than our own, say they have never been able to find a "point of vibration" in the Alco at any speed. This is considered the highest tribute that can be paid to a motor. It costs us to build this motor a sum that would purchase a very good low priced car.

We ask $6,000 for the Alco because it also possesses a one piece rear axle, forged out of a solid billet of steel by the largest steam drop hammer in the world, one that weighs 250,000 pounds.

This axle is probably the most remarkable rear axle mechanism in the world. It has a factor of safety of 5, meaning that it is built to withstand a shock five times greater than normal. Our records show that it has never given trouble.

This little, but important, part of the car alone costs to construct more than the price of a well and favorably known automobile.

We cite these two—the motor and the rear axle—merely to bring out two points of difference between the Alco and other cars in its field—the two most important parts in any car. There are many others in the Alco which lend interest to the man who likes a thing well made. May we show you?

After the Experiment—
WHITE TRUCKS
Fill Out the Fleet

The country's greatest concerns, seeking the most efficient truck for their individual needs, often experiment with several different makes.

This explains the duplication of the names of prominent firms in the lists of owners quoted by various truck manufacturers.

There are thirty-five hundred White Trucks in service today. A large majority of them are repeat orders.

Promise may have placed the experimental trucks—White performance obtained the subsequent reorders.

B. Altman & Co., J. N. Adam & Co., T. Eaton Co., Ltd., Marshall Field & Co., Gimbel Bros., A. W. Gamage, Ltd., The Higbee Co., Joseph Horne & Co., Boggs & Buhl, Inc., The Hub, Hudson's Bay Co., Kaufmann Bros., McCreery & Co., Mandel Bros., The Rosenbaum Co., Sanger Bros., Stern Bros., etc.

The American Express Co., Auto Delivery Co., B. & O. Transfer Co., Chicago & West Suburban Express Co., Shaw Transfer Co., Tacoma Transfer Co., Wells-Fargo & Co., etc.

The Cities of Atlanta, Baltimore, Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, New York, Newark, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St. Paul, San Francisco, Seattle, Savannah, the States of Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and the Governments of Brazil, Russia, the United States, etc.

The Bell Co., J. B. Blood Co., Chandler & Rudd Co., W. E. Drislane & Co., W. M. Hoyt & Co., W. P. Southworth Co., Jordan Stabler Co., West Coast Grocery Co., etc.

The Continental Rubber Works, Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Diamond Rubber Co., B. F. Goodrich Co., Goodyear Rubber Co., Michelin Tire Co., Miller Rubber Co., Ohio Rubber Co., etc.

The American Can Co., American Steel & Wire Co., Aluminum Castings Co., B. T. Babbitt, Inc., Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., Cleveland-Akron Bag Co., Coes Wrench Co., The Crane Co., Interstate Foundry Co., Lake Erie Iron Co., National Cash Register Co., National Casket Co., Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Remington Typewriter Co., The Sherwin-Williams Co., Standard Manufacturing Co., United States Steel Corp., White Enamel Refrigerator Co., etc.

The Berghoff Brewing Association, E. & J. Burke, Ltd., Independent Brewing Co. of Pittsburgh, Kundtz Brewing Co., Ltd., Leisy Brewing Co., Lion Brewery, National Distilling Co., Pabst Brewing Co., Pacific Brewing & Malting Co., Rock Island Brewing Co., Russell Distilling Co., P. Schoenhofen Brewing Co., Standard Brewing Co., etc.

Armour & Co., Booth Fisheries Co., Cleveland Provision Co., Cudahy Packing Co., Darling & Co., Houston Packing Co., Indianapolis Abbatoir Co., Otto Stahl, Inc., Swift Canadian Co., Ltd., etc.

The Atlanta Milling Co., Dillman Baking Co., Independent Cracker Co., Pacific Coast Biscuit Co., Schulze Baking Co., United Baking Co., Western Canada Flour Mills Co., Ltd., etc.

This White Radiator leads the way wherever trucks are used. The greater number of White Trucks in service proves their superior efficiency in every variety of motor transportation.

Let the known responsibility of The White Company insure the future of your motor trucks. Make the White experience of over fifty years an asset to your business. In spite of steadily increasing output, the demand for White Trucks is exceeding the supply. Insure your future deliveries by ordering now.

Umpires—Messrs. O'Day and Emslie. Time of game—Three hours and eighteen minutes.

Visions of a double-header on some sultry afternoon next August flitted through George Burns's mind last evening at the Polo Grounds, when the Utica speed boy carried his bat to the plate for the seventh time. Dusk had arrived, two Giants were out in the last half of the fourteenth inning, and Umpire Hank O'Day was rehearsing his little speech, "Called on account of darkness," when George made his appearance at the plate. Burns reached the half-way stage between a pass and a strikeout, when he saw a ball that suited his fancy, and he made a swing with all the strength in his broad shoulders. Max Carey was gripping the ball out near the left field bleachers, when Claude Cooper, emergency runner for Chief Meyers, breezed over the plate and made New York the winners over the Pirates, 3 to 2.

The game was a repetition of the struggle which the same teams played at the Polo Grounds Saturday, being featured by brilliant pitching and fielding that was spectacular despite occasional looseness on the visiting side. In the extra innings the battle developed into one golden opportunity after another for both teams, and most of these opportunities were allowed to drift until Burns got busy in the fourteenth with two batsmen out and two runners on the paths.

For eleven innings Rube Marquard and Howard Camnitz occupied the slab for the rival teams, and they closed their terms of service with the score a tie, 1 to 1. The figures give a proper line on the kind of boxwork which these pitchers showed. Marquard was touched up much more frequently than his rival, the Pirates crashing into his southpaw slants for ten markers in the eleven frames. But when a Pirate came within hailing distance of the plate and a hit was needed, Marquard was the original Mr. Tightwad. The Pirates nicked Rube for a pair of hits in the opening inning, and repeated in the second, but from that time to the ninth inning, they went out in order. Rube retired in a blaze of glory. After fanning Butler in the eleventh inning with the bases filled the lanky southpaw opened for the Giants with a drive to right field, which was dropped by Butler, thereby opening a chance for the Giants to break through with a victory. At this stage Rube was subtracted from the gathering and Josh Devore went in as a substitute runner.

Camnitz had a few dangerous situations confronting him during his eleven innings of work, but most of them came through his own generosity. The Giants suffered from hit famine while the veteran occupied the mound, getting only four hits in his eleven innings. One came in the second frame, another in the third, and two in the fourth. From this stage until Hendrix took up the burden in the twelfth the Giants did not edge a mark into the hit column. But passes from Camnitz and Pittsburgh misplays were coming to the front every few minutes, so the Giants did not lack opportunities to down the Corsairs in the regulation period.

Pittsburgh's lone run against Marquard's pitching was scored in the opening inning and Hans Wagner was the batsman who put the finish on the run. With one out Carey singled to left and moved around to third on Viox's double to the right field wall. Wagner lined hard to Fletcher, who was able to get Viox at third, but unable to check Carey's advance to the plate.

This one run kept Wagner & Co. in front until the fourth inning, when Fletcher dropped a Texas leaguer just behind Wagner after Shafer had lofted to Carey. Doyle followed with his first long hit of the past ten days—a triple to deep right field, and Fletcher scored. A fast double play by Wagner and Miller prevented Larry from scoring after Miller had dropped an easy pop fly from Murray's bat.

The one-run deadlock remained unbroken until the twelfth inning, when Ames succeeded Marquard. With one out Simon singled to right and Bill Kelly was sent in as base-running understudy for Mike. A wild pitch sent Bill down to second base, and he ambled on to third while Ham Hyatt, pinch-hitting for Camnitz, was beating out a grounder to Groh, who had succeeded Fletcher at short. Artie Hofman lined to Shafer in centre field and Kelly scored on the sacrifice fly.

The one-run lead looked big when the Giants faced Hendrix, and it looked even larger when Meyers lofted to Hans Wagner for the second out, with Herzog on second base, after a double to right field. This was Herzog's first hit in five games. On a short passed ball Herzog made a dash for third base, and Kelly tore up the lawn in left field trying to locate Bobby Byrne at third base. Herzog hurried home with the tying run on Kelly's outfield peg. Crandall, batting for Ames, followed with a double to left, and Burns walked. Shafer, back in the game after his one-day jump, had the chance to make the fans forget his "break," but the best he could do was a line drive to Hofman in centre field.

Tesreau came to the front after Ames had been eliminated, and Jeff finished the struggle with Hendrix. The thirteenth inning was short and quiet. In Pittsburgh's half Wagner walked, with one out, but he was snuffed out in a double play, Meyers to Groh, when he tried to steal on Miller's third strike. In New York's half Hendrix retired the side on three pitched balls.

Hendrix opened on Tesreau in the fourteenth for a triple, but he was stranded on third base. Byrne and Kelly fanned, Hyatt walked, and Hofman ended the inning with a fly to Merkle.

A great stop by Herzog off Hofman's bat in the ninth inning undoubtedly saved the game for the Giants, as two hits followed soon after the fancy stop.

Connelly Ties, Then Loses for Boston

BOSTON, May 19.—Connelly, whose home run drive with three on bases in the ninth inning helped Boston tie the score, contributed to his team's defeat in the tenth when he dropped Clarke's fly. Clarke scored on Becker's single, Cincinnati winning, 9 to 8. Cincinnati apparently had the game won when Boston came to the bat in the ninth, five runs behind. Benton had been keeping the locals' hits scattered, while Cincinnati hit Tyler hard in the fourth, gaining their big lead. In the ninth Benton weakened and was succeeded by Johnson, who passed Myers, filling the bases. Connelly's home run, followed by Sweeney's single, caused Johnson's retirement in favor of Brown. Then Sweeney scored the tying run on two sacrifices. Brown retired Boston in the tenth by striking out Calhoun and Myers and throwing out Maranville. The score:

Phillies Down Cubs with Ease.

PHILADELPHIA, May 19.—Philadelphia made a clean sweep of the series of three games with Chicago, the visitors losing to-day by 10 to 4. Chicago got a lead of three runs by hitting Brennan's delivery hard in the first two innings, but after that the home twirler had things his own way. In the third inning Philadelphia piled up six runs on four hits and three bases on balls off Lavender and an error by Phelan. They also made good use of their hits in the fourth and sixth innings. Zimmerman was ordered off the field in the fourth inning by Umpire Byron for disputing the latter's decision in refusing to allow a claim that Knabe had left third base before Miller made a sensational catch of Magee's fly. NEWARK PLAYERS PUNISHED

Swacina Indefinitely Suspended; Smith and E. Zimmerman Fined.

President Edward Barrow intends to stamp out rowdy tactics on the ball fields of the International League. Yesterday he indefinitely suspended First Baseman Swacina of the Newark Club for his argument with Umpire Hayes in Newark on Sunday. Mr. Barrow says that Swacina may also be fined if the result of an investigation of the trouble should warrant it.

Manager Smith of Newark and E. Zimmerman, third baseman of the same club, were fined $50 each for trouble in a game at Rochester on Saturday. Manager Smith and Zimmerman will draw heavy suspensions, says President Barrow, if they engage in further disorderly tactics during a game.

TROUBLE IN CUBS' DEN.

Evers Threatens Zimmerman with Suspension for Wanting to Lay Off.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., May 19.—Fuel was added to the fire of discord in the camp of the Chicago Cubs before the players left their hotel for the Phillies' ball park this afternoon. Manager Evers and Third Baseman Zimmerman had trouble, during which the latter was threatened with suspension without pay.

When the Cubs were in Brooklyn and New York last week Zimmerman laid off three days, claiming that he was ill. This afternoon Zimmerman told Evers that he would not play, as he was ill. Evers and Zimmerman then had a red-hot argument, in which Zimmerman, who led the National League in batting last season, declared that he was tired carrying the entire Chicago team on his shoulders, and that he did not care whether he was traded or sold by Chicago.

Evers informed Zimmerman that he would either play this afternoon or be suspended without pay. Zimmerman thought better of the matter and was at his regular station at third base in the game. During the fourth inning Zimmerman was ordered off the field by Umpire Byron when he kicked vigorously on the claim that Knabe had left third base before a fly by Magee was caught by Miller. Evers ran out from the bench and gave Zimmerman a call-down. The fight is still on.

St. Louis, it is said, will protest the game to President Johnson of the American League on account of Manager Chance batting out of his turn in the eighth inning. St. Louis protested to Umpire Hildebrand after the inning, but he said it was too late.

Chance batted for Fisher in the eighth and grounded out. When he came up the second time he batted in Derrick's place and singled, scoring two runs.

New York bunched five singles with two bases on balls and an error for seven runs in the eighth inning. New York scored in the first on two singles and an error. Two singles, a hit batsman, and two errors gave St. Louis three runs in the sixth.

In the ninth a double, a passed ball, a sacrifice fly, two bases on balls, and two singles netted St. Louis three more runs.

Willett Holds Athletics in Check.

DETROIT, May 19.—Willett held Philadelphia hitless in all except the third and eighth innings to-day, and Detroit took the opening game of the series by a 9-to-3 score. The Tigers hit Wyckoff and Bush hard, Cobb leading the attack with three clean singles. After Vitt in the first inning walked and advanced on an infield out, Cobb's single scored him. In the third Philadelphia made three runs on singles by Thomas, Wyckoff, and Oldring and a triple by Collins. In the Detroit half of the third, after Bush walked, Vitt tied the score by driving a home run between Walsh and Murphy; Crawford drew a pass, Cobb singled and stole, and Veach produced the winning runs. Bush was then sent in to pitch for Philadelphia. Detroit ran bases almost at will while Thomas was behind the bat, and he was relieved in the fourth inning by Lapp. The score:

Joe Wood Checks the White Sox.

CHICAGO, May 19.—Joe Wood, the "smoke ball" star pitcher of the world's champions, had the locals at his mercy to-day and Chicago lost the opening game of the series, 1 to 10, after eight innings of play. The game was called on account of darkness. Scott's wildness, coupled with opportune hitting, gave Boston six runs, before Scott was displaced in the fifth inning by Smith. While Smith pitched the visitors added three more runs. Cicotte pitched a creditable game. The fielding behind Wood was perfect, while that behind the local twirlers was farcical. All the errors made by the locals were costly. The score:

Eighth Straight for Falkenberg.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 19.—Pitcher Cy Falkenberg won his eighth straight victory to-day at the expense of Washington, the score being 4 to 1. An error of judgment by First Baseman Johnston, who put a base runner out at first when he might have cut off Williams at the plate in the eighth inning, deprived Falkenberg of a shutout. Cashion was wild and ineffective in the first inning. A passed ball on the third strike allowed Johnston to reach first. Cashion walked. Olson bunted safely. Turner walked, forcing Johnston in with a run. Chapman was out at the plate, but Jackson singled, scoring Olson and Turner. Williams scored Washington's run in the eighth on his triple and an infield out. Cleveland then scored on Chapman's single, a sacrifice, an out, and Jackson's single. Jackson killed a triple for McBride by a "shoestring" catch. The score:

Pennsy Blows Up in Ninth.

PHILADELPHIA, May 19.—After holding Harvard scoreless for eight innings, with the score 1 to 0 in their favor, the University of Pennsylvania baseball team weakened in the ninth period and the Cambridge nine captured the contest, 3 to 1. Imlay was wild in the early part of the game, double plays in the first, second, and fifth innings pulling him out of difficulties. In the latter part of the game he settled down and pitched sterling ball, but poor fielding by his teammates lost the game.

Pennsylvania scored their only run in the fifth inning. Peden led off with a double, took second on Schwert's sacrifice, and scored when Imlay popped a pretty fly over Felton's head.

In the ninth inning Frye singled, stole second, and went to third on Koons's wild throw to catch him at second. Toomes fanned and Young was an easy out. With two down, Philipps was sent in to bat for Felton and sent an easy grounder to Peden, who let the ball go through him, and Frye crossed the plate, tying the score. Alsop's single advanced Philipps to second, and the latter scored when Glendenning dropped Wingate's easy fly. Glendenning's throw to the plate was wild and Alsop scored. Koons recovered the ball and tossed it to Peden, who cut off Wingate at the plate. The score:

ST. LOUIS HARD TO BEAT IN BROOKLYN

Whitted's Two Errors Give the Superbas 2 to 1 Victory in Eleven Innings.

It required eleven innings, three brass bands, and nearly 1,000 orphan children to beat St. Louis at Ebbets Park yesterday. Of course the Brooklyn players contributed their part to the downfall of the Cardinals, but their work was merely mechanical, while the contributing elements figured largely in the result. It was the final game of an interesting series, which, owing to the rain on Saturday, was reduced to three contests, all of which went to Brooklyn to reinforce the club's position in the National League race. It was a long, stern chase for the Superbas, but they managed to turn the trick in the eleventh inning with a 2 to 1 score.

Orphans' Day is an important outing in Brooklyn, and, judged by the result of the game, it is likely to remain so, as President Ebbets is not likely to view lightly the enlivening efforts of the orphans and the three bands that accompanied them to the park. The inmates of the following asylums enjoyed the club's hospitality: St. John's Home, Hebrew Orphan Asylum, Beechy Home, St. Vincent's Home for Boys, Brooklyn Disciplinary Training School, Orphan Asylum Society, and the Industrial School Association. The youngsters were conveyed to and from the game in automobiles furnished by the Motor Dealers' Association.

Whitted, who substituted for O'Leary at third base, was directly responsible for the Cardinals' defeat, when in the eleventh he first fumbled Stengel's grass cutter, and then threw wild, which enabled the Brooklyn centre fielder to reach third base, from where he scored the winning run when Smith laid down a clean single into the right meadow. Up to this fatal misplay it was a splendid exhibition, with Yingling and Griner filling the pitching departments in the most approved style. Nap Rucker had started to pitch for Brooklyn, but in the first inning Mowrey smashed a hot liner which Rucker tried to grab. He succeeded in stopping the flight of the sphere, and catching the runner at first, but he injured his pitching hand and was compelled to retire.

There were plenty of brilliant fielding displays, in which the players on both teams figured. It would perhaps be unfair to single out any specific case, as all the players put forth their best efforts, and, with the exception of Whitted's misplays, put up an errorless game.

Only three runs were scored during the mêlée. The visitors got the jump on the locals in the fourth, when Konetchy singled to Daubert, who failed to beat the runner to the bag. Cathers sacrificed, and Konetchy reached third when Oakes was disposed of. Whitted's Texas Leaguer scored the Cardinal first sacker. Two innings later Stengel singled, advanced to second on Wheat's sacrifice, and made a successful dash for the plate on Daubert's single to left. Then, after four scoreless innings, the Superbas brought in the winning tally. The score:

Eight Scouts Seek Pitcher for Cubs.

CHICAGO, May 19.—Eight scouts to-day began a systematic search of minor leagues for pitchers for the Chicago Nationals. Practically the entire country will be scoured, under President Murphy's orders, to strengthen the staff, to whose weakness the poor showing of the team on its eastern trip is partly attributed. Murphy himself left to-day for Boston, and, while he denied he expected to land a pitcher there, he admitted that a promising twirler in the International League was under consideration.

Ministers to Play Ball for Charity.

Special to The New York Times.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., May 19.—Ten of the leading ministers of this city to-day organized a baseball team, and will journey about Northern and Central New York this Summer playing teams, composed of ministers, doctors, or lawyers, and turning over the gate receipts to charitable organizations. A challenge was sent to the Syracuse ministers to-night in the hope that the opening game may be played in that city. Rev. James Larson, pastor of the Emmanuel Congregational Church will Captain the team. Mr. Larson is a relative of Arthur Curtis James of New York, and during his college days was a star on the diamond. Rev. Harry Westbrooke Reed, of All Souls Church, and Rev. C. W. Clark of the Church of Christ, will do the twirling for the ministers. Both have college reputations as players.

EASY MATCH FOR ZBYSZKO.

Cazeaux, a Swiss Wrestler, a Poor Opponent for Polish Champion.

Stanislaus Zbyszko, the Polish wrestling champion, defeated Raymondo Cazeaux, the Swiss heavyweight, in two straight falls at Madison Square Garden last night. The first fall came in 14:33 with a crotch and scissors hold and the second fall required exactly twenty minutes. A falling leg lock was the medium by which Zbyszko pinned the Swiss wrestler to the mat for the second and deciding fall.

Rough tactics on the part of Cazeaux marred the contest, especially during the second part of the bout. Before the first fall Cazeaux became vexed at the actions of Referee Charlie White and threatened to swing on the official. When the first fall was declared against Cazeaux he put up a vigorous argument against the decision, protesting in a voice that thundered throughout the Garden. Before the second fall the two wrestlers rolled out of the ring and refused to break their hold, even on the main floor of the amphitheatre. Cazeaux again became angered at one of the spectators who tried to push him away from one of the boxes and raised his arm as if to strike the spectator.

As a wrestler Cazeaux is not in the same class as Zbyszko. In the first bout the men spent the first eleven minutes standing up and trying to get a hold. When they went to the mat Zbyszko made short work of his opponent, pinning him down in less than three minutes. In the second bout Cazeaux did some good defensive work and escaped several dangerous holds, but was helpless on the attack and could do nothing with his opponent. He repeatedly slapped and cuffed Zbyszko, but the latter controlled his temper all the time and made no attempt to retaliate. The final fall was most spectacular. Cazeaux had both hands locked behind Zbyszko's back while both were standing upright. The Pole slipped out of the hold, put an arm around each leg and toppled Cazeaux over, finishing the fall by pressing his head against Cazeaux's chest.

In the first preliminary Wladek Zbyszko, a brother of Stanislaus, won two straight falls from George Sandelli, the first in 2:53, with a half nelson and crotch hold, and the second in 11:21, with a standing leg and arm hold.

In the semi-final, best two in three falls, with the bout limited to one hour, George Lurich, the Russian, defeated Paul Sampson, the German heavyweight, in straight falls. The first was secured in 22:38, with a head throw and full nelson, and the second came in 21:04, with a half nelson and crotch hold.

A crowd of about 2,500 people witnessed the bouts.

WESTERN CREW COMING.

University of Washington Eight to Start June 2 for Poughkeepsie.

The Stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association have mailed the University of Washington Athletic Association a formal invitation requesting the 'varsity eight-oared crew to compete at the Poughkeepsie regatta on June 21.

The Washington 'varsity eight won the intercollegiate rowing championship of the Pacific Coast last month, defeating both Stanford and California easily in a three-mile race, in 17 minutes 54 seconds. Coach Hiram B. Conibear boats a heavy veteran crew this year and expects to make a favorable showing on the Hudson if the trip can be made. The Stanford crew which rowed at Poughkeepsie in 1912 finished last in a borrowed shell, being badly handicapped in both equipment and coaching.

SEATTLE, Washington, May 19.—The University of Washington rowing crew will depart for Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 2, to take part in the intercollegiate boat races on the Hudson. The expenses of the crew's trip, $3,600, have been met by a popular subscription. The intercollegiate rowing association's formal invitation will be accepted when received.

Harlem Bouts Called Off.

Harlem boxing fans failed to attend the show of the Olympic A. C. last night in sufficient numbers to guarantee its financial success, so after two four-round preliminaries had been contested and the attendance did not increase, the other bouts were called off, and return checks were issued to the few persons in attendance.

Johnson, "Broke," Wants to Fight.

CALGARY, Alberta, May 19.—Tommy Burns has received a telegram from Ed W. Smith of Chicago asking if he could arrange a match between Luther McCarty and Jack Johnson in Calgary. Johnson has asked the United States Court for a stay of sixty days, giving as his reason that he is "dead broke" and wants a match to get money to pay his fine, the telegram stated. Burns is considering the matter. McCarty is training hard for his match with Pelky on May 24.

ENGLISH TEAM WIN PRACTICE POLO

Show to Advantage in First Game Against Local Players at Piping Rock.

England's polo players, who are here in quest of the Westchester Polo Club trophy emblematic of the championship of the world and now held by the Meadow Brook team, had their first try-out on American soil yesterday at Piping Rock Club field, near Locust Valley, against a team made up of American players, whom they defeated by a score of 21 goals to 0 after eight periods of six minutes each.

Incidentally the first glimpse of the ponies which will be called into use by the invaders was had, thirty-six of which were seen in action, and each showed itself to be possessed of both pace and the knowledge of following the ball.

With the exception of Capt. Lockett, who is slated to fill the position of back in the international series, whose place was taken yesterday by F. M. Freake, one of the substitutes, the Englishmen lined up as they are expected to do on the Meadow Brook field against the American quartet.

The men opposed to them constituted a team styled the Leopards, being made up of F. Ambrose Clark, J. C. Rathborne, Quincy A. Shaw, 2d, and J. B. Thomas. Had it been a handicap match with American ratings, the latter would have been in receipt of twenty-six goals, as each of the Englishmen is rated as a "9" man, whereas the American four are handicapped at 2, 2, 3, and 3, respectively.

At the finish of the match the score showed that Cheape had tallied five goals, Edwards 6, Ritson 8, and Freake 2. There were very few minutes during the play when the home team had the ball in hand, although twice during the two last periods a score seemed imminent through seemingly indifferent play by the visitors.

Ritson was the star of the game, his wonderful near and far side strokes and backhanders quite filling the eyes of the spectators as the perfection of execution every time he hit at the sphere. At only one time did he fail to locate the ball, this coming toward the tail end of the match, when the field was considerably cut up as the result of the furious riding which marked the contest most of the time.

Time and again when the ball seemed in jeopardy and with the Americans on it as though to drive it into English territory, Ritson would retrieve it with a clever stroke and back2 it out of trouble in nonchalant style. He showed a world of power behind his drives when occasion warranted a run down the field, which, coupled with the combination play of his mates of the forward line, was usually productive of a score.

Well mounted, the quartet were very seldom outpaced in the innumerable splendid gallops for the ball. Each developed clever riding-off tactics, and the able manner in which they bore across their opponents showed them past masters at the semi-rough riding. Time and again Cheape and Edwards passed up chances to drive the sphere down the field, leaving it for Ritson, who placed it beautifully for his forwards, so that they might achieve somewhat easy goals.

It was the first real outing for the English ponies, which have only been walked in the paddock since their arrival at the grounds last Tuesday night. The Englishmen did not apparently try particularly hard with their mounts, relying mainly on their better knowledge of the game and hitting ability for the practice, which they confessed to need, as it had been three weeks since they had practiced as a team.

Interested spectators on the side lines were Harry Payne Whitney, Captain of the American team; Larry Waterbury, and Thomas Hitchcock, who played in the game at Newport in 1886 when the English first won the cup.

Practice will be continued to-morrow, when the English team will line up against a much stronger team made up of F. S. Von Stade, C. P. Beadleston, F. M. Freake, and R. L. Agassiz. It has been arranged for the English team to visit Philadelphia next Saturday, when they will play a team of the Philadelphia Country Club on local mounts. The summary:

ENGLISH.	LEOPARDS.
1—Capt. L. St. G. Cheape.	1—F. A. Clark.
	2—J. C. Rathborne.
2—Capt. Noel Edwards.	3—Q. A. Shaw 2d.
Back—F. M. Freake.

Total goals scored—England, 21; Leopards, 0. By Cheape, 5; by Edwards, 6; by Ritson, 8; by Freake, 2. Time—Eight six-minute periods. Referee—Capt. E. D. Miller, D. S. O.

Player Corey Loses Case; Censured.

CINCINNATI, May 19.—The National Baseball Commission to-day upheld a decision of the National Board in refusing to declare Player Wilbur C. Corey, of the Wilkesbarre Club a free agent. Corey brought the case up on appeal from the National Board. The commission censured the player for not asking redress from the National Board instead of deserting his club when he thought he had been treated unfairly.

Belmont Yearlings for England.

Special to The New York Times.

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 19.—William J. Treacy, acting for the Kentucky Sales Company, purchased to-day from August Belmont fifteen thoroughbred yearlings at his Nursery Farm, near Lexington. The breeding of these youngsters is of the highest class, such noted racers as Imp. Rocksand, Imp. Singleton, and Fair Play being the principal ones. It is understood that the purchase was made for an English turfman now in New York, who will probably send them to England.

NEW YORK, TUESDAY, MAY 20, 1913.

MR. SULZER'S PRIMARY CAMPAIGN.

The speech with which Gov. Sulzer at Buffalo yesterday opened his campaign for direct primaries is quite beyond criticism. It is an exhortation to right public conduct, to good citizenship. None but evil-minded men could possibly find a word to say against the principles he proclaims. But we do not find in his utterance any very convincing argument upon the issue he has raised before the voters of the State. He cannot make a moral issue out of direct primaries. There is no inherent morality or immorality either in the caucus and convention, or in the committee designation and the direct primary, no evil that cannot be cast out if the people will take the trouble to do it. The caucus is a method; so is the direct primary. They are all methods for obtaining an end. The good sought lies in the end, not in the method. If it could be demonstrated that better men would be nominated and that politics would be purer and Government better with direct primaries, no right-thinking man would have an instant's hesitation about supporting the Governor in his campaign. The trouble lies deeper. Mr. Sulzer pointed it out at Buffalo when he said:

> A long experience has taught me that the people get about the kind of government they seem to want. If it is good, or bad, or indifferent, the responsibility, to a very large extent, rests with the citizens and not altogether with the officials. If the voters will do their duty the servants of the people will do their duty. The citizen, however, must ever be vigilant.

If the voters do not do their duty the direct primaries will yield no better results than the nominating method now in use. The Governor would find more general and hearty support in his campaign if there were not so much doubt about the wisdom of the proposed primary law. The people of the State hesitate, and we think they should hesitate, to assent to the abolition of the State Convention. Mr. Seth Low, while giving his support to the general principle of the direct primary, expressed doubts as to the wisdom of doing away with the convention. Granted that the boss and machine have usually had control of the makeup and of the proceedings of conventions, it is nevertheless true that when the people have had a will to express, and have expressed it, they have made the conventions obey them. The people nominated Mr. Cleveland for Governor, the people nominated Mr. Hughes, certainly for his second term, for then the Republican machine bitterly opposed him. It is exceedingly doubtful whether with direct primaries Mr. Cleveland would have been nominated, or Mr. Hughes for that second term. The people can get at a convention, they can make it hear and obey. They cannot hold themselves to anything like the same accountability, and under the system of direct primaries they will find it more difficult to baffle the bosses. Besides, the State Convention is the place where the Democrats and Republicans from all parts of the State meet and get acquainted. It is a pretty serious thing to deprive them of that opportunity for conference, for getting at each other's minds, for the discussion of principles and policies, and for the development of party opinion.

The direct nomination of Judges is a still more serious matter. Members of the bar and men who do try to perform their duty as citizens by thinking more or less about public affairs view that proposed change with grave apprehension. It is a step in the wrong direction. We are well aware of the futility of argument to show that Judges should be appointed, not elected. The change has been made and it is too late to turn back. But one of our great jurists said long ago that an elective judiciary is "a monstrous solecism." If our Judges had been named by the Executive, the men now on the bench in this State would have been appointed by these Governors: Cleveland, Hill, Flower, Morton, Black, Roosevelt, Odell, Higgins, Hughes, Dix, and Sulzer. There might have been exceptions to the rule of high quality, but we are entirely confident that the bench would have ranked far higher in respect to ability and independence than under the system which has intrusted the appointment of Judges during those years in this department to Croker and then to Murphy, and up the State to various political bosses. That is what it has come to under the elective system.

But Mr. Sulzer wants to get away from that evil condition through the direct primary. There is no certainty, there is not even a reasonable probability, that under the plan of designation in direct nominations the men of the machines will not still have their say; but even if the Judges named should be the real choice of the people it is improbable that the result would be any better, or as good. It is impossible for the people generally to acquaint themselves with the qualification and the standing of candidates for the bench, and an antecedent designation will not help matters much.

A Direct Primary bill somewhat less radical in respect to the changes introduced would have invited a more general support. But it is just as true as it was in the campaign made by Mr. Hughes for this reform that the people decline to interest themselves very deeply in the attempts to give them a direct voice in political action, where their voice is already controlling whenever they wish to make it heard.

THE COURT HOUSE PLANS.

To-day the Municipal Art Commission and the Court House Commission will hold their joint meeting to consider the plans drawn by Mr. Lowell for the new law courts. A plan of half the proposed new building, showing the interior arrangements according to the architect's present idea, was reproduced in The Times yesterday, and with it was printed a coherent summary of the arguments in favor of its scheme of lighting and ventilation. That each of the court rooms will be rectangular and not fan-shaped, that the interior airshaft will be as wide as some of the city's streets, that provisions have been made for the safety of people in the Court House in case of fire, are facts established in this publication. Whether or not a careful study of the plans will justify the erection of the circular Court House designed by Mr. Lowell must be decided very soon.

Before any decision is reached, however, opportunity should be given to all the Judges and to all lawyers of experience and standing to examine the plans and state their objections to them, if they have objections to make. We have waited many weary years for a new Court House. We can afford to wait a little longer if there is any danger of squandering $16,000,000 on an ill-ventilated, inconvenient, or imperfectly lighted building.

THE JAPANESE ATTITUDE.

Inasmuch as it is evident that the California alien land legislation not only does not violate our treaty with Japan, but expressly conforms with its provisions, the signing of the bill by Gov. Johnson can give the Japanese Government no new grounds of protest. If that Government, nevertheless, intends to make representations in the nature of a protest it must be for other reasons, and, therefore, this legislation may be left out of the question.

The larger question of the attitude of our Government and our people toward the Japanese, and in particular toward their desire, if they have that desire, to secure recognition of their eligibility to naturalization and citizenship, might be raised at any time irrespective of the action of any State. We do not see why Japan should wish to raise it at this time. Her declared position is one of opposition to any large migration of her people. She has need of her workers at home, and certainly it would not be to her interest to encourage the expatriation of her capitalists and her men of education. She has still greater need of them.

The view said to be held by some Japanese that denial of eligibility to citizenship implies racial inferiority is absurd. Evidently the Californians do not look upon the Japanese as their inferiors, since they confess their inability to compete with them in agriculture. Difference of custom and habit, of ways of thought and action, upon a plane of entire equality might well make race blending or association inadvisable for the good of all concerned. Our friendship for the Japanese Nation and our admiration for the arts, the accomplishments, the ability, and the wonderful capacity for progress of the Japanese people have been manifested in countless ways.

THE I. W. W.

In spite of Quinlan's threat of vengeance, which caused much consternation in Paterson, the employés of the Price mill went peaceably back to work yesterday. They had to force their way through a sullen if undemonstrative crowd, but there was ample police protection, and although seventy persons were arrested for refusing to "move on" there was no disturbance worth considering. Paterson is still "on the map." Nevertheless, the trouble with the I. W. W. is not over, by any means, and though many of the speakers of this dangerous body, an avowed enemy not only of the United States Government and all the State Governments, but of organized labor as well, are shallow, vociferous persons, there are a few bold and desperate fellows among the leaders. Probably there are very many foreign-born working men and women who do not clearly understand the purposes of the I. W. W. or comprehend its opposition to the American Federation of Labor and the trades unions generally. They imperfectly understand the words uttered by the I. W. W. leaders, and may be too easily led by evil influence to violent action.

The "direct action" Socialists are not aiming to improve the condition of the workingman, to secure for him either higher wages or shorter hours, or to relieve him of any of his burdens. Instigators of strikes who advise thrifty artisans to withdraw all their little savings from savings banks for the purpose of embarrassing the bankers very clearly reveal their aims. As for the employment of the withdrawn money, the I. W. W. leaders will look after that. "We want more money," exclaimed the Flynn woman at the Haledon meeting on Sunday, "and we want you to do the "right thing. You don't even need to "keep your carfare, for you can walk "home." In the Haledon crowd were all the idlers of Paterson and its neighborhood. The appeal for money was not directed to them, but to the honest working people forced into a strike and compelled by threats to refrain from working. That they are willing to return to work, with few exceptions, is a fact well known in Paterson, one that was amply proved by the return of the Price mill operatives yesterday under police protection.

Sufficient police protection and untiring vigilance on the part of the police will defeat any plans of the I. W. W. in any city. The spirit of this body is utterly un-American. It aims to tear down all existing Government, to abolish all existing laws, to constitute itself the State. Its rule would be anarchy, with stolen booty for its leaders, but ruin and starvation for everybody else.

If the police of this city had been more alert at the beginning of the barbers' strike all the public discomfort and violence would have been avoided. The right to free speech should not be denied; violent speech serves, too, as a safety valve; but mob formation, parades without license, and all blocking of thoroughfares should be and can be prevented.

PUBLIC AND PRIVATE CREDIT.

The illuminating article in this week's Annalist upon the course of the bond market through a series of years, and with special reference to the situation of the moment from the point of view of the investor, has particular interest in connection with to-day's sale of $45,000,000 of New York City bonds. The two sorts of credit are different, and therein lies an undiscussed feature of the outlook. First rate, second rate, and third rate railway bonds are cheaper now than they have been in the decade since the opening of the century, with the exception of panic times, and, therefore, as low as they are likely to go. The reason is simplicity itself. Nothing goes far below cost of production, or stays there. It is in vain to rage against profits. They must be made or production will stop. When production stops demand overtakes supply, and the natural corrective for excessive cheapness is applied.

When railways cannot earn profits enough to meet their obligations the production of the obligations slows down and is overtaken by the accumulation of savings which demand investment. That is the situation regarding railway bonds. There is no deficiency of supply, quite the contrary. The necessity of the railways to issue them is pressing, and hundreds of millions of inferior substitutes have been issued in default of the ability of the railways to float bonds on a basis which would leave a margin of profit by operation. A billion of bonds would be issued by the railways if they could be sold on the old basis.

The reason for the lack of demand on the old basis arises from the difference between public and private credit. There is no limitation upon public credit by the necessity of earning a profit. Cities are not run to make money, but to spend it, and to provide what their citizens need. Taxing power, not profits, is the basis of public credit, and the limit of the taxing power has not yet been found in New York, either city or State. As the public demand for accommodations increases the taxes are pushed up to meet the rising cost of funds. When the interest rate reaches the legal limitation the law is evaded. When the Constitutional limitation is reached it is altered. There are no such substitutes for profits. When profits fail private credit fails, and public borrowers push private borrowers away from the fount of credit. In like manner superior cities push away cities of inferior credit. During April fifty city bond offerings failed, but nobody likes to think, or seems to think, of failure in connection with to-day's offering by New York. It is the part of civic pride and loyalty to encourage the bidders, to point out to them that the city is willing to offer them more than their savings bank, and that principal and interest are as safe and sure as anything human.

It is also a duty to point out that the high interest rate on city bonds is in itself a caution signal.

THE TIMES'S INDEX AS A NEWS RECORD.

He cannot see the woods for the trees. That is the complaint of the professional man, of the business man, of every serious reader of newspapers. He is lost, or is in peril of being lost, in the swirl of contemporary events. Yet because he lives in the present the knowledge of what is doing in the world about him is the most valuable of all knowledge. How can it be reduced to proper order and perspective?

The New York Times Index is our answer to this question. We have published several extracts from the first volume, covering January to April, 1913, showing the range of subjects—broad as humanity itself—which it presents, grouping each occurrence noted in a series of related events, with liberal cross-references to persons and kindred subjects. We subjoin another example, which in its content will interest young and old, and in its method should appeal to students of contemporary history. The extent of the preparations for the Olympic Games, vaster than any that challenged the attention of the ancient world, is here accurately gauged, and the summary is itself a distinct contribution to the news. The indicated dates of news developments, as detailed in The Times and other newspapers, enable the reader to obtain full information with ease and certainty. The figures following each date denote page and column of the report in The Times:

Olympic Congress — International Olympic Committee to meet at Lausanne, Americans invited, Mar. 14, 10:3; to discuss universal amateur definition, Mar. 16, VII., 4:6; to consider Thorpe's case, Mar. 31, 11:2.

Olympic Games:—
- England—Athletes to be trained for games at Stockholm, Feb. 1, 9:2; want American coach, Feb. 23, V., 1:2; Nation must change policy, opinions of Mr. Anderson, Mar. 2, IV., 3:6; special Financial Committee appointed, Mar. 14, 10:4.
- Far Eastern—Orientals gather at Manila, Feb. 1, 9:2; competitions, games a success, Feb. 9, V., 2:3.
- France—Preparations active, College of Athletics being founded by Marquis de Polignac, Jan. 5, III., 4:4.
- Germany — Government grants subsidy for preparations, Feb. 20, 9:2; to co-operate with America, Feb. 21, 11:3; golf to be included, Feb. 25, 9:6; elimination of certain sports planned, Mar. 8, 11:7; to arouse interest by cinematograph, Mar. 18, 9:4; golf included, Mar. 23, V., 3:7.
- International Olympic Committee —Awards modern Pentathlon to Panama-Pacific Exposition, Mar. 18, 12:4.
- Sweden—King Gustave awards medals to Americans, Jan. 7, 12:2; Jan. 26, IV., 2:2; Thorpe's disqualification changes nations' athletic records, prizes to be returned, Jan. 28, 1:5; comments, Jan. 29, 9:1; trophies returned, Feb. 1, 9:7; may not be accepted, Feb. 3, 9:4; Swedish team being trained by Ernest Hjertberg, Feb. 6, 9:3; Swedish Olympic Games Committee sends letter concerning Thorpe's trophies to A. A. U., Feb. 27, 11:4; death of Tsiclitiras, champion jumper, Feb. 27, 11:4.
- United States—Executive Committee of American Olympic Committee holds special meeting, report, new Executive Committee selected, Mar. 9, VI., 4:4; letters of praise for American team, Mar. 15, 9:4.

"Olympic Vow"—France's suggestion to insure amateurism, Feb. 16, IV., 1:5.

The schools, colleges, and athletic clubs of the country will consult The New York Times Index of sports, while their debating societies and students of economics, social questions, and current history will need it in their graver pursuits. But the Index has its special appeal to every man in the professions, business, and industry who wishes to survey the state of affairs in the world about him.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Occupational Percentages at Bedford. Of great interest, though not as easy of interpretation as it seems, is the table in the first report of the Bureau of Social Hygiene showing the occupations in which the young women now in the Bedford Reformatory were engaged before they took to the way of life that later brought them to that institution.

As usual, or rather as always, in such investigations, it was found more of them by far were once domestic servants, doing general housework, than anything else, their percentage of the whole 647 being 37.56. Factory operatives came next with a percentage of 19.62, while the clerks in large and small stores together supplied only 7.41 per cent., a fact that has some bearing, though not a very clear one, on the recent discussion of the minimum wage. The industries where the temptations are supposed to be very great, including the stage, are represented by minute fractions.

Statistics of this kind are apt to be highly untrustworthy, owing to the character of the women from whom they are derived. In the present instance, however, the figures are probably a close approach to accuracy, since the head of the reformatory, Miss Katherine Bement Davis, is too intelligent and experienced to be easily deceived.

In drawing conclusions from the table much care should be used. Thus, the large number at Bedford who were once domestics does not fully justify the common inference as to conditons in that service. It must be remembered, first, that the total number of houseworkers is very large, which of itself would naturally make large their percentage in any given group. Even more significant in explaining its size is the fact that as a result of the social stigma which, whether rightly or wrongly, does attach to domestic service, it gets more than its proportionate share of those who in one way and degree or another are mentally defective and easily "led astray," as the saying is, by anybody who tries to do it.

To make these percentages really significant they should be accompanied by others showing the ratio of the several trades to the whole number of women in the country, as well as to the whole number in Bedford. The two columns would reveal enormous differences. Of course, even after all allowances have been made, the showing for domestic service is pretty bad—quite bad enough to excite much uneasy self-question among employing housewives.

Inviting Certain Disaster. As was inevitable, the big electrically illuminated signs on top of buildings are growing constantly larger and larger. Already those that a few years ago excited wonder by their size have been reduced to insignificance by their later rivals for public attention, and each newcomer in this field of advertising feels that he must outdo all his predecessors to have even a chance to get the worth of his money in publicity.

There is now in course of erection near The Times office a sign that illustrates among its neighbors the compulsion to take part in this strange race. That it will draw many eyes for a while cannot be denied, but its supremacy will not long remain, for of course the next sign must be bigger still, else it will be unnoticed.

For a newspaper, itself a purveyor of paid publicity, to object to this form of advertising, may excite the smiles of the cynical, as something not entirely disinterested, but it is a fact that a large number of people are beginning to look at these signs, not to see what they proclaim in their flashing lights, but to make mental calculations of the slaughter that will result when a high wind blows one of the enormous structures down into a crowded street.

Thereupon public indignation will be high, and not all of it will be directed at those who made and those who paid for the fallen sign. Theirs will be the legal responsibility, no doubt, but not a little of moral responsibility will fall upon the municipal authorities who issued the permit for the sign's erection, and they will be blamed, rightly, for not having placed, long before, a much-needed limitation upon this form of enterprise.

Good Theory, But It Isn't True. One of our correspondents has discovered the cause of baldness and therefore the way to prevent it. That is, he thinks he has.

Women, he says, are almost never bald, while that condition is so common among men that it is expected by all of them and escaped by few. Seeking a reason for this difference he remembers that women let their hair grow as long as it will, but men discourage it by cuttings frequent and close. This the mystery dissolves and the remedy is made obvious!

The theory is attractively simple and has a certain logical plausibility, as the argument of "after, therefore because" always does. If it be true, however, strange indeed is the fact that though men have been shaving their faces much longer than they have been trimming their polls, and though the shaving is as much more frequent as it gets nearer to the skin than does the trimming, yet beards show no slightest sign of discouragement.

If they only would! Instead, they thrive under this drastic treatment, and the use of the razor is one of the banes, and not the least, of masculine existence.

The evolutionists have another and a better explanation of man's tendency to lose his hair. Unlike the person who knew the capital of Austria, but didn't have the flow of language to express it, we could tell what the explanation is, but caution forbids in these days when women are so strenuous in manifesting resentment.

CHEAP DRINKING FOUNTAINS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The letter in The Times from a "Thirsty Pedestrian" made me think that a hint from Rochester might possibly help out the situation complained of. At a cost of but a few dollars apiece, any or all fire hydrants can be utilized during the Summer months as sanitary drinking fountains without impairing their usefulness as aids in fire fighting or street sprinkling, or the like. This method is employed in Rochester:

On one of the fire hydrant nozzles is screwed an extension nipple which has an upright service pipe, equipped with a small valve. A sanitary drinking fountain is connected to this upright service and a small waste pipe is extended down and out to the curb, or street gutter, which is generally close to the hydrant. The water is left turned on into the hydrant—all of the nozzle caps of the hydrant being screwed up tightly to prevent leaking—and the small valve is adjusted so that the proper amount of water is served to the fountain. After the adjustment is made the key to the valve is removed, so that there is no incentive, or at least no way, for the user to tamper with the flow of water.

We even think it wise to let a small stream run continually and remove the rabbit ears from the faucet in the fountain itself, as these faucets do get out of order with constant use, even if not meddled with, destroyed, or stolen, and we have suffered in all of these ways.

Of course in cold weather these fountains would have to be given up on account of the danger to the hydrants from freezing. This scheme was thought out and designed by one of the employes in the Rochester Water Bureau, who has applied for patents, but has generously given his native city free use of the idea. The expense and labor of erecting and locating this device is so small compared with that usual in getting a public drinking fountain into commission that it ought to be better known and more generally used.

The English Militants.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

F. W. Pethick Lawrence states in The Times that the suffragists of England are laughing and chuckling at the defeat of the bill to give women the vote.

Chuckling and laughter bespeak good humor. If in their delight the militants, who are included among those so jovially impressed, carry fire and sword to friend and foe alike, how terrible indeed must be the effects of their real anger. M. DAVIS.

SUFFRAGETTES DEFENDED.

Mr. Vaile Denounces Ungallant Conduct of Englishmen.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In a recent issue of The Times, I read that Dr. Anna S. Shaw said that England was one great factor with which the American suffragists had to contend. The conduct of women in England, she said, had satisfied America that women would be unsafe with the ballot, and consequently American women were being voted down.

As a matter of fact the suffagettes in England are doing the right and proper thing for England. Nothing but bombs could put a new idea into the English mind—or take an old one out. In many ways, especially if we consider their advantages, they are a very stupid people, and their treatment of their women in their gallant struggle for political liberty is an everlasting disgrace to them.

The women are really fighting the men's battle for them. The men reward them by heaving chunks of turf at them in Hyde Park on Sunday morning.

We, in New Zealand, gave our women the vote many years ago, and the result has been good. The suffragettes to-day are England's best men. They could not possibly use their political privileges in a more unworthy and imbecile manner than the men of England now do, nor is it conceivable that even were the nation managed by women it could sink to greater depths of pusillanimity than those which we now see in England.

Politically, England is stone blind. In 1907 in "Wake Up, England," I said: "Already I see payment of members carried, then will come manhood suffrage, for the cry of 'One man one vote' takes a lot of stopping. Female franchise will naturally follow, and unless we see a little more activity and businesslike interest in the affairs of the nation shown, we might even have an elective upper house. Would it be a mistake?"

Of course I was accused of being a wild person. They have been drawing their salaries for years now. Manhood suffrage is on the Government programme, the upper house has gone by the board, and female suffrage is a certainty—for they cannot beat the English women, who really are helping their American sisters.

I love England before all else in the world. I am spending my life serving her and the empire, but I am not proud of her way of life now, and it has to be altered soon unless she wants to move backward in the national race.

A CHOCOLATE ENTHUSIAST

Consumes Large Quantities and Enjoys Perfect Health.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It was a man after my own heart who wrote to you from Charlottesville, Va.: "I now average about five pounds of pure chocolate a week." Pooh! That is nothing. I have done better than that for years. I formerly imported chocolate from Switzerland in cargo lots. Now I take the entire output of several domestic makers. I have it within easy reach all the time. An endless chain of buckets running from the storeroom in the basement to my desk dumps before me at frequent intervals a maximum supply. I can be identified on Broadway any day by my bulging pockets.

If these statements seem a trifle strong (so greatly does chocolate energize one's mental faculties,) the following are nearer the mark: I have not had a sick day for twenty years. I can, and occasionally do, run two or three miles without a break at a 7 to 8 minute gait. At tennis I can put it all over certain young striplings just out of college who think they are so much—that is, I can when they do not play too well. I am—let me see, how old am I—well, I am old enough to know better, anyway.

I never touch tea, coffee, tobacco, or any form of alcohol. I rarely eat meat. I live, in fact, on fruit, vegetables, and chocolate.

Park Vigilance Commended.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I am a regular reader of your paper and have just read with more than passing interest your strong editorial on "City Parks and the Monument Idea," and the following paragraph particularly struck me:

> We need sadly the influence of a body of good citizens anxious to make this town as nearly beautiful as possible, to prevent the erection of eyesores in conspicuous places, to preserve our parks from invasion and destruction.

By all means work to the end of building up and beautifying your parks, squares, &c., rather than permit their destruction or invasion.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have noted a number of letters in recent numbers of The Times from various authorities in regard to ice, both natural and artificial. Owing to the distance I am from New York, I suppose this letter will be a little late for this controversy, but I would like to have a few questions answered through your paper.

Here on the Isthmus of Panama all ice is manufactured, and a very large quantity is used, as ice is a necessity in this climate. At all meals they serve a glass filled with broken ice, into which you pour water. This water very often has a very bitter, acid taste caused by the ice. I cannot very well describe this taste, but it seems like creosote or something like that. At other times the ice is all right.

I have also noticed big blocks of this ice which were very dull or opaque, while other cakes alongside would be transparent. Now, if artificial ice is purer than natural ice, what causes this bad, bitter taste, and why are some cakes so much clearer than others?

Father Ill with Tuberculosis.

The illness of her husband and the recent death of his brother, who had given generously of his wages to support the home, have left the mother of four children in need of help. The man is in a hospital hopelessly ill with tuberculosis, and until the eldest girl can safely go to work, the woman has no one on whom to depend for financial assistance. The six-year-old girl, who now has scarlet fever, will, on her recovery, be cared for by her aunt, who lives near by. The relatives are not able to help further. The nine-year-old brother has spinal disease, but he goes regularly to school for crippled children. It is hoped that an operation soon to be performed will benefit him. The children all need nourishing food and the family are to be moved to better rooms. The $5 a week the mother earns as a cleaner and $15 a month additional will meet the expenses of the home for rent and food through the Summer. The Charity Organization Society asks for $90 to provide this.

Gifts may be sent to the office of the society, 105 East Twenty-second Street, and will be acknowledged.

The society acknowledges, with thanks, the following contributions received in response to previous appeals in The Times: "One Interested," $1; "H. K.," $2; "Cash," $1; "B. M.," $1; "Anonymous," $10; "M. K. P.," $1; J. W. Mason & Co., $5; "T. J. R.," $5; M. P. Read, $2; William Elliott, $5; Leo Daft, $5; "Anonymous," $15; Mrs. C. S. Rodman, $5; "H. B.," $1; "E. A. R.," $1; "M. T. D.," $1; Miss S. Praeger, $1, and Miss N. E. Slaven, $5.

RULES AND THE MEN.

Railway Accidents Can't Be Prevented by Tinkering With Code.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Persistent criticism of the rules of discipline on American railroads has become a quite regular feature in the accident reports which are being issued from time to time by the Inter-State Commerce Commission. In a general way the following quotation from one of these reports is an example of the nature and form of this criticism:

> His action in this case but serves to emphasize the weakness of the method of signaling employed by this railroad for the protection of its freight trains.

Specific illustrations, however, will be still more to the point. There was recently a rear-end collision on the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway near Bowerston, Ohio, which resulted in the death of an employe. In protecting the rear end of his freight train, Extra 8,060, into which another freight train, Extra 8,188, plunged, the flagman placed two torpedoes on the rail, 1,900 feet from the rear end of his train. Upon hearing the signal to return, the flagman lighted a red fusee and placed it on the track 1,500 feet to the rear of his caboose, and then ran toward his train. In spite of these cautionary and emergency signals on the track, however, which, of course, supersede all other running and signal rules, this freight train, Extra 8,188, at the time of the collision was still running at the rate of fifty miles per hour. The comment of the Commissioners on the situation is as follows:

> With regard to Flagman Wheeler's failure to go back further it may be noted that he violated no rule. In stopping 1,900 feet to the rear of his train he evidently exercised his best judgment as to what was a sufficient distance to insure full protection. His error in judgment but serves again to illustrate the weakness of the company's flagging rule, Standard Code Rule No. 99.

Now, with all respect to the Inter-State Commerce Commission, it does nothing of the kind. It simply serves to illustrate the weakness of any one rule in the presence of reckless disregard of others. Tinkering with good rules or changing them to bolster carelessness elsewhere or lack of proper supervision on the the part of management is wrong in principle. The rule in question is as follows:

> When a train stops or is delayed under circumstances in which it may be overtaken by another train, the flagman must go back immediately with stop signals a sufficient distance to insure full protection. When recalled, he may return to his train, first placing two torpedoes on the rail when the conditions require it.

As a matter of fact, this flagging rule is probably the most difficult, the most debatable one in the whole code. Such as it is, it represents the consensus of opinion of those best qualified to be judges. The information for the public in these matters relates to the qualifications and methods of the men who are responsible for these rules. Are they or are they not the very best men obtainable for this purpose?

The Standard Code of Train Rules of the American Railway Association is the result of years of conscientious study and experiment. The code is employed to-day in the operation of every important line in the United States, Canada, and Mexico. The committee on these train rules has embraced in its membership, from first to last, forty-eight railway officials. These officials have held positions of all kinds, ranging from Division Superintendent and Superintendent of Telegraph to President at the time of their service. In their several experiences in railway work they represented all sections of the country, and, from their first railway service to the last, they filled nearly every possible position in the operating department.

The Committee on Transportation of the American Railway Association is now engaged in a revision of the standard code. On the completion of the work of this committee its report will be presented and debated at the full session of the association. When it has been finally acted upon, the completed work will be the result of the labors of the men on the North American Continent who are best qualified to handle it.

Baldness Caused by Barbers?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your correspondent, Frederick Thomas, certainly appears determined to have "something on the barbers" when he advances "too frequent visits to the barber" as the cause of baldness. And just when a tonsorial strike is on, too!

Must we now relinquish the time-honored theory that our thatches, like lawns, are rendered better by trimming or close cropping?

Frederick Thomas asserts in substantiation of his idea that we "never see bald-headed women." No, Frederick, not on your life; the women wouldn't let you. But, Frederick, do you really suppose that all the hair you see on women is kept there by nature? J. W. E.

Reckless Fire Chiefs.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have for years noticed the dangerous speed used by Fire Chiefs. Is it not better to let a building burn a few moments longer rather than maim and kill men and women, some of them too old and infirm to get out of the way of the fast-driven car?

Let the Mayor or some one in authority call a halt in this cruel and criminal recklessness. Most of us have relatives old and feeble. Let us insist that they be not ruthlessly exposed to death or injury by some Battalion Chief who drives with no thought or care for the lives of human beings so long as he gets to the fire. A CITIZEN.

The Times's News Accurate.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

As a teacher of current events, it is essential for me to be sure that I obtain the most accurate news of what is going on in the world, so that those who come to me for information may safely receive and retain what they hear.

I find that of all the papers and periodicals that I read your paper is the most helpful. I invariably find the news to be accurate and well edited.

It gives me pleasure to pay this tribute to a paper which commands my respect and admiration. CORA WELLES TROW.

THE WEDDING HIM.

Yes—
John had a brain like molasses;
His hair grew in heathery masses;
  His iris was green
  And his whiskers between
Pine needles and decadent grasses.

But—
Since he'd no fathers nor mothers
Nor cousins nor sisters nor brothers—
  In all this broad nation
  Not one blanked relation—
She grabbed him and passed up the others.

TITANIC SUFFERERS CAN PUSH CLAIMS

CAN STAND ON LIABILITY

White Star to Get Benefit of Limitation Must Depend on British, Not American, Law.

Judge Holt handed down yesterday in the Federal District Court a memorandum concerning his recent decision in the Titanic matter, which gives a new angle to the complicated question. On April 21, the Judge upheld the exceptions filed against the petition of the Oceanic Steam Navigation Company for a limitation of liability, by Henry Anderson and William J. Mellor through their attorneys, Hill, Hunt & Betts of 165 Broadway. He held that the American limitation of liability could not supply, but that the White Star Line must accept the British law on the subject.

He has now decided that this decision applies only to the two excepthants, Anderson and Mellor, and has no effect with regard to the many other Titanic claimants who did not file exceptions. The limitation of liability proceedings are still in force as regards their claims. The court's memorandum reads:

"The direction at the end of the opinion filed, that the petition is dismissed, of course can only apply to the exceptants, Mellor and Anderson. Those parties, who do not wish the petition dismissed, are entiled to be heard and to assert their claims by any proceedings under the petition which they may be advised to take.

"I think on consideration that the order should provide that the petitioners have leave to amend their petition within twenty days; that, if no such amendment be made, the petition be dismissed as to the exceptants, Mellor and Anderson only. That if an appeal be taken within twenty days the injunction shall continue until the final determination of the appeal, ad that, if no such appeal be taken, the injunction shall be vacated as to the exceptants, Mellor and Anderson only. An order to the above effect may be presented."

At the offices of Hunt, Hill & Betts, it was explained, that this memorandum seemed to be in favor of those sufferers by the Titnaic disaster who had not brought suit against the White Star Line, but had filed claims in accordance with the direction of the Federal Court in the limitation of liability proceedngs. Since after the expiration of a year from the disaster they cannot now begin suit, they must rely entirely on the limitation of liability proceedings and the claims they have brought under it. If Judge Holt's decision in the Mellor and Anderson cases had wiped out the limitation of liability proceedings the filing of their claims would have been wiped out also, but since his memorandum says the Mellor and Anderson decision concerns only their particular cases, the other claimants retain as great a chance of securing damages as though it had never been decided.

Judge Holt also gives the White Star Line the opportunity of amending its petition within twenty days, and this, it was suggested yesterday, amounded to a hint that the company should ask for the application of the British limitation of liability instead of the American. If the company does not care to do this, its petition for a limitation will be dismissed, so far as Mellor and Anderson ar econcerned. It was also decreed in the memorandum that if the White Star Line wished to appeal within twenty days from Judge Holt's dismissal of the petition, the injunction against the proceeding with suits against the company should hold good until the appeal be finally settled, but that if no appeal was taken Mellor and Anderson alone would have the right to press their suits for damages.

CHURCH IN SOCIAL SERVICE.

Southern Baptists to Co-operate with the Northern Branch.

ST. LOUIS, May 19.—The Southern Baptist Convention decided before final adjournment shortly after noon to-day to enter social service work, and appointed a commission of seven for that purpose, which will co-operate with the committee from the Northern Baptist Convention already engaged in this work.

The commission includes W. L. Potat of Greenville, S. C.; Z. T. Cody of Greenville, S. C.; T. B. Ray of Richmond, Va.; J. T. Henderson of Bristol, Va.; A. C. Crea of Atlanta, and Boyce Watkins and J. N. Prestridge of Louisville.

A. J. Dickinson of Birmingham said that Baptists could not afford longer to keep out of social service work. Since the enactment of Federal laws preventing women from being transported from one State to another for immoral purposes, he said, the social evil had become more than a local question. He said the segregated district of Birmingham contaminated the entire State of Alabama in that all women there were recruited from Alabama. Similar conditions, he said, prevailed in other Southern States.

The Rev. A. J. Barton of Dallas, Texas, reported for the Temperance Committee that the passage of the Webb bill by the National Congress was the greatest victory for temperance in a half century.

The convention went on record as favoring the endowment of a seminary in Louisville to train negro preachers, and appointed a committee of seven to work out the details.

DR. JORDAN RESIGNS POST.

Becomes Leland Stanford's Chancellor—Will Take Up Work for Peace.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., May 19.—Dr. David Starr Jordan, President of Leland Stanford Junior University, resigned his position to-day to accept the office of Chancellor, which will be created by the Board of Trustees next Friday for his especial benefit. The announcement was made to-day by Dr. Jordan.

John Caspar Branner, Professor of Geology since 1890, Vice President of the university, will become President.

President Jordan's retirement as active head of the university will leave him free to devote his time to work in behalf of world peace in connection with the Carnegie Foundation. He will receive the same salary that he is drawing now.

His brief announcement was followed by an explanatory statement by Prof. John M. Stillman of the department of chemstry.

"For twenty-two years," he said, "Dr. Jordan has been the inspiration of Stanford University. What it is due largely to his high ideals, his breadth of view, and his warmth of sympathy."

Prof. Branner, the new President, who has been at Stanford since 1892, is a life-long friend of Dr. Jordan.

MUSIC SOOTHES IN 'MY LITTLE FRIEND'

With a story that is a little off the musical comedy beaten track, a book that is not entirely without a suggestion of humor, and many of those softly insinuating melodies which have made the name of "The Chocolate Soldier" composer a household word, "My Little Friend" promises to have a very satisfying career. It will be best liked because of its music, which is unusually pleasant, but when there are some eliminations, notably of a prologue, which is mostly tedious, and a quickening of the general action by principals who appeared last night to have too great respect for their individual "ifs, ands, and buts," this newest importation promises to be generally satisfying.

As it is presented at the New Amsterdam now it has the advantages of at least one unusually good voice, as well as one comedian who knows how to be consistently and legitimately funny without resort to horse play.

The voice belongs to Miss Leila Hughes, a very nice-looking little blonde person, who has improved amazingly in singing and acting since that short time ago when she made her appearance on Broadway in "The Two Little Brides." In the present piece she is again a wearer of orange blossoms, which, considering the fact that she is a florist by profession, suggests a consideration of economy not ordinarily to be expected in the gay bohemian set wherein she is first encountered.

For Philine, this little florist, is loved and wedded by Fernand Artois, whose father, an impoverished nobleman, has quite another plan. This plan, a marriage with the daughter of a rich bourgeoise person, is frustrated at the last moment by Fernand's non-appearance at a wedding ceremony in anticipation of which event numerous friends and relatives have assembled, bearing gifts, most of which take the form of spaghetti scissors.

As June is near, this will provide a useful hint to the many persons hitherto wedded to the idea of clocks and fish knives as the only suitable gifts for such occasions which, perhaps, has nothing to do with the case of Fernand and Philine, who find themselves ultimately sent on a honeymoon with a liberal allowance of money, the gift of two silly old fathers who haven't the slightest idea that they are thereby conniving at the very thing which they are so anxious to prevent.

With just a soupcon of naughtiness to give it a flavor, the story of "My Little Friend" provides, then, enough variety in character and incident to serve as a background for the music, which is, after all, the main thing. Hardly a number failed to justify the occasional encores allowed by the admirable De Novellis in the conductor's chair. And there was plenty of reason for the numerous repetitions of "No Journey's Too Far for a Lover," capitally given by Mr. Kent and Miss Hughes, and "My Little Friend," which brought Miss Hughes repeated and voluminous rounds of applause.

To contrast with these richly sentimental numbers there is a lively "Spring Song," a duo, "What You Don't Know Will Do You No Harm"; a quartette, "Marriage Is Not What It Used to Be," and several others with an expressed variety in the scoring which convey a sense of the composer's versatility. And though the company as a whole is not distinguished the music fares not badly. Besides Miss Hughes, Miss Juanita Fletcher, Mr. Kent, Mr. Angelo, and Mr. Pruette each contribute something in this respect, and Miss Reba Dale, though she has more verve than voice, is a good foil as the lively friend of the more pastel Miss Hughes.

Most of the opportunities for fun fall to the lot of Mr. Charles Walton, and his quiet, unctious, easy method provides an agreeable change. He characterizes his rôles, and, in a sense, does not depart from the strict letter of them, though the necessity for following song cues always makes it impossible for a comedian in this type of work to be strictly true to the rôle he is playing.

Harry McDonough provides an occasional amusing moment. Mr. Hogarth does a bit neatly, and the various Irenes, Maudes, Veras, Marcias, Dorothys, Violets, and Violas help to provide the pulchritudinous dressing without which no entertainment of this sort is regarded as complete.

William R. Leigh's Pictures on View

The annual exhibition of paintings by William R. Leigh, which is still on view at the Snedecor Galleries, includes a number of studies of animals which show how the artist looks at his subject with the analytic instinct of the portrait painter. His dogs especially are individuals with sharply defined and striking characteristics, and his horses have not only impetuosity and energy, but genuine personality. It is the same feeling that is shown in the delineation of the little pickaninny loafing on the hillside, which once won him a gold medal, sympathy with character untrammeled by the sophistications of civilization. Mr. Leigh left shortly after the opening of his exhibition for a bear hunt in Wyoming, and afterward is to visit the Blackfeet, the "finest riding Indians in America."

FOUR CHRISTENINGS.

Sons of Arnolds and Zimmermans and Willets Twins.

There have been several christenings of interest within the last few days. On Sunday the young sons of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. C. Arnold and Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Zimmerman were baptized by the Rev. Dr. Jowett in the chapel of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, the ceremony taking place directly after the morning service.

Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Zimmerman are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. Frederick Frothingham of 10 East Fifty-eighth Street. Mrs. Arnold's son was born on Feb. 22 last, and Mrs. Zimmerman's boy three weeks later. The infants received the names of Richard Cameron Arnold and Robert Weaver Zimmerman.

The twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. Macy Willets (Miss Gladys A. Bloodgood) were christened yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Willets home, the Rev. Herbert Shipman of the Church of the Heavenly Rest officiating. They are four months old, and were named Julia Kennedy Willets and Mary Gladys Willets. Mrs. Ponsonby Ogle, Miss Madeleine Cook, and Hildreth K. Bloodgood acted as sponsors for the former, while Miss Elizabeth Hoyt and Miss Dorothy Fowler were godmothers for the latter, with Howard Willets as godfather.

There will be a recital on May 22 at Studio Hall, by Florence Mulholland, contralto, assisted by Edna Dunham, soprano, Sara Gurowitsch, 'cello, and Alois Tranka, violin, with Bernadine Kleckhoefer, accompanist.

Because of the demand for places at the dinner to the "Founders of Opera for the People" on Thursday night, the City Club Committee is considering holding the affair at Sherry's, instead of the City Club.

HAMMERSTEIN TILTS AT METROPOLITAN

Will Go Ahead with Operatic Plans, He Says, Despite His 1910 Contract.

INVITES TEST IN COURT

Will Give Opera at "$6 a Seat in Any Language," His Answer to Metropolitan Warning.

A sound like the distant rumble of heavy artillery was heard about Times Square early last evening, and reporters seeking to trace the source of the sound were led to the private office of Oscar Hammerstein, in the Victoria Theatre, arriving just in time to hear the impresario fire his first gun in an operatic war with the Metropolitan Opera Company. It was in the form of an open letter in reply to one he had received from the Metropolitan.

The Metropolitan letter, signed by Rawlins L. Cottenet, Secretary of the company, said that its object was to take the precaution of reminding Mr. Hammerstein of the contract he had made with it on April 16, 1910, which it construed as preventing his producing grand opera in New York for ten years.

"We also notify you," the letter said, "that if your intentions are correctly reported in the public press and you take steps to carry out these intentions, we shall, at the proper time, institute the necessary legal proceedings for the enforcement of the above-mentioned contract."

This is the first time it has positively been said by the Metropolitan Opera Company, as far as the public knows, that it would oppose the latest plans of Oscar Hammerstein. In his answer the impresario makes it no less plain that he will fight any movement it may make to stop him. His letter follows:

New York, May 19.

Metropolitan Opera Company, New York City:

R. L. Cottenet, Secretary:

Gentlemen: Your registered letter of the 15th I have received. Your reference to my communication some months ago was wholly unnecessary. I have not forgotten the raw, if not uncouth, way in which you responded to my request made in terms of deference and gentility.

I was fully cognizant of my rights; I did not need your consent to my object, but inasmuch as the public had been informed by you time and again that I had obtained from you a fabulous sum of money for my retirement (?) from the operatic field, and as I did not desire to bring this phase of my contract into controversy, I pocketed the gratuitous insult for the time being.

The second part of your letter is partly funny, partly impertinent; it is somewhat in the sense that if a man attempts to steal your wife, "caution him."

Delicately, you rouse me from what you probably consider a state of somnambulism and try to awaken me by a gentle reminder that there exists a contract dated April 16, 1910; correct, the late of the calamity is April 16, 1910. You say that if my intentions are correctly reported in the public press, and I take steps to carry out these intentions, you will, at the proper time institute the necessary legal proceedings.

Without wishing to be considered flippant, I cannot help but remark that from a nautical standpoint, your exhortations are rather fishy.

Division of Territory.

The contract you refer to you broke before the ink was dry. The fundamental intent and purpose, the whole morale, undisputably embodied in this contract, was a division of territory for grand opera purposes. I was to leave New York, Philadelphia, Boston, and Chicago to you. You were to leave the rather narrow field outside of these cities to me. The wording of the whole, constructed by your clever attorneys, were for the purpose of evading the Sherman act. Immediately after signing of the contract, you arranged and contracted to give opera in a dozen or more cities annually at longer or shorter periods; and when last Fall I made an effort to make use of my privilege, form a circuit of opera houses and the presentation of grand opera, I found my territory occupied by you.

The conduct of grand opera is my profession. You are trying to take from me the power to execute the same. For the concessions I made you paid me nothing. You bought the great Philadelphia Opera House, costing me, bills of cost rendered, $1,250,000, paying me $800,000 after deducting a mortgage of $400,000. This is the only sum of money I received from you; without any further payment, but as a computation of value ceding me the territory outside of New York, Philadelphia, Boston, and Chicago, I gave you $360,000 worth of costumes and scenery, sole rights of production rights of operas worth $200,000, and all the contracts of world-renowned artists, worth hundreds of thousands of dollars, in addition.

Not contented with all this, you induced my son, Arthur, to be a party to this agreement, in which you bar him from being interested in grand opera for a term of ten years, for no consideration whatever.

I was mortally ill in Europe when this contract was in conference and concluded by my son, without previous notice to me.

I am not pleading the baby act; for forty years I have been connected with mercantile and artistic ventures on a gigantic scale, and never have I been accused of having broken a contract, or not having paid one hundred cents on a dollar, or having premeditatedly wronged a human being. It is a matter of musical history and public record that in all affairs operatically you have been aping me; just for once ape me in my preservation and execution of a contract.

In your Jesuitic letter you refer to the proper time in which you will take legal action.

The proper time is now, right now; you must not hesitate; you must not hide behind a plea of insufficient evidence. I will help you. Here it is!

Going Ahead With Plans.

I have purchased the Lexington Avenue property in my name; I am erecting an opera house on the same in my name; I intend to devote it exclusively to grand opera all the year round. I have made and I am making contracts with great artists for this and sole purpose in my name. I intend to devote the edifice solely to a permanent institution for grand opera in English at $3 the highest. You, twenty-four hours after my announcement to this effect, announced the creation of another institute at $2 the highest. Under the guise of philanthropy, you, nevertheless, solicit alms from the public, inveigling the Mayor and others in public authority to further nothing else but a sinister scheme to destroy my absolutely financially disinterested efforts in a noble cause. Consequently, I will produce grand opera at certain periods at $1—at others at $6 a seat, in any language, excepting one particular one which your conduct deserves, but which is unfit to be printed.

If there is any evidence you need to create the proper time for legal proceedings immediately, it can be had from me for the asking.

In other words, and as a matter of vulgar fact, I have a tumultuous desire to kick you into court, so that in time not too far distant I may experience pleasure unalloyed and joy exotic in seeing you kicked out of it, with aid of Judge impartial and jury most intelligent.

In the meantime, consider yourself dismissed without a bow.

OSCAR HAMMERSTEIN.

The letter seems to hint at one of the grounds on which Mr. Hammerstein may argue that he is not bound to keep out of the operatic field. This is his plea that the agreement was in essence a dividing of territory and that the Metropolitan Company has invaded what was agreed to be his.

HARD ESTATE $1,318,353.

Executors Show It Has Increased $681,715 Since 1906.

MINEOLA, L. I., May 19.—The estate of Sarah Elizabeth Hard, who was the first wife of Anson Wales Hard of the coffee importing firm of Hard & Rand of New York and London, has increased $681,715 in value since May 17, 1906, when the executors, Anson W. Hard, and the two sons-in-law of Mrs. Hard, filed their first accounting.

Mrs. Hard died at her country home in Lawrence, L. I., on March 10, 1905. The trustees in their accounting, filed in the Surrogate's office here to-day, say that they have received from the estate $1,816,979, and have paid out $498,626, which leaves $1,318,353 in their hands still to be disposed of, according to the terms of Mrs. Hard's will. This balance is represented by real estate holdings, stock in many railroads, and securities in other corporations.

Under her will, dated Dec. 2, 1904, Mrs. Hard made her husband a life beneficiary of her estate in trust. After his death her estate was to be divided among the children of their marriage then living.

The residuary estate is to be held in trust by the executors for the husband, to be disposed of by his will. There are four daughters and two sons of Mrs. Hard now living, besides her husband, who lives at Lawrence, L. I.

THEODORE F. MILLER DIES.

Head of Brooklyn Trust Company Suffered Nervous Breakdown.

Theodore Frelinghuysen Miller, President of the Brooklyn Trust Company and a Director in the New York Telephone Company and other organizations, died yesterday morning at his residence, 126 Willow Street, Brooklyn, following a nervous breakdown of several weeks ago. Mr. Miller was born in New York City Sept. 4, 1850. Finishing at the public schools, he was graduated from City College in 1869, and later from the Columbia Law School in 1871. He was admitted to the bar, and after practicing law for a while, became Secretary of the Henry R. Worthington Company, and later resumed his practice.

Since the merger of the Long Island Loan and Trust Company with the Brooklyn Trust Company, Mr. Miller has occupied a prominent position in Brooklyn finances. He had been President of the latter institution for more than thirty years. He was a Trustee of the Brooklyn City Railroad Company and President of the Trust Companies Association of New York. He was a Director in the New York Telephone Company, the New York Title Insurance Company, the New York Mortgage and Security Company, the Brooklyn Savings Bank, as well as a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

He was a member of the Brooklyn, Hamilton, University, Montauk, Riding and Driving, Rembrandt, Marine and Field, and Crescent Athletic Clubs of Brooklyn, the Century, Manhattan, University, Recess, Lawyers', Engineers', Robins Island, and Ardsley Casino Clubs of Manhattan, in addition to the Pilgrims' Society. He was Treasurer of the Beecher Memorial Association.

Mr. Miller leaves his wife, Mrs. Ella L. Moore Miller, whom he married in 1875, and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Muscot of Yonkers.

DOANE FUNERAL TO-DAY.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 19.—Clothed in the robes of his office, the body of William Croswell Doane, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Albany, lies in state in All Saints Cathedral to-day.

Prayers were said at the Bishop's house at 10 o'clock this morning, after which the body was borne by porters to the Cathedral, where it was placed in the chancel. A crucifer, dressed in white, stood at the head of the coffin while the body was lying in state.

The funeral will be held at the Cathedral to-morrow afternoon.

Resolutions for W. R. Griffith.

The Executive Committee of the Broadway Association held a special meeting at the Hotel McAlpin yesterday morning to adopt resolutions on the death of William R. Griffith, a real estate operator of 105 West Fortieth Street, who was killed in an automobile accident at Yonkers. He was an active member of the association and particularly interested in the Times Square problem.

HORACE G. BURT DIES.

Former Head of Union Pacific Railroad Rose from Rodman.

CHICAGO, May 19.—Horace Greeley Burt, former President of the Union Pacific Railroad System and later Chief Engineer for the Chicago Association of Commerce Smoke Abatement Committee, died here to-day. He was 64 years old. Three weeks ago he was operated upon for a malignant growth, and complications which followed caused his death.

Mr. Burt began his railroad career in 1868, and in the Fall of the following year he was rodman on surveys for the construction of the St. Louis, Vandalia & Terre Haute. In 1870 he superintended the location of the Joy railroads in Kansas. He was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1873, and the same year accepted a position with the engineering department of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway, with which system he remained nine years. Later he became Manager of the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley Road and General Manager of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha Railroad. He was elected Vice President of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad in October, 1896, in charge of the traffic department. From 1898 to 1904 he was President of the Union Pacific Railroad.

STOCK COMPANIES OPEN

At Manhattan Opera House, Park, and Mount Morris Theatres.

Three Summer stock companies began their engagements yesterday. At the Manhattan Opera House "The Whip" was replaced by one of these companies, appearing for its third season, and the others were the Corse Payton Stock Company at the Park Theatre and the Mount Morris Stock Company at the Mount Morris Theatre. The play at the Manhattan Opera House was "Alias Jimmy Valentine." The principal parts were in the hands of Ethel Grey Terry and Sidney Mason, both new to the company. Among the other members are Joseph Byron Totten, Bernard McOwen, Marie Chambers, Carl Gerard, Harriet Ross, George C. Staley, and Sigmund Fischer.

The Corse Payton Company and the Mount Morris organization both chose the same play to make their bows with, "The Butterfly on the Wheel." The Park Theatre play was acted by Corse Payton, Edna Archer Crawford, Claude Payton, William Holden, Edna Earl Andrews, Eugene Frazier, Charlotte Wade Daniel; Edward J. Farrell, Claude Cooper, and Robert J. Robinson. At the Mount Morris Theatre those who appeared were Nance Gwyn, Wilson Melrose, Ernest Wilkes, Hamilton Deane, Selmar Romaine, Paul Schwager, Charles Brokate, Alys Rees, and Catherine Campbell.

FOR MORGAN ART EXHIBIT.

Steers Urges Brooklyn to Try to Obtain Loan of Treasures.

A letter from Borough President Steers of Brooklyn urging that efforts be made to obtain for temporary display in Brooklyn some of the art treasures in the collection left by the late J. Pierpont Morgan will be read to-day at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences.

President Steers proposes that if the loan exhibition can be obtained the art objects be hung in the museum of the Institute on Eastern Parkway.

AUTO UPTURNS; FIVE HURT.

Delaware Sportsman, Pinned Under Doctor's Car, May Die.

Special to The New York Times.

SEAFORD, Del., May 19.—While running on the Speedway between Seaford and Chapel Branch early to-night the touring car of Dr. Thomas F. Cottingham overturned, causing injuries to its five occupants. Harry A. Phillips, a Delaware sportsman, was probably fatally injured; O. E. Willey sustained a fractured wrist and slight internal injuries and G. Earle Donohue received fractured ribs. The other two occupants, Dr. Cottingham, who was driving, and Howard F. Gallaway of Norfolk, Va., were knocked unconscious and have slight scalp wounds.

The car was being driven at about thirty miles an hour when the rear wheel skidded down the round inclination of the road. A quick turn by the driver in trying to regain the road dislodged a rear tire, and the machine swung over. Phillips, who was in the tonneau, was caught under the side. His collarbone was broken and several ribs fractured. He was rushed to the Cambridge Hospital. The car was wrecked.

Marriage and death notices intended for insertion in The New York Times may be telephoned to 1000 Bryant.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Perhaps the most significant feature of yesterday's stock market was the strength of the leading isues in the face of a further severe break in the Frisco group of securities and a sharp decline in the Rock Island issues. In the latter, however, there was a quick recovery that reduced their net losses for the day to fractions. Advances in the major issues while these other stocks, particularly the Frisco issues, which were the centre of the day's market discussion, were declining, suggested that the general liquidation had for the time being run its course and had left the list as a whole in a position of considerable strength. This at all events was the conclusion which seemed reasonably deducible from the day's stock market record. The immediate cause of the selling of the Frisco issues appeared to be information which has circulated in the last day or two that negotiations between the Frisco and another large system for the sale of a half-interest in the Chicago & Eastern Illinois, one of the lines controlled by the St. Louis & San Fransisco, had failed. Some of the holders of the securities who were familiar with these negotiations and had regarded them as promising much advantage to the Frisco were said yesterday to have recently become sellers of the stock, which selling precipitated the decline of the past two days. This may well have been accelerated by bear pressure exerted against those issues which have not enjoyed a very wide market. It was said at the close of the day that provision had been made for the shortly maturing obligations of the St. Louis & San Francisco, which are not large in amount. This information served to offset the rumors which circulated when the decline in the road's securities was at its height.

Had it not been for the spectacular movements in this one group of stocks yesterday's trading would have passed with little notice. The chief topic of discussion in the financial district was the probable outcome of to-day's New York City bond sale. With the opening of the bids so near at hand whatever doubt had been entertained by some in the financial district regarding the success of the sale seemed to be dismissed and the consensus of banking opinion as well as the premium which was still quoted on the new bonds in the "when issued" price established in the curb market indicated that the response to the offer will be sufficiently broad fully to cover the issue at some premium. Of more than that the bond market did not feel altogether sure and it is in a mood, therefore, to be agreeably surprised should the price bid for the issue exceed expectations. The European markets are supplying a somewhat similar test of the state of the investment market in the flotation of the international Chinese loan, the London share of which is being offered to-day at 90. The outcome of these two investment offerings should supply some fresh data regarding the status of the capital market.

It may fairly be assumed that the impending reductions in import duties account in substantial degree for the falling off of over $18,000,000 in the April imports of merchandise compared with a year ago. The exports for that month, as was foreshadowed by the excellent showing made in the agricultural export statement issued last week, increased over last April by more than $20,000,000, giving us a credit trade balance for the month more than three times as large as that which last April's trade yielded and the largest excess of exports ever recorded for the month. The $55,600,000 excess of exports in April brings the total excess of exports for the nine months of the fiscal year up to $561,900,000. That is a credit trade balance which has only twice been exceeded in the corresponding period of previous years and it is greater than the credit trade balance of any full year in the past with the exceptions of 1898, 1901 and 1908. Another two months with credit trade balances as large as April's would establish a new high record in the country's foreign trade. Even if that should not be attained it seems practically assured that the excess of exports this fiscal year will approach very closely the record merchandise trade balance of 1908. That was produced as a result of exports which were stimulated and of imports which were restricted by the financial and commercial disturbances of the preceding Autumn. No such untoward influences are contributing to the very excellent trade showing which the country is now making. This bespeaks a very favorable position for the United States in the international exchanges and makes it plainer than ever that the gold which we have been losing will probably in the long run prove to be establishing a credit against which we shall be in position to draw at a later day. It has been the necessities of the French market rather than obligations of our own which have brought about this latest gold movement. The advance of a full half-point in the prices of rentes which occurred yesterday, carrying them more than one point above their recent low price, suggested underlying improvement in the position of the Paris market.

Reports Providence Bank Insolvent.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—R. L. Curtis, receiver of the Atlantic National Bank of Providence, closed by its Directors several weeks ago, reported today that he had found the bank insolvent, and that it would be necessary to wind up its affairs by receivership.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

The City's Problem.

It is not the buyer's place to wax eloquent over the merits of the article offered him. Each year on the eve of the sale of city bonds most of the dealers who plan to bid for part of the issue pull a long face and say that they look for a very low price for the issue. They don't expect to convince any one else that they are not going to submit an offer, but there seems to be a tacit understanding that every one should assume a serious look, with the idea of preparing the public for the disappointment that is sure to follow the opening of the bids. For this reason, perhaps, forebodings heard yesterday were not taken seriously. At the same time there was no disposition on the part of bankers to grow enthusiastic over the outlook. Investment conditions are so bad just now that railroads and industrial corporations that would like to dispose of bonds have been advised to cut down their requirements and sell one-year notes. The new city bonds have a big advantage over corporation issues, however. They can be used up to 30 per cent as security for Government deposits, and they are well suited for holding by banks, many of which will shortly have to reinvest money coming due on short-term securities. Investment brokers derived some satisfaction from the moderation of the city in deciding to raise only $45,000,000 this year. Last year it took $65,000,000, and in the year before, $60,000,000. Ordinarily, a block of $45,000,000 of New York City bonds paying 4½ per cent, would be taken at a single bite by institutions alone.

Those City Bond Certificates.

The Stock Exchange authorities are saying very little about the prospects of having the forthcoming city bond issue listed on the board, but sentiment is as strong as ever against admitting securities not engraved by the American Bank Note Company. The Exchange has seen two issues of corporate stock, each larger than the one to be put out to-day, pass to the Curb, and there have been heard no official expressions of regret, although, as a prominent member said recently, the matter is still a sore subject. It is the practice of the city officials to withhold calls for bids on the engraving work until the success or non-success of the offering is assured and, heretofore, temporary certificates have been admitted to trading shortly after sales have taken place. When the definitive certificates of the $60,000,000 issue of 1911 and the $65,000,000 sale of 1912 were substituted for the temporary certificates the Exchange immediately called a halt to further transactions, and the Street expects the same thing will happen this year unless the American company's bid is low enough to obtain the engraving contract.

Trading Out of Hours.

A rumor, built on an apparently stable foundation, was heard in the Street yesterday to the effect that a petition had been prepared with the signatures of more than 100 Stock Exchange members attached which informed the Governors that some of their associates on the Board were doing business outside of the prescribed hours. A fine of $50 is specified for the infringement of the rule of the Exchange against trading except in the official session, and the Law Committee has prior jurisdiction in investigating charges that the rule is being broken. The Law Committee has never been a fruitful source of information on matters which have not been sifted to the bottom, so there was no confirmation of the report forthcoming of an official sort, and the members who were said to have appended their names to the document were not willing to discuss the charges from any angle. In other periods of slow, dragging business efforts of impatient members to make a little money at less than the fixed rate per hundred shares have frequently been reported to the worriment of the authorities.

An Eye on the Ground.

When Wall Street is cheerful James J. Hill has a habit of calling its attention to a few clouds which may portend a storm. That got him the name of pessimist a few years back and some people have never learned that the title was undeserved. Recently Mr. Hill's visits to this city have been made at a time when Wall Street was feeling very much discouraged, and he has talked of the brighter things in sight. When bankers and brokers get frightened at the prospect of a war among the powers Mr. Hill tells them about the new crops pushing their way out of the rich soil in the Northwest. If he keeps on being so cheerful when Wall Street is in the depths he is likely to get the reputation of being a confirmed optimist. The railroad builder said yesterday that he was not disturbed over the outlook and prevailing conditions. "When a country can produce ten billion dollars' worth of products from the ground, a creation of wealth from elemental conditions, there is not much cause to worry," he said.

A Contrast of Earning Power.

The annual reports of the Eureka and Cumberland Pipe Line Companies supplied a striking commentary on the oil business through a contrast of their incomes for the year. The Cumberland Company's pipe system is about 100 miles longer than the Eureka's combined lines, but it taps sections of Kentucky, West Virginia, and Tennessee, which are not nearly as rich in petroleum deposits as the parts of West Virginia where the Eureka lines operate. In consequence, the larger system was able to bring in no more than 9 per cent. of profit on its capital while the other earned nearly 53 per cent. in 1912. The March run of the Cumberland Company comprised 39,194 barrels, against 906,441 barrels for the Eureka lines, as reported from the operating territory.

Extending Educational Work.

The work of the Stock Exchange in educating the public along lines friendly instead of inimical toward Wall Street and its functions has expanded so that the Library Bureau has been forced to enlarge its quarters. The room on the fifth floor, which has been occupied for a number of years by Central Office detectives, through the courtesy of the Exchange, was taken over by the bureau yesterday, and another was assigned to the minions of the law near by. Appliances for preparing much printed matter will be installed with elaborate filing systems.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

William F. Fitzsimmons has been elected Assistant Secretary of the Broadway Trust Company. Mr. Fitzsimmons was formerly with the Aetna National Bank.

Bedell & Co., investment bankers, of Providence, R. I., have prepared for distribution a quarterly bulletin on prominent public utility properties.

Thomas M. McKee, member of the New York Stock Exchange, and William H. Schubert have formed the brokerage firm of Thomas M. McKee & Co., with H. Sellers McKee as a special partner. The new firm has taken over the offices of E. C. Potter & Co., at 36 Wall Street and 500 Fifth Avenue.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Curb Stocks Are Dull—Price Changes Small—New York City Bonds Active.

Transactions in unlisted stocks yesterday were again in small volume. What few price changes occurred were advances. New York City new 4½ per cent. bonds were actively traded in between 100⅝ and 100 7-16. The final sale, at 100½, showed a net loss of 1-16, after sales of $250,000.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

Political Situation, Monetary Uncertainty, and Chinese Loan Factors in Weakness.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Tuesday, May 20.—The Times in its City article to-day will say:

"There was a good demand for money yesterday. Rates for day-to-day advances on short fixtures rose slightly. The discount market opened weak, but became very firm later. The Bank will probably receive the bulk of South African bar gold this week. Continental exchanges moved in favor of London as a rule, but Berlin fell ½ pfennig.

"Business was almost at a standstill in the stock markets. The tone was dull. The gravity of the situation arising out of the Alien Land bill passed by the California Legislature and fears of labor troubles on the Great Northern Railway were the chief reasons for the dull tone, and there was an impression that there would be very little fresh business until the Chinese loan was out of the way. In the American market there was a heavy fall, followed by a partial recovery, in Rock Island shares, and most securities in which Continental operators were interested were subjected to some selling pressure."

PARIS, May 19.—Prices were irregular on the Bourse to-day.

Three per cent rentes 85 francs 87½ centimes for the account.

BERLIN, May 19.—Unfavorable iron trade reports and the monetary situation caused a weak opening on the Boerse to-day.

FRISCO SHARES BREAK.

A sharp break in all of the securities of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad yesterday brought rumors of financial difficulties in connection with the maturity of $2,250,000 of two-year notes which fall due on June 1. While no statement could be obtained from the management, it was said in quarters familiar with the company's affairs that money for meeting the maturing notes was in the company's treasury.

The Frisco issues attracted sudden attention by their pronounced weakness in Saturday's market, and the opening yesterday was watched with considerable interest. The only sale of the first preferred was 100 shares at 35, drop of 12 points. The second preferred opened at 16¾ and sold down to 12, closing at 15. The common opened at 9, broke to 5½, and recovered to 9 again, but at that figure it showed a loss of 1⅝.

When the divorce between the Rock Island and the Frisco was effected in December, 1909, a syndicate composed of National City Bank interests, Edwin Hawley, B. F. Yoakum, and others, took over the $28,940,000 of common stock held by the Rock Island. There was a story on the Stock Exchange yesterday that a member of this group had been compelled to liquidate his holdings, and that arrangements had been made by a banking house to take over the common stock at 6 and the second preferred at 12. It was also reported that the Hawley estate had closed out its Frisco holdings.

The company's refunding 4s sold from 71 at the opening down to 69, and the general 5s from 74½ to 73. Inquiry at the Frisco offices brought forth no explanation of the weakness. Bankers who have handled most of the Frisco's financing said that the sale in Paris a few weeks ago of $3,000,000 in bonds had provided for immediate needs, and that they understood that arrangements for meeting the $2,250,000 Chicago & Eastern Illinois collateral notes had been made. It is expected that part of these will be paid off and the balance extended.

It was learned yesterday that the St. Louis & San Francisco had been negotiating with the Chicago, St. Paul & Milwaukee for the sale of a half interest in the Chicago & Eastern Illinois.

OIL TRUST SHOWS MISSOURI.

Standard Promises Big Outlay if Allowed to Operate in State.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 19.—Representatives of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana put in the day here trying to show why the company should not be ousted from Missouri as a trust, and the hearing here was adjourned, to be resumed to-morrow at Jefferson City.

The testimony related to the improvements the company proposed to make in its property in the State in order to expand its business. The hearing was before John S. Montgomery, Special Commissioner for the Supreme Court, and was a continuation of the inquiry begun in Chicago last week. The company's officials said they contemplated local improvements costing $1,500,000.

Colorado Fuel to Vote on Transfer.

The Executive Committee of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company has called a special meeting of stockholders for June 17 to vote upon the question of authorizing, in accordance with the laws of Colorado, a transfer of all the real estate of the company to the Colorado Industrial Company for the consideration of $14,067,000 debenture bonds of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company. The debentures will be canceled. They are held by the New York Trust Company.

PLANS TO IMPROVE NEW JERSEY ROADS

Nearly $600,000 to be Expended in Essex County—Auto Law Changes.

Road improvement in New Jersey which will benefit the motorists, is foreshadowed by the approval of the Board of Freeholders of Essex County of a plan to expend some $579,000 on five of the principal thoroughfares of that county. The roads which are affected by the plan are Bloomfield Avenue from the Newark City line to the Montclair line, a distance of two and one-half miles, which is to be paved with granite block at a cost of $162,000; Washington Avenue from the Newark City line to Centre Street, Nutley, nearly two miles, which is to be paved with the same material at a cost of $78,000; Central Avenue from Newark through East Orange and Orange to Centre Street, West Orange, to be paved with a bitulithic material, and from Centre Street to Valley Road, to be paved with concrete at a cost of about $126,000. Springfield Avenue, in Irvington, nearly two miles long, is to be repaved with granite blocks at a cost of $143,000 approximately, and South Orange Avenue, between South 20th Street, Newark, and the South Orange line is to be paved either with bitulithic or asphalt block. This stretch will cost in the neighborhood of $70,000.

By a law of 1912, in the case of Bloomfield, Washington and Springfield Avenues, one-half the cost must be borne by the counties, 40 per cent. by the State and the remaining 10 per cent. by the municipalities. Before the work is undertaken, the municipalities affected must agree to lay water and sewer pipes in permanent fashion, so that this work will not interfere with the road surface, and the Public Service companies will also have to agree to complete any underground work they may have in contemplation.

Laws favored by Job H. Lippincott, New Jersey's Motor Vehicle Commissioner, recently signed by the Governor, provide that all automobile rear lights shall shine upon the number plates so as to render the numerals visible at a distance of at least fifty feet; that number plates shall not swing; that motor vehicles, enjoying reciprocity privileges from other States, which violate the New Jersey law may have the reciprocity privilege suspended; that Jersey motorists shall use no other markers or identification plates than those supplied by the Motor Vehicle Department; that proceedings may be instituted by police officers other than those attached to the Motor Vehicle Department without filing a bond to secure costs; that police officers are no longer liable for costs in arrests for violations of the Motor Vehicle law and that any constable, police officer or Motor Vehicle Inspector may issue a summons in lieu of arrest.

⁂

A number of city engineers and others interested in street paving in various parts of the country have just had an informal meeting in this city at which resolutions were adopted setting forth that the tariff on asphalt of $3 a ton on refined and $1.50 a ton on crude no longer serves a useful purpose and urging that asphalt be added to the free list in the new tariff bill. It is the contention of these engineers that free asphalt would do much to make the improvement of highways less costly to the taxpayers.

⁂

Thirty-two local automobile men have made application for reservations for the special train which has been engaged by Fred J. Wagner and James C. Nichols to carry enthusiasts to the 500-mile race in Indianapolis on Decoration Day. It is believed that at least a hundred men will make the journey by this means, which will make it possible for them to live on board the train during the stay in Indianapolis. The round trip fare has been set at $60 or $75 for a compartment reservation.

JEWELERS IN BANKRUPTCY.

Smuggling Charge in Canada Is Too Much for Firm Here.

Goldsmith & Willner, wholesale jewelers, went into bankruptcy yesterday. Emanuel Willner, junior member of the firm, is under arrest in Montreal charged by the Canadian authorities with having smuggled diamonds into Canada.

Willner's rooms in Montreal were raided and several cases of gems were confiscated. A petition in bankruptcy here followed his arrest.

BANKS TO TAKE CITY BONDS.

Will Submit an Offer at Par for $45,000,000 Issue.

It was learned last night that the success of the offering to-day of $45,000,000 of New York City 4¼ per cent. bonds had been practically assured by an agreement among several bankers to submit a bid for the entire amount or any part of it. This bid will probably be made at par. The bankers do not expect to get any considerable share of the new bonds at that price, but they will be glad to accept their proportion of those left unsold after the awards at higher figures are made.

Early in the day the opionion was general among some of the leading bond men in the financial district that the offering would be barely covered. The investment market has not been so lifeless in years as it is to-day, and there has been no enthusiasm among dealers over the prospect of a big offering of municipal bonds. It is said that most of the usual bidders will be represented at to-day's sale, but they are not asking for their usual allotment, and they are taking pains to bid so little above par that they will not get more than a small part of what they ask for in the event of the issue being much over-subscribed.

Controller Prendergast has no understanding with any banking syndicate to insure the sale of the entire amount of to-day's offering. J. P. Morgan & Co., who have played an important part in bolstering up the market on two previous occasions when conditions were not favorable to a big offering do not ordinarily deal in municipal issues, and there was some doubt last evening as to whether or not they would be represented by a bid. They may participate in an "all or any part tender. It is said that there may be more than one of these syndicate bids. Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and the National City Bank were mentioned as likely members of such a group, but neither concern would confirm reports that they were interested in a bid for the entire amount.

The new bonds were traded in on the curb yesterday, selling at par and 7-16 and par and ½. It seemed to be the opinion in the financial district yesterday that the city could not hope for better than an average price of 100½, and that a large block of bonds might have to be divided among those offering only 100. The Controller is prohibited by law from selling bonds at less than their par value.

Many New York banks have received requests from out-of-town correspondents asking them to put in bids for them on a basis likely to figure in the awards.

TO INCREASE MINE STOCK.

Dome Mines Co. Proposes to Advance Capital Issue.

Stockholders of the Dome Mines Company, Ltd., will hold a special meeting in Toronto on May 27 to vote upon a proposal to increase the capital stock from $3,500,000 to $5,000,000 through the authorization of 150,000 new shares. It is planned by the Directors, if favorable action is taken, to offer 50,000 shares to present shareholders on a pro rata basis at par. The proceeds from the balance not taken by the shareholders, as sold from time to time, will be used for the sole purpose of financing additions or extensions of the company's plant.

In a circular to stockholders President Ambrose Monell says that every effort should now be made toward dealing with large tonnage.

'Change Seat for Benefit of Creditors

Judge Holt directed yesterday in the Federal District Court the New York Stock Exchange to pay to Edward G. Benedict, receiver in bankruptcy, of the estate of Mitchell & Co., stockbrokers, the $41,000 received for the sale of the Exchange seat held by J. Murray Mitchell before the firm became bankrupt. This decision ends a long period of litigation. Mr. Mitchell belonged as well to the bankrupt firm of Alexander & Co., and the receivers for that firm also claimed the money. The money has been kept aside from the assets of both houses.

Tape Printers Are Not Printing Presses—Other Decisions.

The Board of United States General Appraisers yesterday rejected protests by the Levy & Levis Company on narrow tape printing mechanisms for printing names and advertising matter on tapes for tieing parcels.

Collector Loeb assessed 45 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 199, Tariff act of 1909, as manufactures of metal. The importers contended that the mechanisms were printing presses under Paragraph 197 and dutiable at 30 per cent. Judge Fischer decided.

The board sustained A. & H. Veith regarding the classification under the present law, of steel stampings, taxed at 45 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 199, as manufactures of metal. The firm established the goods to be dutiable under Paragraph 131, as pressed, sheared, or stamped shapes of steel, at specific rates according to value.

Leather merchants were overruled in a case affecting skins, dressed, finished, embossed, or gauffered, assessed at 13 per cent. under Paragraph 451, act of 1909, plus 10 per cent. ad valorem under the proviso to the same paragraph. Various contentions for lower duty were advanced. The importers included Kronfeld, Saunders & Co., E. U. Connett, R. F. Downing & Co., and H. Bischoff & Co.

UNCLE SAM'S "TRADE TIPS."

Opportunities for Business Pointed Out in Consular Bulletins.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Attention of merchants and manufacturers was called by the Department of Commerce to-day to the daily publication of notes on "trade opportunities," collected by American Consuls and Consular Agents. In a special circular the department sets forth the value of these commercial "tips."

"In some instances," says the department, "as the result of the publicity given to these 'opportunities,' additional export trade to the amount of thousands of dollars has resulted from a single trade item."

The items are published in The Daily Consular Report.

NO TERMINAL OVERCHARGE.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—In a case involving freight rates on ice from Wisconsin points to Chicago, the Inter-State Commerce Commission to-day held, in effect, that a railroad was not warranted in exacting increased rates merely because it had not direct facilities for delivering the shipments. The Soo Line has no terminal facilities in Chicago.

"If it cannot afford to pay for terminal service," the commission announced, "it will doubtless have to retire from competitive traffic. It may not, either by itself or in conjunction with other carriers, maintain unreasonable or unjustly discriminatory charges."

Central Wants Lien Extended.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 19.—The New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company has made application to the Public Service Commission for authority to execute a mortgage extending the lien of the mortgage dated June 1, 1897, from the New York Central to the Central Trust Company of New York to secure a $100,000,000 bond issue. The mortgage is to cover properties recently acquired.

SCHWAB IN DEFENSE OF THE STEEL TRUST

NO RAIL POOL, HE SAYS

Corey Testified to the Contrary—Tells of Speech Which Got Morgan to Form Steel Corporation.

Charles M. Schwab, who, it has always been understood, left the Presidency of the United States Steel Corporation, like William Ellis Corey, not without some ruffling of feelings, and who is now President of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, one of its largest competitors, gave the combination a clean bill of health yesterday as a witness in the suit for its dissolution.

In doing so, he took issue squarely with some of the statements made by Mr. Corey in his testimony, although Mr. Corey also upheld in the main the contention that the Steel Corporation was not an attempt to monopolize or control the industry.

Mr. Schwab, with whom the late J. P. Morgan first discussed the project of forming the Steel Corporation, said that the suppression of competition had never been mentioned between them, and that the whole purpose was to integrate the various processes of production and lines of product, to make economies and to build up a foreign trade. While admitting freely his own activities in forming pools before the days of the Steel Corporation and his participation in one or two afterward, he declared he had never heard of an international rail pool, such as Mr. Corey understood was in existence. He knew of no domestic rail pool since the Steel Corporation was formed.

As to the plate pool, which Mr. Corey said Judge Gary knew all about and had attended meetings of, Mr. Schwab said he himself had represented the Steel Corporation at such meetings, and that he was sure that Judge Gary had never been present and knew nothing of the pool's existence. Nothing had been said, he declared, at the Gary dinners about fixing prices or output, and nothing of the kind resulted.

The policy of the Steel Corporation, said Mr. Schwab, had never been to stifle competition, and its treatment of labor had been vastly beneficial.

Judge Gary was an interested auditor throughout Mr. Schwab's examination and looked pleased as Mr. Schwab denied one contention after another that the Government had raised concerning the Steel Corporation and its Chairman. Mr. Schwab testified with the same candid manner and boyish light-heartedness that he showed before the Stanley Committee, frequently causing laughter by his naive admissions of practices years ago that are decidedly taboo now.

Mr. Schwab told again of the inception of the Steel Corporation and of previous efforts on the part of Andrew Carnegie to sell out. He brought out one point that had not been told before when he said that Henry C. Frick first tried to sell the Carnegie Steel Company to the Standard Oil interests through H. H. Rogers. Mr. Frick had for some time an option on the works. Mr. Schwab mentioned in his testimony before the Ways and Means Committee of Congress a few years ago that he had tried to sell to somebody else before he undertook to buy himself with the aid of W. H. Moore, but declined to give the name of the person with whom Mr. Frick was dealing, assuring the committee that it was somebody not in the steel business. Yesterday he gave the name of Mr. Rogers, acting for the Standard Oil Company.

Start of the Steel Trust.

Mr. Frick's second attempt to sell the property to himself, Judge Moore and others for $320,000,000 was a failure, like the first, and it was some time later that the matter came to Mr. Morgan's attention through Mr. Schwab. At a dinner given to Mr. Schwab at the University Club in 1899 by J. Edward Simmons and Charles Stewart Smith Mr. Schwab made a speech arguing that the limit of economy in production had been reached and that future progress lay in the direction of manufacturing all the various products under one management and in extending foreign trade.

Mr. Morgan, who sat next to Mr. Schwab at the dinner, talked with him afterward at length, and a little later, through John W. Gates, then at the head of the Illinois Steel Company, invited him to a conference which included these three and Robert Bacon, after which Mr. Schwab got an option from Mr. Carnegie and closed the sale to J. P. Morgan & Co. at the same figure, $320,000,000.

Richard V. Lindabury, chief counsel for the Steel Corporation, asked Mr. Schwab what the policy had been toward labor while he was President, and from his observations as a competitor since that time.

"Its policy," said Mr. Schwab, "has been the best possible. There has been a gradual increase in wages ever since the Steel Corporation was formed. We felt at the outset that so large a combination might be subjected to public criticism for any unfavorable treatment of labor. Besides paying higher wages, the Steel Corporation has made a better distribution of wages. Where certain classes of workmen had been underpaid, as compared with others, they were brought up to their proper proportion. The whole situation in regard to labor has been vastly improved, not only in the Steel Corporation, but in the employ of other manufacturers, who have been obliged to follow suit. There has been less disposition to reduce wages in times of depression than formerly and this improvement has continued since I left the Steel Corporation in 1903.

"Its policy toward competitors from the beginning was not one of endeavoring to stifle or destroy. The policy was to name prices openly through the trade journals and to stick to these prices. There were probably exceptions in minor cases to very large competitors, but that was the general policy. So far as I know from the standpoint of a competitor, the same policy has been followed since my time."

"Have you ever known of a case," asked Mr. Lindabury, "where the Steel Corporation sought to drive out a competitor or to take a customer away from another manufacturer by cutting prices?"

"Never," replied Mr. Schwab emphatically.

Price Cutting in Old Days.

Mr. Schwab laughed cheerfully.

"When I was President of the Carnegie Steel Company," he said, "what was known as the Carnegie method was just about the opposite. We tried to secure as much business as possible, regardless of price. It was pretty hard on competitors."

Mr. Schwab was asked whether, when he was President of the Steel Corporation, he had any knowledge of the Jackson wire pools or the connection of the American Steel & Wire Company, a subsidiary, with them. The Government has tried hard to prove that the executive officers, including Judge Gary, knew of these pools, which were broken up a couple of years ago with the indictment and fine of those involved. Mr. Schwab said he knew nothing of the Jackson pools, except that E. E. Jackson, their supervisor, had once called on him and explained his method of operating them.

"I told him his method didn't appeal to me," said Mr. Schwab.

"How was it in the old days?" asked Mr. Lindabury. Again Mr. Schwab laughed.

"Personally," he said, "I lent every effort to the formation of pools, because I thought them a profitable arrangement. Some pools, such as the sheet and structural pools, held over after the Steel Corporation was formed, but they were modified. Penalties which had been imposed for violation of the agreements were abolished."

"What would you say about uniformity of prices on the part of the Steel Corporation and its competitors?"

"During my Presidency the prices of the Steel Corporation were higher than those of their competitors in bad times and lower in good times. As a competitor, I can speak only of recent conditions. During the prosperous times of the last year the Steel Corporation bought certain products from the Bethlehem company and sold them to the public at lower prices than we would have sold them."

The theory of the Steel Corporation in pursuing this policy, Mr. Schwab said, was that keeping prices as nearly uniform as possible prevented speculation. Mr. Schwab explained the uniform price of $28 for steel rails on the ground that railroads naturally bought from mills on their lines, in consideration of the freight they received.

"Rails," he said, "regardless of price, have been made by the various rail mills in almost uniform percentages because the tonnage of rails is fixed by the requirements of the roads contiguous to the mills which manufacture rails.

"I wouldn't sell rails for 5 cents a ton less than the established price, because it wouldn't assist in getting the business we would get anyhow, and the railroads would ask the mills that supply them to lower their prices. The result would be an awkward situation all around.

"The basic price of $28 is regarded as a fair price, although I think it is too low. I never had a railroad President ask for a lower price. It costs all the mills approximately $10 a ton to make rails over and above the cost of pig iron. That is merely the mill cost, not including selling, management, or depreciation. It costs me more to make rails than the Steel Corporation, because I have to pay others for transportation. The Steel Corporation has its own transportation for ore, but, on the other hand, I have no capital invested in the means of transportation, as it has."

Mr. Lindabury asked about the plate pool which was in existence after the Steel Corporation was formed, and Mr. Schwab said he had attended the meetings.

"Did Judge Gary ever attend any meeting?"

"I am sure he did not. To the best of my knowledge, he had nothing to do with any of the pools. He was opposed to them, and that was one of the things I had to contend with when I was President."

"How could the Steel Corporation be in a pool without his knowing it?" interposed Judge Dickinson, counsel for the Government.

"Well," said Mr. Schwab, looking like a bad boy at school, "I did it without his knowing it. After I left the Steel Corporation there were no definite pools. The trade was so prosperous that pools were not necessary. By the time things got worse again, pools had been practically abandoned."

Value of the Ore Leases.

Mr. Schwab denied that the Steel Corporation, in acquiring large ore reserves in the Northwest, had any purpose of monopolizing ore lands. He had always urged larger purchases because he foresaw a great development in the steel industry, and believed now that this growth would continue. He had also valued the Steel Corporation's ore at $1 a ton in the ground.

"I have always been proud of the fact," he added, "that my predictions at that time have been confirmed."

The Government has pointed to the Hill ore leases at $1 a ton as excessive in price and clearly indicating an intent to monopolize. It appeared that while Mr. Schwab was urging greater purchases, on the recommendations of James Gayley, Vice President of the Steel Corporation, who was the ore land expert, Judge Gary and the other members of the Finance Committee, who, Mr. Schwab explained, hadn't had the practical training he had, generally ignored them.

"They bought comparatively few of the properties we wanted them to," he said. "There was no purchase for monopoly or to hamper competitors. The question was never broached."

"Was there any scheme of monopoly or restraint of trade in the organization of the Steel Corporation?"

"Not to my knowledge. From my first talking with Mr. Morgan the question of controlling the industry was never discussed. The combination was for economic development alone."

"What has ever been done in connection with the formation of the Steel Corporation toward or in favor of restraining trade?"

"What about the dismantling of plants after it was formed?"

"Plants were dismantled only where it was found that we had more than one of the same character in the same district, or where a plant was found to be so obsolete that it was better to start new than to reconstruct it."

Returning to the ore question, Mr. Lindabury had Mr. Schwab describe the deposits now available in Canada, New York State, Alabama, South America, Cuba, Mexico, Spain, and Sweden.

"There is enough ore available in Cuba and South America," said Mr. Schwab, "to supply new mills on the Atlantic with sufficient capacity to duplicate the present output of all the plants in the United States."

"Has there ever been an international rail pool?" asked Mr. Lindabury.

Independents Are Independent.

"Would it be profitable for the Steel Corporation to put its competitors out of business?" asked Mr. Lindabury.

"It couldnt put me out of business," said Mr. Schwab. "The large independents to-day are sufficiently grounded to compete, and it wouldn't be possible for the Steel Corporation to put the leading ones out of business, if it so desired."

"Would it be any better able to put out the small ones than the large independents would?"

"I think it would be easier for the large independents to attack the smaller ones than for the Steel Corporation to do so, because their business is more confined to the district where the small ones are, while the Steel Corporation is spread out over the entire field." Mr. Schwab was then asked about the Gary dinners. The first one, he said, was held during the panic, in November, 1907. He was then with the Bethlehem company.

"At that time," he said, "the steel trade promised to become very demoralized. Prices were very low, there was a scant demand, warehouses were full of stocks. The dinner was attended by manufacturers, merchants, and middlemen. Judge Gary urged all not to become panic-stricken and cut prices, but to retain their heads, not to get excited, but calmly await the return of prosperity. He said the usual pro rata of business would come to us, regardless of reducing prices."

"Was anything said about entering into agreements for fixing prices or output?"

"Nothing."

Committees were appointed following the dinner to take up in detail the questions discussed in general at the dinner. Mr. Schwab was a member of the General Committee, and was Chairman of the sub-committee on structural steel.

"Were these committees named to fix prices or output?"

"Not at all. The chief thing they did was to compare notes as to conditions in the trade. No such agreements were made."

"Have there been any such agreements since you bought the Bethlehem Steel Company, so far as you know?"

"None."

Turning to the acquisition of the Shelby tube plant by the Steel Corporation, Mr. Lindabury brought out that Mr. Schwab had plans for making seamless tubes which were not encouraged by the officers of the subsidiary National Tube Company. He had experimented at the Shelby plant, and it was bought chiefly so that he could go ahead.

"Has any other factor or influence that ever came into the industry done more to foster trade, establish fair and open dealing, and stimulate healthy and effective competition than the United States Steel Corporation?" was Mr. Lindabury's final question, and Mr. Schwab answered:

"None."

Judge Dickinson, in beginning Mr. Schwab's cross-examination, asked about the pools prior to the formation of the Steel Corporation, including the Carnegie and Illinois Steel companies. The Government contends that they were competitors before they were combined. Mr. Schwab admitted that they were competitors in a small way.

Mr. Schwab admitted the Carnegie and Illinois companies competed to some extent in beams, channels, and billets. Judge Dickinson read from the minutes of the Carnegie Company to recall to Mr. Schwab some of these pools. Mr. Schwab said there were pools pretty much all the time in those years, but he couldn't remember some of them specifically. After reading what J. G. A. Leishman, then President of the Carnegie Company and now Ambassador to Germany, had said about one of the pools, Judge Dickinson remarked:

"Well, Mr. Leishman was likely to tell the truth, wasn't he?"

"I shouldn't like to answer that question," said Mr. Schwab suavely.

Mr. Schwab's cross-examination will go on to-day.

COTTON COVERS WIDER AREA

34,766,000 Acres Planted, Not 34,097,000, as First Estimated.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The area planted to cotton in the United States last year and under cultivation at the end of June was 669,000 acres more than the Department of Agriculture estimated in its preliminary report in July. The department now estimates that the area planted was 34,766,000 acres instead of 34,097,000 acres, the preliminary estimate. The area covered is estimated at 34,283,000 acres, indicating that the area abandoned was less than 1.4 per cent. The revised figures will be used by the department in making its cotton acreage estimates this year in July.

OHIO SOUTHERN SALE.

Creditors Ask Federal Court Not to Confirm Transfer.

COLUMBUS, May 19.—Opposition to the confirmation of the sale of part of the property of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company was made in the Federal Court to-day by attorneys for the creditors.

The property, the Ohio Southern division, was sold to Herman J. Schumacher and Daniel B. Murray of New York for $1,550,000, under a Federal Court decree at Springfield on April 17. Attorneys for the creditors want the sale set aside, contending that they can get a better price. Judge Sater took the question under advisement.

BUSINESS NOTES.

According to information given out at the executive offices of Stern Brothers, that firm expects to be ready for business in its new building in West Forty-second Street by Sept. 1.

The Merchants and Manufacturers' Executive Committee, Baltimore, has decided to pay full traveling expenses of merchants who buy in that city to the extent of $2,400 or more at a single time, providing that the cost of the trip does not exceed 1 per cent. of the whole purchase. Half-fare will be paid under similar conditions for $1,200 orders.

G. G. Wood & Co., women's cloaks, have engaged the fifteenth floor of the building at the southeast corner of Madison Avenue and Thirtieth Street for new quarters. They are now at 19 West Seventeenth Street, but will move about Jan. 1.

Imports of precious stones at this city in the week ended May 10 were valued at $1,094,807. Jewelry receipts totaled $10,150, and watches were entered to the value of $39,259.

SIDELIGHTS ON SELLING.

Recent imports of lingerie from Europe show a strong tendency to return to less showy designs of laces and embroideries in their decoration. Light laces are well favored, and Valenciennes lace of the better qualities seem especially popular.

Silk reigns supreme in Paris at the present time. Plaids and checks are reported strong there as a result of the cubist and futurist movements. Charmeuse, moires, crepes, and corded brocades continue in favor, despite the number of novelty weaves being brought out.

Comment is heard in the local men's wear fabric field to the effect that manufacturing clothiers have a lot of Fall orders on their books for which they have not yet bought their goods. The tariff is held responsible.

CONSULAR TRADE NOTES.

For the first time, it is believed, British shipbuilding firms have lost an important home contract. It covers the construction of three large passenger-carrying steamers to be used in the England-New Zealand trade. In all, four steamers are to be built, one in England, the remaining three by the Societe des Ateliers et Chantiers de France at Dunkerque.

The President of Brazil has recommended that Congress authorize the necessary appropriation for purchasing at a cost of $680,000 the stations and equipment on the Amazon River of the Amazon Wireless Telegraph and Telephone Company, an American company. This purchase is being made in compliance with the policy of the Brazilian Government to own all its internal telegraph lines.

Two new direct steamship lines will be established before the end of the present season between Canada and Italy, according to statments made by the special agent of the Italia Company. It is said that the Navigazone Generale Italiana and the Italia Companies will shortly inaugurate two steamship services from Genoa, Naples, and Palermo.

COMMODITIES MARKETS

Wheat showed considerable strength yesterday and final prices were ⅜ to ⅝c. net higher. Corn closed only a trifle under the day's high and at a net advance of ⅝ to ¾c. Oats shared the strength of the other grains and closed with net gains of ⅝ to ¾c. Cotton closed steady and from 5 to 9 points net higher.

WHEAT.

With May contracts up a cent and other positions from ⅜ to ⅝c higher, the wheat market showed a good deal of strength yesterday, considering the news, and closed at top point of the session. Early in the day bulls relied chiefly on the strength of corn and on complaints of dry weather in northwest Canada for aid, but in the afternoon supporting orders were based on the visible supply decrease of 2,618,000 bushels, firm cash markets, and reports that a prominent Chicago house had issued a statement showing deterioration in Winter wheat. There was good rain through the Dakotas, but it was still dry in Canada. Through the Southwest weather and crop conditions remained favorable, and the idea that any material setback had occurred to Winter wheat, as suggested by the report of the Chicago house, referred to, created considerable interest, and bears were inclined to go a little slow until details of the report were received. Seaboard clearances were again over the half-million mark, with receipts of 1,096,000 bushels at seaboard points again yesterday giving assurance of further large shipments this week. World's exports, because of heavy shipments from this side last week, reached 15,096,000 bushels, compared with 12,576,000 bushels the previous week. There was a decrease of 2,704,000 bushels in the quantity on passage. Changes in foreign markets were not important, including practically no change at Liverpool, ¼ to ½c advance at Paris, a partial ⅝c decline at Berlin, and ½c advance at Budapest. At Minneapolis, where cash demand was moderate yesterday, the stocks showed a decrease of 310,000 bushels in two days. Exporters reported very little demand and no sales up to the close of the market. Locally red wheat was still nominal with No. 1 Northern, quoted $1.00½, free on board afloat.

CORN.

The strength in other markets was fully shared by corn, which sold up ⅝c to ¾c at the best point of the day, and closed only a trifle under the top. While crop news was favorable, except from a few sections where the cold weather has retarded germination, sentiment was influenced by the small interior movement, the firmness of cash markets and a decrease of 1,483,000 bushels in the visible supply. Reports from the West, however, said that country offerings were larger, indicating a heavier movement in the near future. World's shipments amounted to 4,858,000 bushels, compared with 4,617,000 bushels the previous week, and Liverpool closed ⅛d higher. Export corn at New York was quoted 64½c nominal, free on board, afloat.

OATS.

Bull operations were again conducted in a vigorous manner, with the result that prices sold up ¾@⅞c per bushel, and closed practically at the top. The unfavorable report by Snow, regarding conditions in Central Illinois, caused a good deal of buying, and there was a scarcity of offerings in evidence all day. Cash oats were firm at the West and also here. In the visible supply there was a decrease of 800,000 bushels. Standard white at New York was quoted 44½c; No. 2, 45c; No. 3, 44c; No. 4, 43c; ordinary clipped white, 43½@44c; fancy clipped white, 45c, all track.

PROVISIONS.

There was a good advance in the provision market, owing to the firmness of hogs and good buying through commission houses, especially of pork. Prices advanced all through the afternoon and closed at the best point. At all Western points receipts were 101,000, of which 44,000 were at Chicago, 9,000 at Kansas City, and 6,300 at Omaha. Chicago expected 14,000 hogs on Tuesday.

COTTON.

Reports of favorable weather in the South again failed to inspire any aggressive or general selling in the cotton market yesterday, and, after opening steady at a decline of 1 to 4 points, the market rallied on a moderate demand from trade sources and covering by shorts. The close was steady and from 5 to 9 points net higher.

Cables were lower than due, and the early news from the South seemed favorable from a new crop standpoint. Generally clear and warm weather was shown over the belt following the rains of last week, with the outlook pointing to renewed showers within the next day or two, which was not considered undesirable. Moreover, private crop advices seemed to be of a more favorable average. Rather an unsatisfactory view of conditions in Georgia and Alabama was presented by reports covering the first half of May to a prominent compress company, but these advices predated the beneficial showers reported toward the end of last week in the eastern belt, and were consequently modified in their effect on sentiment. On the whole, local traders considered the outlook more favorable, but selling at no time was aggressive, and when prices began to work higher right after the opening, shorts were evidently rendered uneasy by the absence of more general offerings. There also appeared to be some nervousness over the near-month situation owing to a further reduction in the local stock and the fact that comparatively little cotton was moving in this direction from the South, while the scattered trade buying of the new crop tended to confirm recent claims that foreign spinners are hedging their prospective requirements around the 11-cent level.

A few stop orders were uncovered on the advance which carried prices about 7 to 9 points net higher, but demand slackened around 11.64c for July and 11.06c for December. Realizing caused slight reactions, but the undertone continued generally steady, and, while the buying was quiet, it was persistent enough to close the market within a point or two of the best. Private wires from New Orleans say it is estimated there that the short interest in all deliveries at New York amounts to fully a million bales, and in some quarters it is believed that a strong technical position is largely responsible for the failure of prices to ease off under favorable weather news. Southern spot markets, as officially reported, were unchanged, except for an advance of 1-16c at Galveston.

The local market for spot cotton was quiet and steady at unchanged prices on the basis of 12c for middling upland. Sales, nil. Delivered on contract, 300 bales.

COTTONSEED OIL.

Sharp advances early in the day, due to the strength of lard and cotton and to commission house buying of August, was followed by reactions in the last hour, when room traders attempted to take profits on early purchases. Old crops at the close were 4 to 10 points higher, and new crop months unchanged to 2 points net higher. Tenders of 500 barrels were reported.

COFFEE.

Coffee was again quiet on sales of 21,250 bags. Prices, starting steady, unchanged to 1 point higher, weakened during the late afternoon and closed at a net decline of 4 to 6 points. The cost and freight market was steady, unchanged to 5 points higher. Havre declined ¼ to ½ franc, Hamburg was ¼ to ½ pfennig lower. Rio and Santos were both unchanged.

Spot coffee—Rio 7s, 11⅛c.

Total warehouse deliveries last week were 79,518 bags, against 81,311 the previous week and 59,687 last year. Of the former amount New York had 62,500 bags.

Receipts at Rio and Santos last week aggregated 57,000 bags, against 63,000 the previous week, 59,000 last year, and 38,000 two years ago.

IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

Approve Harvard Trade Activities.

The dispatch from Boston to yesterday's TIMES telling of the activities of the Business Research Bureau of Harvard University in ascertaining and endeavoring to improve the way in which the average shoe retailer did business, was well received in the Duane Street district. Wholesalers were practically unanimous in the belief that many members of this trade needed to be taught proper methods of accounting and salesmanship. The hope was expressed, however, that the university's system of accounts would not be too complex, as the bookkeeping of some retailers was said to consist mainly of hanging unpaid bills on one hook and changing them to another when paid. The present slow turnover of stocks reported by the bureau was attributed to the increase in the number of styles carried now by the average dealer. This was said to be especially true of women's shoes.

Manufacturers and Schedule K.

Through a misunderstanding, A. L. Gifford, New York selling agent for the Worumbo Company, was incorrectly quoted in a recent interview on the tariff in this column. What Mr. Gifford said was that he hoped conditions might develop abroad, such as advances in wages and increased production costs for foreign manufacturers, which in a measure might offset the heavy handicap that the proposed reduction in Schedule K would place on American manufacturers of woolen goods.

⁂

May Give an Extra Holiday.

It was said yesterday at the offices of Minot-Hooper & Co., Clarence Whitman & Co., J. Spencer Turner Co. and other prominent local commission houses, that no definite action had been taken regarding giving their employes an extra holiday by remaining closed on the Saturday after Decoration Day. A general feeling prevailed, however, that if some prominent house took the initiative in the matter, the others would follow and close their stores from Thursday night until the following Monday morning.

Silk Dyers Deny Concessions.

This statement in the form of a resolution was issued yesterday following a meeting of master silk dyers whose employes are now striking:

> It having been brought to our attention through the daily press that a few of the small dye houses were disposed to grant some concessions to their employes for the purpose of resuming work at an early date, we hereby absolutely deny these reports. We reaffirm the position that we took at the beginning of the strike. We will not treat with the I. W. W., nor with any representative of that organization. We will treat only with our own employes after they have returned to work on the same terms that existed when they left. No concessions will be granted in advance, but the workmen will receive a complete and just hearing.

The statement was signed by these firms: Urita Silk Throwing Company, Dautchy Silk Dyeing Company, the Kearns & Carroll Silk Dyeing Company, the Lanza Silk Dyeing Company, the National Silk Dyeing Company, the D. J. Sheehan Company, the Standard Silk Dyeing Company, the Wagaraw Silk Dyeing Company, and the Weidemann Silk Dyeing Company.

Plan to Prevent Loss of Orders.

A prominent local wholesale shoe house has adopted this plan for preventing lost and mislaid orders and consequent holding up of the operations of the audit department:

> Whenever order slips, either original or back order, are given to salesmen by the order department, they must be returned as early in the day as possible, and without fail at the end of the day. If there is occasion to use them longer, copies should be taken and the originals returned to the order department.

Fake Labels Not Yet Forced Out.

Spurious labels are still in use among local retailers of women's clothing, according to A. M. Grean, one of the pioneers of the American styles for American women movement. "A number of cases have sprung up recently," he said yesterday, "where reputable dealers have been detected substituting foreign labels on dresses made in this country." He is not certain, however, whether the labels were imported, manufactured in this country, or taken from foreign garments and put on domestic.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

GOLDSMITH & WILLNER.—A petition has been filed against Philip Goldsmith and Emanuel Willner, who compose the firm of Goldsmith & Willner, jobbers in jewelry, 325 East Houston Street, by these creditors: Isidor Zagon, $107; Max Hoffman, $106, and Meyer Harrison, $300. The liabilities are stated to be $6,000, and assets $750. Judge Holt appointed Abraham Suderov receiver, bond $500, on application of William Jasie, who said that Mr. Willner told the creditors that he went to Canada on May 12 with $5,000 worth of goods, which were confiscated the next day by the Canadian authorities on the ground that they were brought into Canada without paying duty. Mr. Jasie wants to have an examination of Mr. Willner before United States Commissioner Gilchrist.

JAMES W. FITZGERALD of 45 West Thirty-second Street has filed a petition with liabilities $57,883, and no assets. Among the creditors are Charles R. Hosmer, Montreal, $26,000; Hamilton Trust Company, Paterson, $10,000; John P. Holt, $10,000, and estate of Gustav B. Treloar, $5,000. Mr. Fitzgeraild has been identified with the carpet trade for 25 years, either as selling agent or President and Treasurer of two carpet companies.

PAUL HERMOND of 10 East Fifteenth Street has filed a petition, with liabilities $3,913, and no assets. Henri Hermond is a creditor for $2,000.

WINTERS, SCHOFIELD & CO.—Edwin R. Winters and Theodore Schofield, Jr., who compose the firm of Winters, Schofield & Co., butchers, Fishkill Landing, have filed a petition, with liabilities $473, and no assets.

MARK WOLFF.—A petition has been filed against Mark Wolff, trading as the Bedding Store, 134 West Thirty-fourth Street and 139 West 125th Street, by these creditors: Mark V. Brady, $400; Leo F. Spitzer, $210, and Ralph J. Brown, $50. Judge Holt appointed William Henkel, Jr., receiver, bond $4,000, with authority to continue business twenty days. The liabilities are $18,000 and assets $6,500.

SADIE KNASTER.—Schedules of Sadie Knaster, milliner, 1,416 and 1,450 Third Avenue, show liabilities of $4,201 and assets consisting of stock and fixtures, value unknown, and cash in bank, $28.

HARRY SAMUELS & BROTHERS.—Judge Holt has appointed Stanley W. Dexter of 71 Broadway special master to take charge of an offer of a composition of 25 cents on the dollar of Harry Samuels & Brothers, wholesale flowers and feathers, 704 Broadway. Their schedules filed yesterday show liabilities of $55,987 and assets of $22,144. Among the creditors are the Sherman National Bank, $5,000; Sylvester C. Judge, $3,704; Benjamin Lichtenstein, $3,000; A. J. Rafelson, $3,117; Alland Brothers Company, $2,815, and William J. Dixon & Co., $1,963.

SAMUEL BACKHAUT.—Schedules of Samuel Backhaut, trading as S. Backhaut & Co., furrier, of 110 West Twenty-sixth Street, show liabilities of $17,605 and assets of $11,410.

ABRAHAM FRACKMAN.—Schedules of Abraham Frackman, manufacturing jeweler of 14 Maiden Lane, show liabilities of $26,900 and assets of $15,950. Among the creditors are S. Silberfeld, $5,500; Barnell Brothers, $1,900, and M. H. Levy & Co., $1,800.

GIBSON ON TRIAL TO-DAY.

Says He Is Confident of Acquittal—Complains of Poor Appetite.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWBURG, N. Y., May 19.—Sheriff Sayer arrived here at 10:45 o'clock this morning with Burton W. Gibson, who has been for months at the Goshen jail, awaiting his second trial for the murder of Mrs. Rosa Szabo. Gibson was at once placed in the hospital ward, which is the largest cell in the jail. This will be the only favor accorded him during his stay here. He complains of a loss of appetite, and the jail physician permitted him to have a bottle of beer and an old-fashioned Dutch supper, the only food of which he had partaken during the day.

Gibson says that he is confident of being exonerated, and that his former counsel, Mr. Elder, will have charge of his defense, although he has not been near the prisoner or written him in more than two weeks. District Attorney Wilson says he has two witnesses who will convince the jury of the truth of the charges of the indictment when the time comes, but he will not intimate who they are or to what they will testify.

The trial will not begin until late to-morrow, and possibly not before Wednesday, as another murder trial has the attention of the court.

Gibson says his wife will secure private rooms in the neighborhood of the jail and arrange to have his meals furnished from the same place.

NEW HAVEN, May 19.—At the meeting of the Yale Corporation to-day it was announced that the following graduates had been nominated for the vacancy in the corporation caused by the resignation of William H. Taft:

Edwin W. Robertson, '85, Columbia, S. C.; William W. Atterbury, '86, Philadelphia; Eli Whitney, '69, New Haven; William H. Taft, '78, New Haven; Vance McCormick, '93, Harrisburg; William W. Skiddy, '65, Stamford; William A. Rogers, '74, Buffalo; Gifford Pinchot, '89, Washington. Messrs. Robertson, Taft, Skiddy, Whitney, and Pinchot have requested that their names be withdrawn.

It was announced that the collection of vases recently awarded to the university was the gift of Mrs. Louis E. Stoddard of New Haven.

Gifts and bequests received during the month amounted to $448,565.53, the main items being $78,000 from the Samuel H. Lyman estate and $158,000 from the Francis Bacon estate.

Prof. Oswald Siren of Stockholm, William Watson, the English poet, and Prof. Carl Rathgen of the Colonial Institute, Hamburg, were appointed Woodward lecturers for next year.

GIRL'S ASSAILANT RUN DOWN

Walking near her home at 240 Thatford Avenue, Brownsville, yesterday, Anna Garasteen, an eighteen-year-old girl, was attacked by two men, who caught hold of her and tried to drag her away with them. Miss Garasteen's cries brought Patrolman George Weaker. The girl was lying in a faint on the sidewalk, and the policeman saw the two men running away, with nearly a block's start.

One of the men dropped out of sight, but Weaker and a crowd which joined him saw the other dodge into the hallway of 341 Osborn Street. By the time the pursuers arrived there the fugitive had succeeded in getting half way up a fire escape in the rear of the building. He was pelted with a shower of stones from below. Weaker had difficulty in preventing him from being severely beaten up by the mob.

At the Brownsville Station the captive said that he was Peter Barbara, and that he lived in the building where he was caught. Miss Garasteen, who had been brought to the station for treatment, preferred charges against him.

ADOPTS FOUR MISSIONARIES.

Church Will Support Them Instead of Giving to General Fund.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., May 19.—Instead of making the usual contributions to the general treasury of the Foreign Missionary Society, the First Congregational Church of Montclair has "adopted" four young missionaries who are to be sent out soon by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. The missionaries thus adopted are Hugh Wells Hubbard and Mrs. Hubbard, and Dr. J. F. Cooper and his fiancée, Miss Quimby of Boston, Mass. The commissioning service will be held here next Sunday.

Mr. Hubbard, who is a graduate of Amherst, will be ordained for missionary service here next Friday. Dr. Cooper and Miss Quimby are under appointment for medical service with the Foochow mission. The four missionaries will be supported in China by the Montclair church under the new system of benevolence adopted by the congregation.

MONK BECOMES A BISHOP.

Hoboken Father Appointed to Diocese of Corpus Christi, Texas.

In the Monastery Church of the Passionists in West Hoboken the Rev. Paul J. Nussbaum will to-day lay aside the coarse black habit of his order, which he has worn for a quarter of a century, to put on the purple of a Roman Catholic Bishop. He has been appointed by the Pope to be Bishop of the Diocese of Corpus Christi, Texas, and he will be consecrated in the old monastic temple by the Papal Delegate, Archbishop Bonzano, assisted by Bishop O'Connor of Newark.

He is the first of these missionaries to be raised to the purple with jurisdiction in this country.

Brought Here on Murder Charge.

Detectives Kennedy and Cavanaugh of the Tremont Avenue Police Station returned to New York yesterday from Bridgeport, Conn., with James Sisto, 21 years old, of 3,821 Third Avenue, who is charged with the murder of Daniel Cahill, aged 18 years, in a dance hall at Third and Wendover Avenues on March 16. The police said that Cahill in an ante-mortem statement accused Sisto of shooting him because of a quarrel over a girl.

EDUCATION NOTES.

The Board of Education has ratified the action of the Committee on Care of Buildings in fixing the pay of the janitor of Public School 26, the Bronx, for the care of two portable buildings on the grounds of the school at the rate of $180 a year.

The Board of Trustees of Bellevue Hospital has been requested to consent to the transfer of Frederick Mack, stationary engineer in the hospital, to the position of janitor-engineer in the Department of Education.

Friends and neighbors of John T. Nicholson, Principal of Public School 186, Manhattan, and also Principal of the Harlem Evening High School for Men, will celebrate on Friday evening the twenty-fifth anniversary of his career as a teacher.

The Interborough Association of Women Teachers will hold a meeting this evening in the Metropolitan Building, Twenty-third Street and Fourth Avenue.

School teachers of Greater New York have been invited to see Uncle Sam's models of the Panama Canal, now on exhibition at Coney Island. As this is an educational exhibit, the Panama Canal Exhibition Company wants the school teachers of the greater city to see it. The models form a complete reproduction of the Government's undertaking on the Isthmus, and are in five sections.

The Board of Education has appointed the following persons, their names having been selected from eligible lists submitted by the Municipal Civil Service Commission: Charles H. Smith, janitor, (steam heating,) Public School 30, Queens, $600 a year; Max Jacobs, elevator attendant, Washington Irving High School, $750 a year; Kate Forbes, cleaner, School 188, Manhattan, $360 a year.

END THEIR LIVES WITH GAS.

Builder, in Financial Trouble, and Wife Found Dead Together.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Campbell of 45 Ocean View Avenue, Woodhaven, Queens, were found dead in their bedroom, which was filled with illuminating gas, about 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The police, who had to break into the house, believe they committed suicide.

Campbell was a builder. He had been in prosperous circumstances until recently, when his operations involved him in financial obligations which he had difficulty in meeting. This, it is said, caused him to speak of ending his troubles in death. He is said to have threatened to end his life upon two or three occasions in the past fortnight.

Campbell married Miss Ellen Flint about nine years ago. They had no children, and frequently complained of this.

CLOSE OLD BRIDGE ROAD.

Only Autos and Cars to Use North Side Pending Repairs.

The north roadway of Brooklyn Bridge will be closed for two weeks to all traffic, except passenger automobiles and trolley cars, beginning this morning, while the roadway is being repaired.

Bridge Commissioner O'Keeffe said that horse-drawn and other slow moving vehicles could not be allowed on that side of the bridge, as the only available space would be that used by trolley cars.

Emergency wagons or fire apparatus can go on the structure if necessary, but ordinary traffic going to Manhattan will be diverted over the Manhattan Bridge.

KESNER SALE FORBIDDEN.

The offer of the Twenty-third Street Stores Corporation to buy the assets of the bankrupt firm of J. L. Kesner Company for a sum equal to 30 cents on the dollar of the claims against it has finally been refused. Judge Mayer in the Federal District Court yesterday directed Gilbert & Price, the receivers of the bankrupt firm, to repay to the Twenty-third Street Stores Corporation its $50,000 deposit.

Several creditors, including the Press Publishing Company, (The New York World,) had objected to the offer, and it was on account of the stand taken by them that Judge Mayer ordered the sale to be stopped.

BRIDE'S ROOM IN CHURCH.

A bride's room is to be one of the improvements in the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Incarnation, on the corner of Madison Avenue and Thirty-fifth Street. Plans were filed yesterday in the Building Bureau by the architects, Allen & Collins of Boston, for altering the church interior at a cost of $30,000.

A portion of the old organ loft will be partitioned off for the new bride's room, and the organ will be removed and placed on one side of the chancel. The ceiling is to be renovated in imitation Caen stone, and the beams and iron columns covered with the same material. The entire interior will also be painted and redecorated. The Rev. Howard C. Robbins is rector of the church.

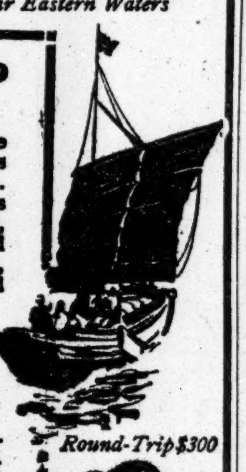
Sailing in Far Eastern Waters



Take a Reviving Sea Voyage to Japan and the Orient

Spend a restful yet stimulating ten days on the placid Pacific enjoying the comforts and pleasures provided by one of the Canadian Pacific Empresses. Then fair Japan, the little Island Empire whose sights and scenery have no equal in interest and beauty, whose people are the gayest, most hospitable and friendly in the world. China, the Philippines, Java, Korea all within easy reach—the immemorial and mysterious East that so fascinates the traveler.

Canadian Pacific Empress Fleet

Leaving from Vancouver, the voyage is nearly a week shorter than by any other route. Almost two weeks saved on the round trip.

Your journey thither takes you through the matchless Canadian Rockies—grandest scenery in the world. Service conforms to Oriental standards, which means every want anticipated by silent, linen-clad China "boys."

Our new folder on Japan and China tells of the pleasures of a Trans-Pacific voyage by the cool Canadian Pacific route. Free, with interesting information as to Canadian Pacific Oriental, Australasian and 'Round-the-World trips, by calling on any steamship agent or

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The western low area of Sunday is better defined to-night and overlies the central and southern portions of the Rocky Mountains and plains States, with its centre over Western Kansas.

Showers have continued over the northern plateau and have extended over the Rocky Mountain region, and the Missouri and upper Mississippi Valleys. There were also scattered showers in the South, while from the lake region and the Ohio Valley eastward fair weather prevailed.

Temperatures are generally lower, except in the vicinity of the lowest pressure and over the northern districts west of the Rockies. In the central Rocky Mountain region and the Northwest temperatures are much below seasonal, and frosts occurred Monday morning in Northern Michigan.

Showers will continue Tuesday between the Mississippi River and the Rockies, and will extend into the lake region.

During Tuesday night and Wednesday the rain area will cover the central valleys and probably by Wednesday night the Middle Atlantic States. Thundershowers will also continue in the South.

Temperatures will continue low over the northern portion of the country, and will fall Tuesday or Tuesday night in the Central States and the Missouri Valley, and Wednesday in the middle Mississippi Valley.

Over the Northeast comparatively low temperatures will continue Wednesday and Wednesday night.

Winds along the New England Coast will be west and northwest, becoming east Wednesday; Middle Atlantic Coast, moderate north to east; South Atlantic Coast, moderate and mostly south and southwest.

Steamships departing Tuesday for European ports will have moderate northwest and north winds, with fair weather to the Grand Banks.

FORECAST FOR TO-DAY AND WEDNESDAY.

Eastern New York—Fair Tuesday; Wednesday increasing cloudiness, with showers in afternoon or night, warmer in interior; moderate north winds, shifting to east and southeast.

Southern New England—Fair Tuesday; Wednesday increasing cloudiness and warmer; moderate northwest winds, becoming variable.

New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania—Fair Tuesday; Wednesday increasing cloudiness and warmer, showers by night; moderate northeast to southeast winds.

Western New York—Increasing cloudiness Tuesday, showers and warmer at night and on Wednesday; moderate variable winds, becoming east and southeast.

Northern New England—Fair Tuesday; Wednesday increasing cloudiness with showers in afternoon or night, west portion; moderate northwest winds becoming variable.

3 A. M.	57	57	4 P. M.	77	65
6 A. M.	56	54	6 P. M.	75	61
9 A. M.	65	57	9 P. M.	66	57
12 M.	72	62	11 P. M.	63	55

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 60; fo rthe corresponding date last year it was 66; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 60.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 56, at 8 P. M. it was 59. Maximum temperature 65 degrees at 3 P. M., minimum 54 degrees at 6 A. M. Humidity 39 per cent. at 8 A. M., 32 per cent. at 8 P. M.

The barometer at 8 A. M. yesterday registered 30.01 inches; at 8 P. M. it stood at 30.05 inches.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

City Pays $129,405 for Subway Easement Rights Under St. Paul's Churchyard—Harlem and Bronx Flats in Trade—Long Island Auto Club Buys in Brooklyn.

An interesting transfer was recorded yesterday by which it is disclosed that the City of New York has paid Trinity Corporation the sum of $129,405 for easement rights and perpetual right of way under St. Paul's cemetery for the tunnels now being constructed for the new Broadway subway. The easement rights cover the space needed for two tunnels, each 20½ feet in diamater, beginning near the northeast corner of Church and Fulton Streets and running below the churchyard in a northeasterly direction to a point on the south side of Vesey Street, 147.5 feet east of Church Street.

Trade Harlem and Bronx Flats.

An element of trade was involved in the sale by the Brown-Weiss Realties of the Rosemere apartment house at 145 and 147 West 127th Street to the Intercity Land and Securities Company. The apartment is a six-story structure near Seventh Avenue on a plot 50 by 99.11. The latter company gave in exchange a five-story flat in the Bronx on the northeast corner of Bassford Avenue and 184th Street, on plot 55 by 95.

Deal in Dyckman Tract.

A deal in the Dyckman tract which will result in the erection of another five-story apartment house in that section, which has shown considerable building activity during the past two years, has been made by Joseph A. Stern, who sold for Ennis & Sinnott a plot, 50 by 100, on the south side of Academy Street, 100 feet west of Post Avenue. The buyer is the Psaty Construction Company, which is now completing an apartment at Dyckman Street and Nagle Avenue.

Washington Heights House Sold.

The three-story dwelling at 507 West 149th Street, on plot 17.6 by 99.11, has been sold to William A. Havanagh in conjunction with W. D. Morgan for Lowenfeld & Prager.

Tenement Deals.

The six-story flat at 307 and 309 East 100th Street has been sold by Henry Weil for the Lawyers' Mortgage Company. The plot is 40 by 100.11, near Second Avenue.

Fifty-ninth Street Flats at Auction

Among the auction offerings yesterday was that of two five-story flats at 345 and 347 West Fifty-ninth Street, between Columbus Avenue and Broadway, each covering a plot 25 by 100. They were sold by Henry Brady in foreclosure proceedings brought by the United States Trust Company against E. T. Walsh and others. They were purchased by Jacob E. Berliner on a bid of $35,000 for each parcel—$70,000 for the two houses.

Roebling Firm's Purchase.

The John A. Roebling Sons' Company were the buyers of the seven-story loft at 169 to 175 Hudson Street, between Laight and Vestry Streets, sold recently through the Charles F. Noyes Company. The building, a seven-story structure, will be altered, and the firm will move there from its present quarters in Liberty Street. The plot is 92 by 100, and was held at $200,000.

Long Island City Sale.

The Cross & Brown Company has sold for Flora Aletta a plot, 75 by 101, on the northwest corner of Paynter Avenue and Sherman Street. The buyer is Sophie C. Schwagle of Manhattan.

Bronx Borough.

John Kelly, in connection with M. A. O'Brien, has sold to a client for William P. Petty a one-family frame dwelling at 2,146 Washington Avenue.

The Pew Realty Company has sold to an investor the remaining two of a row of five five-story apartments recently completed on the west side of Evergreen Avenue, 104 feet north of Westchester Avenue. Nathan Wilson was the broker. The houses are in the former Watson estate tract.

F. J. Wood has hold for the estate of George W. Morris the northwest corner of Honeywell Avenue and 180th Street, two frame buildings, on a plot 35 by 90.

Long Island Auto Club Buys.

One of the important deals of the season in the Eastern Parkway section of Brooklyn was the purchase of a site for a new club house by the Long Island Automobile Club, of which Charles Herman is President. The property consists of a plot 75 by 256 feet, extending from Eastern Parkway to Lincoln Place. The new club house will face the Parkway, and a large garage will be erected on the Lincoln Place frontage. The club will be opposite the Brooklyn Museum of Arts and Sciences, and the cost of the new buildings is estimated at $85,000. The club will contain a large hall capable of accommodating 1,000 persons, a women's room and a roof garden. It is to be ready for use in the Spring of 1914.

Brooklyn.

The five-story apartment on the northwest corner of Clinton and Pacific Streets has been sold by the Chauncey Real Estate Company to Tamer Malouf. The plot is 75 by 90 feet.

D. S. Regan has sold the five-story apartment at 856 Nostrand Avenue, on a lot 100 by 100 feet, for Philip Eierschenk. It is between President Street and Eastern Parkway.

The four-story apartments at 1,067 to 1,075 Eastern Parkway have been sold by S. Dombec.

John D. Price has bought from Edwin C. Gibson the two-story dwelling at 1,000 Sterling Place.

George B. Corsa has sold for Harry D. Michaels 345 St. John's Place, near Prospect Park Plaza, a four-story flat, on a lot 41.8 by 123 feet. The property was held at $50,000.

Leases.

An important Sixth Avenue lease has been made by Louis Schrag, who has leased for the estate of Townsend Underhill, 446 and 448 Sixth Avenue and 57 West Twenty-seventh Street, being the northeast corner, to Bernard Courtney. The lessee has taken the plot, which is 50 by 100 feet, for fifteen years, and he will make extensive alterations to the building for business.

J. Arthur Fischer has leased the four-story building at 759 Seventh Avenue, southeast corner of Fiftieth Street, to Robert J. McClement, who will alter it for a café and restaurant; also for Letitia K. Ketterer to P. Barbey the three-story dwelling 233 West Fifty-second Street, and for Mary A Magee to J. W. Glenn the three-story dwelling at 382 St. Nicholas Avenue.

Louis C. Schliep has leased the basement at 122 University Place to the B. Schwarz Company.

H. C. Senior & Co. have leased for Hubert V. Card the four-story American basement dwelling at 323 West Seventieth Street, to Dr. William Guilfoy.

Pepe & Brother have leased for Dominick Piorselli to P. Gertner & Son 271 Bleecker Street, corner of Jones Street, a four-story building, for a term of ten years, at a rental of about $2,500 per year.

Business on Gallatin House Site.

Plans were filed yesterday for the two six-story commercial buildings which the Dreicer Realty Company is to erect on the site of the old Gallatin house at the southwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Fifty-third Street. Each will have a frontage of 25 feet on the avenue by 99.11 deep. Henry O. Chapman, the architect, places the cost at $130,000. The property was bought by Michael Dreicer, the jeweler, last February for about $1,000,000, and the house has just been torn down.

Water-Front Sale Postponed.

The sale of the East River water front, comprising twelve lots occupying the block front of the marginal street along the East River, between Ninety-fourth and Ninety-fifth Streets, has been adjourned until Thursday. The sale will be held at the north main entrance of the County Court House at noon.

Realty Notes.

A thirteen-story apartment house will be erected at 103 to 109 East Eighty-sixth Street, a plot 100 by 100, adjoining the northeast corner of Park Avenue, recently acquired by K. P. Walker through Leon S. Altmayer, as broker. Schwartz & Gross will be the architects. The building will be ready in the Spring of 1914.

William Hutter and Abraham Weiss have leased under the firm name of Hutter-Weiss, Incorporated, the first floor of 118 Nassau Street for real estate offices.

Charles J. McKenna was the broker in the sale of the Franklin Arms apartment reported last week.

Take the Subway

Get off at 149th St. & 3rd Ave.

Take the trolley car up

Third Avenue, or Westchester Avenue, or Boston Road

Look around you—

Look up and down each block as you pass—
See the solid rows of 5 story apartment houses
Then try to realize that
5 years ago it was mostly frame houses—
10 years ago it was mostly vacant lots—
15 years ago it was farm lands—
20 years ago you would be taking a trip in the country.

Do you see the opportunity you have at the absolute and unreserved auction sale authorized by

The State of New York Banking Department

HOMES ON VERY EASY TERMS
With the double purpose of enhancing the value of our lot property, and affording people of moderate means an opportunity of owning their homes, we are building at New Dorp Manor, five, six and seven-room two-story dwellings in choice locations, ranging in price from $1,500 to $3,000. We accept $300 to $500 down, and you occupy a house at once, paying thereafter $15 to $25 monthly, just as you can afford, and probably less than the money you are now paying as rent and owning nothing. Think this over. Write for our free map, or call between 10 and 12 A. M., and see photographs of houses we build. Lots $200 to $500 each.

FIELDER HAS NEW JURY REFORM BILL

LEGISLATURE DODGES ISSUE

After Short Session Both Houses Put Off Further Discussion of All Bills Until Next Year.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., May 19.—Despite protest by the Republican members who criticised the majority for delay, the Democratic Legislature, after reconvening its special session for a few hours this afternoon, adjourned for the week to meet again next Monday.

Far from any progress in the jury reform muddle, the situation to-night is even more perplexing and complicated than ever. This is due to Gov. Fielder's change of front on the bill suggested by President Wilson. Although the Governor has been sitting in the upper house as the Senator from Hudson County and all along has been urging his party colleagues to put the measure through, he gave out a statement to-day that the compromise bill was inadequate, and said that if it was enacted he would insist on the passage of another one that would operate until the voters got an opportunity next November to express their own wishes.

"My promise to the President," he said, "binds me to assist in the passage of the 'Chancellor-Sheriff bill' now before the Senate, and I favor awaiting the return of Senator Munson before considering any other legislation on this subject. I believe that bill will be passed and in passing it the Democratic Party may be regarded as complying with its somewhat indefinite platform promise, but the bill is far from satisfactory to me, as well in plan as in the time it shall take effect. The referendum is especially objectionable.

"By waiting until this late day to pass a bill, and then postponing its operations until the November election, I cannot feel that we are acting with any speed whatever, and I therefore feel it my duty, as Governor, in case the 'Chancellor-Sheriff bill' passes, to insist that the Legislature pass another bill, to take effect at once, which, while leaving the power to draw juries with the Sheriff, will so limit and safeguard that power that we can have some jury reform immediately, and, if the voters fail to accept the 'Chancellor-Sheriff bill' next November, we shall not be without some relief, and the long fight shall not be barren of results.

"I am not satisfied with any of the 'Sheriff bills' so far introduced, and I have therefore drawn one which I shall offer at to-day's session, so that it can be printed and the members informed of its contents.

"Briefly, it provides that the Sheriff, before the opening of each term of court, shall make up a Grand Jury list of 500 names for first-class counties, 300 names for second-class counties, and 200 names for all other counties, and a petit jury list of 700 names for first-class counties, 500 names for second-class counties, and 300 names for all other counties. A copy of each list shall be delivered to the Supreme Court Justice at least thirty days before the opening of the term, and the Justice may strike out any number of names and direct the Sheriff to draw his grand and petit jurors from the revised list. Each name on the lists shall be numbered. The Justice shall fix a day for the Sheriff to draw his juries from these lists.

When the Senate met the Governor introduced the bill, and a similar one was put in by Senator Johnson of Bergen County. That was the only Democratic action in the jury reform situation, and the Assembly did nothing with it.

The Republican minority is still firm in its stand against the President's compromise and had another conference this afternoon, when it was decided again to stand as a unit in opposition to its pasasge.

Senator Fitzherbert of Morris County, the Democrat whom the Republicans convicted of unbecoming conduct last year, is causing his party associates some uneasiness. He was not present to-day, and there is talk that he is getting ready to bolt.

The Assembly passed three freeholder bills, one making the adoption of small boards possible at special elections, one providing for mandatory small boards in first and second class counties, and one to reimburse the members of the small boards that were ousted by the Supreme Court.

MODELS OF NEW RIVERSIDE.

To enable the residents of the Riverside Drive region to see what the proposed west side improvement means, the New York Central has had placed in the Council Chamber at the City Hall two large models of portions of Riverside Drive as it will be after the additional tracks have been put in and the covering over them erected. The first model shows the southern end of the park from Seventy-second Street to Seventy-seventh. Here is the greatest expansion of the tracks, as many as twenty-six being planned at the entrance of the railroad's yards below Seventy-second Street.

These are to be covered in, and the model shows how the broad level expanse thus created may be treated. A drive may be provided, and also a number of flower beds and lines of shrubs. It is also proposed that kiosks and pavilions should be created along the outer edge of the new structure or within the shrubs.

At this point the railroad tracks would extend practically to the edge of the water, although the rights of the city to the waterfront would be preserved, but higher up the other model shows that from Ninety-seventh Street to 108th the city would be able to reclaim a 350-foot stretch of land on the western side of the tracks. In this section the structure over the lines would be reduced to eighty-five feet in width, twenty of which would be devoted to a foot-path. The other sixty-five feet would be a driveway, access to which would be given by a road coming down from Riverside Drive at Ninety-sixth Street.

The artificial tunnel would be about seventeen feet high at this point. In some places the top of the tunnel would hardly be at all above the level of the park to the east of it, but here and there it might reach as much as twelve or fifteen feet higher. How that might be treated with grassy slopes is also suggested by the models.

PAYS A FINE OF $2,000.

Failure to Declare Goods Costs Miss Agnes Mangels Altogether $9,500.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., May 19.—Miss Agnes Mangels of San Francisco, who was accused by Collector Loeb of bringing goods into this country unlawfully, was fined $2,000 to-day by United States District Judge Cross. Her niece, Miss Agnes Tillman, who arrived with her, was not prosecuted.

When Miss Mangels landed on May 10 from the Amerika with her niece, she neglected to declare $16,000 worth of gowns and jewels. When asked to explain, Miss Mangels pleaded ignorance of the custom laws. To recover the confiscated goods Miss Mangels and Miss Tillman were compelled to pay the home value of the articles, which is the foreign value plus the duty. This payment made, the Collector agreed to release the fourteen trunks and forward them to San Francisco. The Government had agreed, it was understood, to drop the action upon the payment of a $5,000 fine, but it was decided to-day to let Miss Mangels off with a fine of $2,000, which, together with the civil procedure costs, amounts to $9,500.

DROWNED BEFORE HIS WIFE.

Companion in Exhausted Condition in Two Attempts to Rescue Him.

With a party of twelve aboard, the motor boat Georgia, owned by George Seymour, left Hoboken on Sunday morning for a trip up the Hudson. On board the boat was John Hodges, a machinist employed by the Tietjen Land Company, with his wife and two children. Hodges was sitting on top of the cabin.

The Georgia had reached a point on the Hudson opposite Alpine Grove on the Jersey side and Spuyten Duyvil Creek on the New York side when Hodges fell overboard. When he did not rise to the surface, Harry Seymour, the 20-year-old brother of the Georgia's owner, plunged after him. Hodges grappled wth Seymour beneath the water, and in the struggle Seymour's shirt was entirely torn off him. Seymour shook himself loose and came to the surface. Then he dove again.

Meantime Mrs. Hodges and her two children became hysterical. Mrs. Hodges tried to leap into the water after her husband, but was restrained. Seymour could not find the body when he dove the second time, and after many attempts, all of which proved unsuccessful, he was taken into the boat exhausted. It was two hours before he was revived.

The body of Hodges was not found, although the place where he sank was dredged.

The Laetare Medal, which for thirty years has been awarded annually by the University of Notre Dame to some member of the Catholic laity, distinguished for service to the church, to the country, to art, science, or letters, was presented last night at the Hotel Plaza to Dr. Charles George Herbermann, editor in chief of the Catholic Encyclopedia. The award was made by the Very Rev. Father John J. Cavanaugh, President of the University of Notre Dame, and the gold medal was presented to Dr. Herbermann by Cardinal Farley.

Dr. Herbermann was born in Saerbeck, Westphalia, Germany, in 1840. He entered St. Francis Xavier College in this city in 1853, and received his Doctor's degree from that institution in 1865. In 1882 the degree of LL. D. was conferred on him. He received an A. B. degree from Fordham in 1858, A. M. in 1860, and Lit. D. from Holy Cross College, Massachusetts, in 1906. He became editor in chief of the Catholic Encyclopedia in 1905, and has been editor of Historical Records and Studies since 1898.

WENT AROUND THE WORLD.

Party of American Tourists Arrive on the Rotterdam.

Arriving on the Holland-American liner Rotterdam from Rotterdam yesterday were a number of American tourists who had started on a round-the-world trip from San Francisco to the Far East and returning over the Trans-Siberian Railroad from Port Arthur, Manchuria, and Mukden. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse A. Gregg and Mr. and Mrs. William S. McCurdy of St. Paul, Minn., who were in a train that was held up at the southern end of the Lake Baikal tunnel by a landslide.

Mrs. Gregg said that they had to leave the train at midnight and walk around the tunnel about two miles over rough frozen ground, about a mile of which was over the frozen surface of a narrow inlet of the lake.

"We did not mind the walk," she said, "and did not feel the cold as we all had furs. The most difficult part was climbing down about 300 temporary steps which had been placed on the bank of Lake Baikal so that the passengers could reach its service and cross on the ice to the other side."

WILSON ANNOYERS ON TRIAL.

Dunn Will Now Deny He Ever Wrote Threatening Letters.

In the Newark branch of the Federal Court Seeley Davenport and Jake Dunn of Wharton will be put on trial this morning on an indictment charging them with having sent a threatening letter to President Wilson when he was Governor of New Jersey. The principal witness for the Government, aside from handwriting experts, will be Secretary Joseph Tumulity, who received the letters. While Dunn is said to have confessed to Government officials at one time that he wrote the threatening letter, William Tyacker, Jr., who will defend the accused, says that Dunn will not only deny authorship of the letter, but also that he ever admitted having written it. Dunn has been locked up since his arrest last December. Davenport was released after his arrest at the same time, but was re-arrested when in February a Federal Grand Jury found an indictment against him.

BECKER REVEALS HIS NEW EVIDENCE

The Mayor's "Vicious Attack" Prejudiced His Trial, He Says, in Asking for Another.

GOFF TO HEAR HIS PLEA

Joseph A. Shay, counsel for ex-Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, convicted of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, who is now in the death house at Sing Sing Prison awaiting an appeal from his conviction, served notice on District Attorney Whitman late yesterday afternoon that he would apply for a new trial for Becker. The motion for the new trial was made before Supreme Court Justice Page, who said that he would refer the matter to Supreme Court Justice Goff, who presided at the former policeman's first trial. The argument on the motion will be heard on May 28. It will be opposed by District Attorney Whitman and Assistant District Attorneys Moss and Rubin. The newly discovered evidence on which the application is based is revealed in an affidavit of 152 pages made by Becker, which Attorney Shay brought down from Ossining with him after his last talk with the condemned man, supplemented by other affidavits from newly-found witnesses.

Four reasons were given by Mr. Shay for seeking a new trial. They are: first, new evidence; second, that one of the members of the jury which convicted Becker had been separated for a time from the other members of the jury; third, that the verdict was contrary to law, and fourth, that justice would be advanced by a new trial. Becker in his affidavit says that Mayor Gaynor was responsible for his inability to get a fair trial.

"The Chief Magistrate of the City, the Mayor," Becker asserts, "was the first witness before the Aldermanic Committee and that gentleman made a vicious attack on me and asserted that I was head and front of graft in the Police Department."

It was the flaring headlines in the newspapers about the Mayor's testimony before the Curran Committee, Becker insists, that hurt his case so much. Here are some of the other points made by Becker:

He never met Rose, Webber, and Vallon, the informers, at Forty-second Street and Broadway, where, it was testified, he met them after the murder.

Bridgie Webber's interview with reporters on his return from Cuba, in which he said that Becker was not the guilty man, but that Rose fastened the murder on Becker to save himself, was proof of his innocence.

He never was a good friend of Rose, as had been testified to. In this connection Becker says: "My apparent friendliness to him was merely a 'business necessity.'"

He calls Rose "squealer," and "stool pigeon" in the affidavit, but does not directly charge him with the murder of Rosenthal.

Among the affidavits attached to the application for a new trial is one made by "Itsky," who was spoken of at the Becker trial as the chauffeur who had been in the habit of taking Rose, Webber, and Vallon on rides through the city. "Itsky" could not be found at the time of Becker's trial and the fact that he has turned up is considered significant.

Another affidavit is from "Muttle" Max Brescher, who asserts that he saw Rose and Webber in Forty-second Street after the murder, but that Becker was not with them. An affidavit to which the defense attaches great importance was made by Patrick Callahan, a keeper in the Tombs. He asserts that he heard Rose say to Webber through a cell door: "There never would have been a murder if Vallon hadn't got drunk."

The only reference to Sam Schepps, whom Becker's counsel have assailed as an accomplice in the murder, is made by Thomas Ryan, a clerk in a hotel in West Forty-third Street. Ryan says in his affidavit that he saw Sam Schepps holding open the door of the murder car, and that he saw Schepps ride away with the murderers on the running board of the automobile.

It had been reported that Becker would assert in his affidavit that Schepps sent in a false alarm of fire at the moment of the murder in order to distract the attention of the police from the crime. In Becker's affidavit, however, it is said that a man named Robert Stewart sent in the fire alarm through Policeman Brady of the West Forty-seventh Street Station. What purports to be an extract from the police blotter is included in the affidavit to prove this.

Samuel S. Haas, the juryman to whom Becker's counsel alludes in his application, was excused by Justice Goff in order that he might visit a dentist to be relieved of a toothache.

It was said yesterday that District Attorney Whitman and his assistants would argue in opposition to granting the new trial, that there was nothing in the affidavits that could not have been put in evidence at the first trial, and that the new matter is inconsequential. Becker's statements, they would hold, were denials which could have been put on the record if Becker had taken the stand in his own defense.

TRY PERJURER FOR MURDER.

Wagner Said Others Forced Him to Kill Union Official.

Harry Wagner, a buttonhole maker, who caused the arrest of five persons for murder by giving perjured testimony, was put on trial yesterday before Justice Seabury in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court for the murder of Abraham Steinberg, Secretary of the Buttonhole Makers' Union.

Wagner, it was alleged, shot Steinberg in the union's headquarters at 120 University Place on Jan. 7. When he was arrested he said he killed the Secretary because the union official insulted his wife. Subsequently the prisoner took back this story and said he had been forced to commit the murder by Max Orendstein, Max Weissberg, Louis Weinstein, Abraham Fialkoff, and his daughter Anna, independent buttonhole makers, who threatened to charge him with forgery unless he killed Steinberg. All of the persons accused by Wagner were arrested, but they were discharged when it was proved that they were innocent.

A jury was selected to try Wagner yesterday, and Assistant District Attorney O'Malley opened the case for the prosecution.

PRESENTATION TO CARNEGIE

Medallion of Himself, with the Good Will of Many People.

A large medallion of Andrew Carnegie was presented to him yesterday at his residence, Fifth Avenue and Ninetieth Street, by Brainard H. Warner of Washington, D. C., in recognition of Mr. Carnegie's philanthropy, and in particular because of his gift of a public library to the City of Washington.

The medallion shows the head of Mr. Carnegie in low relief. It is the work of Mrs. Josephine W. Nevin of this city, a leading medallion sculptress.

Among those at the presentation were John D. Crimmins, Dr. H. S. Pritchard, Hon. John T. McCleary, Mrs. James P. Clark, Col. W. C. Cornwell, Mrs. Ethelbert Nevin, Mrs. Josephine W. Nevin, Major Lydecker, A. Parker Nevin, Mrs. H. S. Marron, Miss Baker, and others.

FOUR HURT IN AUTO CRASH.

Taxicab Overturns Dr. Hayward's Car—Three Pinned Underneath.

Four persons were injured early this morning when a taxicab operated by William Light of 130 East 104th Street hit and overturned an automobile owned and operated by Dr. Vincent S. Hayward of 2,181 Belmont Avenue, the Bronx, at Central Park West and Seventy-seventh Street.

Both vehicles were going north. The taxicab tried to turn into the street and at the same time Dr. Hayward's auto forged ahead. The taxicab hit it and overturned it, penning underneath the occupants, with the exception of Dr. Hayward, who was tossed to one side.

The injured were James Neary, a lawyer, of 319 East 197th Street, the Bronx; Mrs. Genevieve Neary, his wife; Charles Burns of 1,967 Arthur Avenue, the Bronx, and Dr. Hayward.

When they were removed from beneath the overturned car the lawyer and his wife and Burnse were found to be bruised and cut, but they refused attention, as did Dr. Hayward, who was cut about the face and received many bruises.

Dr. Hayward and his party were returning from a reception at the Hotel Plaza. In the taxicab were two women returning to 150 West Seventy-ninth Street from the Cort Theatre.

Policeman Anthony heard the crash and called for help. Several policemen lifted the car from the two men and woman.

Dr. Hayward charged the chauffeur of the taxicab with carelessness. Light said that the carelessness was on the part of Dr. Hayward. No arrests were made.

AUTOMOBILE KILLS BOY.

Girl Victim of Another Car Gets Off with Bruises.

Milton Slacks, a 6-year-old boy of 578 Prospect Avenue, was run down yesterday afternoon while he was playing in the street at Prospect Avenue and 150th Street by an automobile owned by Jacob Leitner, an insurance man of 749 Beck Street, the Bronx, and operated by Everett Bicken of Bonnie Crest, New Rochelle.

Mr. Leitner took the boy in the machine to Lincoln Hospital. His skull was fractured and he had suffered internal injuries. He died at 10:15 o'clock last night. The driver and the owner of the car say that the boy ran in front of the car, and that the accident could not have been avoided. The driver was not held.

Crossing Fifth Avenue at Twenty-third Street at 6:30 o'clock last evening, Miss Dorothy Glazer, 17 years old, a dressmaker, living at 1,356 Fifth Avenue, was knocked down and bruised by an automobile which went on up the avenue without stopping. After an ambulance surgeon had attended her Miss Glazer was able to go home without assistance.

According to the police, the machine was owned by Edward H. Hess, a real estate broker, of 495 West End Avenue. When Mr. Hess was questioned at his home by the detectives, he explained that he was hurrying to his wife and infant girl, who, he said, were very ill. He was unaware of having struck any one. He accompanied the detectives to the station and, as Miss Glazer refused to make a complaint, Mr. Hess was not arrested.

SURVEY UNDER TIMES SQ.

Service Commission's Engineers Making Plans for New Subways.

Preliminary surveys were made yesterday by the field staff of the engineers of the Public Service Commission of Times Square between Forty-third and Forty-fourth Streets with relation to the location of the B. R. T. and the Interborough tracks in this neighborhood and especially of the arrangement of a B. R. T. as well as an Interborough express station near Forty-second Street.

They were accompanied by Henry G. Opdycke, consulting engineer, and Andrew J. Smith, chief inspector of the Broadway Association, who discussed with them the methods of getting the Interborough tracks past the B. R. T. and providing a junction between the crosstown line and the Seventh Avenue line of the Interborough, without leaving any grade crossings. It is understood that the plans of the section of Broadway immediately to the north of Houston Street will be brought before the Commission this week for its approval, preparatory to the advertising of the construction contracts.

Service Commission Buys Perpetual Easement for New Subways.

The Public Service Commission bought yesterday from the Trinity Corporation a perpetual easement under the western end of St. Paul's Churchyard for the new Brooklyn Rapid Transit subway for $129,405.

The uptown subway tunnel will leave the north side of Fulton Street, 14 feet to the east of Church Street, and will curve under the churchyard in a northeasterly direction until it runs into Vesey Street, 147 feet from Church Street. The downtown tunnel will leave Church Street 63 feet south of Vesey Street and will run alongside the other tunnel till it cuts into Vesey Street 59 feet east of Church Street. The exterior diameter of the tunnels will be 20 feet 6 inches each.

OFFER $150,000 BAIL.

Twenty-one Friends Come to the Aid of Albert Freeman.

Albert Freeman, who was convicted with Julian Hawthorne and Dr. William J. Morton of using the mails to defraud, and sentenced to five years in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta, probably will be released to-day in $150,000 bail pending the determination of his appeal. On his bond will go twenty-one persons, almost all of whom live at Ramsay, N. J. Several of them are women.

They came yesterday to the Federal Building, bringing with them several hundred thousand dollars' worth of bonds, stocks, and securities. Assistant District Attorney Thompson began examining the securities. The bond is the largest ever demanded by the Federal Court in this district.

Freeman has been in the Tombs for two months, and saw his wife yesterday in Mr. Thompson's office for the first time since he was locked up.

Miss Anglin in Greek Play.

Margaret Anglin has accepted the invitation of the University of California to appear in its Greek Theatre at the end of August in another of the Greek classics. Miss Anglin's previous performance there was in the "Antigone" of Sophocles. The "Medea" of Euripides is the play selected for the forthcoming appearance. Immediately following this engagement Miss Anglin will begin her regular season in San Francisco in a production of Shakespeare's "Anthony and Cleopatra." The version will be a new one. This production will be followed by others of the Shakespearean comedies. The actress promises a series of Greek plays to be given in New York next Spring.

W. P. Jones Loses Two Children.

William P. Jones, a New York patent lawyer, who lives at 10 Clinton Place, Mount Vernon, lost two children within a few hours of each other. Helen and Douglas Jones, 4 and 6 years old respectively, were attacked by septic tonsilitis, and one died at midnight on Sunday and the other at noon yesterday. There will be a double funeral service for the children this afternoon. The children were stricken with the disease five days ago.

GALLATIN ENGAGEMENT OFF.

Miss Herdliczka Explains His Divorce Is the Cause.

The engagement of Miss Anna Marie Herdliczka and Francis D. Gallatin, which was announced last week, has been broken. There were rumors several days after the announcement that their wedding had been postponed indefinitely, but Mr. Gallatin at that time denied that the engagement had been broken. He admitted it yesterday, however, saying that it was due entirely to objections on the part of Miss Herdliczka's family, the objections being of a religious character.

Miss Herdliczka, whose home is in Southern Moravia, Austria, and who is visiting friends at 23 East Fifty-seventh Street, said that she and Mr. Gallatin had agreed to postpone the marriage. She said that she had learned that her fiancé was divorced and, as she was a devout Catholic, she could not marry a divorced man except by special dispensation. Her family, she said, had advised her to forget it all and return to Moravia to her people.

At the time the engagement was announced in THE TIMES, on May 14, it was stated that Mr. Gallatin had married Miss Harriet Lawrence Bogert some years ago, from whom he was divorced, and who is now the wife of Dr. Raoul Dunant of Geneva, Switzerland.

Miss Herdliczka is a member of an old Bohemian family, and was educated in Prague, where she took her degree of Doctor of Medicine. She met Mr. Gallatin six years ago in Prague. She was then a girl of 13, and since then he has seen her yearly on his visits to Prague and Vienna.

It was learned yesterday from members of Mr. Gallatin's family that, while there had been no serious objection to the match, the question of the discrepancy in the ages of the two had been raised.

ASSAULTED WITHOUT CAUSE

Two Columbia Boys Victims of Roughs, Who Get 90 Days' Sentence.

In sentencing two youths last night in the Men's Night Court to ninety days on Blackwell's Island for an unprovoked assault upon two Columbia freshmen, Magistrate House said:

"We have too many ruffians in this city. It is getting to be so that a person is not safe in the street."

The prisoners were Henry Walsh, 22 years old, of 304 Amsterdam Avenue, and Richard Farrell, 22 years old, of 872 Trinity Avenue, the Bronx. The complainant against them was Randal Cogswell of 208 West Eighty-second Street, who said that when he was walking with Edward Cole, a classmate, they had been attacked near the corner of Broadway and Eighty-second Street by the two prisoners. Cogswell said he was at a loss to explain the reason for the assault. The two young men fled on the approach of Policemen Lansinsky and McKenna of the West Sixty-eighth Street Station, but were captured in a near-by saloon.

Dr. Adler Exonerated.

Coroner I. L. Feinberg and a jury in the case of Dr. H. B. Adler of 55 West 113th Street, for an alleged illegal operation performed on March 30, acquitted Dr. Adler, holding that there was no evidence to support the charge against him. It was found that various antemortem statements which had been made contradicted one another, and that at the time the operation was said to have been performed Dr. Adler was living at a place other than that mentioned in the statements, and that the place mentioned was then vacant and locked.

For the Fastidious Diner

An innovation that will please food connoisseurs is the dinner at a fixed price.

You select courses from the a la carte menu and they are served without delay, each delicacy being cooked to order to your taste.

The Diner a Prix Fixe may be arranged with the head waiter by telephone, or when you arrive. You fix the cost per plate as you desire.

The dinner at a fixed price combines the best points of table d'hote service and a la carte cuisine and is a delightful way of entertaining small or large parties. Consult us about your next dinner party.
